WILL SUPPORT PROHIBITIONISTS
Grand Lodge I. O. G. T. Pledges Assistance to Temperance Candidates in Politics
At the annual meeting of the New Brunswick Lodge, I. O. G. T., in the Grand Temple hall, Haymarket square, yesterday, the organization took strong grounds on the prohibition question. They pledged themselves to assist candidates in a provincial election pledged to support a prohibition law. A committee was appointed to select candidates to contest any election that may occur during the year.
During the afternoon the report of the political action committee was received. In this, it was said that the result of various votes taken on the question showed that the sentiment of this province was overwhelmingly in favor of prohibition. The organization pledged itself to support, without regard to party affiliation, candidates pledged in favor of a prohibition law. If neither candidate in a constituency will so pledge himself, the order will place some one in the field. The committee recommended that funds be raised to defray the legitimate expenses of any candidate brought forward by the order. The justice of the claims of women to the ballot was affirmed, and the dominion

The Evening Chit-Chat
By RUTH CAMERON

PLEASE, Mr. Macmillan, Reader—if such a thing exists—don't read a word further tonight.
And since, after that warning, discourse the eye of every one of you is racing down the page I'll save you bitter disappointment by telling you my most innocuous remark.
Tonight's topic can't possibly interest you.
It's just a few do-and-don'ts of the military world.
They have most eagerly contributed by my millions to distract my attention while I waited for the hat that was to have been done three hours before.
Possibly painful isn't it, Miss Cameron, to see some of the onlookers on a parade, but it is. Why I've seen lots of people who were dressed in other matters will put on their heads?
"Tell you some of the things one should avoid in getting a hat?"
"Of course you should never put flowers in a plume on a hat."
And there are the don'ts she evolved.
First of all don't put blue roses and green poppies and yellow geraniums, and all the rest of the flowers that never were on land or sea, on a hat. There is nothing in worse taste than a flower done in some color it would not possibly be.
"In buying a hat get it to harmonize with the clothes you are going to wear it with, not only the color but in general style. For instance, don't get a top hat to wear with a suit. That's about on a par with diamonds in the morning or a train and low neck on the street."
"Of course you should never put flowers in a plume on a utility hat. Plumes aren't good taste for a walking or business hat anyway, and neither plumes or flowers look attractive after the first drenching. Always trim your utility hat with either feathers or ribbon. You can get much smarter effects with them and effects that will last much longer."
"You wouldn't think it would be necessary to tell people not to put flowers or feathers on a Panama, but it is. Why I've seen lots of people who were dressed in fairly good taste otherwise walking around with that particular blunder on their heads."
"I mustn't forget to say something about the auto-bonnet craze. If a girl wants to mark herself 'cheap' in letters big enough to be seen as far off as she is, the best way is to go about the streets with one of those things on. I don't see why it isn't just as out of place as a riding habit to your business or on a shopping tour and I don't believe anybody would do that."
"And while I'm talking about hats I must surely put in a word for the proper care of them. The summer hat needs to be daily brushed every bit as much as the winter one, but it doesn't seem to get it somehow. Of course straw doesn't show the dirt as felt does, but dust is there just the same and once the hat gets wet the straw, if it is light, is apt to be badly discolored. So whatever kind of hat you have don't forget the daily brush."
And now Mr. Macmillan, Reader—if any of you did read this far, don't you wish you had heeded my warning?

Daily Hints for the Cook

POTATO MACARONI.
Boil the potato and mash very fine; season with plenty of butter, salt and a little finely minced celery. Mix and heat thoroughly, then pinch off pieces the size of an egg, leaving them rough; lay them in a buttered pan, brush over with egg, and bake in a very hot oven until the egg is brown. Serve with browned butter.
BROWNED POTATOES.
Put in a stewpan 10 or 12 small potatoes. Add two tablespoons butter, salt, pepper and one large cup cold water. Cook until nearly dry, then toss lightly with the browned butter.
JELLIED CHICKEN.
Boil a chicken the day before it is to be used. When the liquor is cold skim from it every bit of fat. Soak a half cup of gelatin in a cup of cold water for two hours.

AMATEUR SHOW A BIG SUCCESS

Local Players Under the Direction of Theodore Bird Heartily Applauded—Play and Specialties Well Presented

Local theatre-goers turned out en masse to greet Theodore Bird and the St. John amateurs in the initial production of the four act comedy drama, Friends, at the Opera House last evening, under the patronage of His Honor Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. Tweedie.
The piece throughout is the strongest the amateurs have yet undertaken and last night's performance was, from every standpoint, a great triumph. The splendid judgment exercised in the casting of characters, the acting, the make-up, costumes, settings and careful attention to detail in every department, reflect credit alike on Mr. Bird and his players. The specialties were of the high order that has characterized the past season's performances and the play itself, delighted the audience who evinced their appreciation by oft repeated curtain calls.
Miss Pauline E. Baird, as Marguerite Denville, an opera singer, has never, it is safe to say, appeared to better advantage. Her role was difficult and her conception and portrayal of the character showed careful study. She was made the recipient of two magnificent bouquets. It is worthy of note, while referring to Miss Baird's work, that the emotional passages were very nicely handled, showing an entire absence of the tendency either to overdo or to slight, which speaks volumes for an amateur.
Another excellent portrayal was that of Otto Denville, father of Marguerite, which was entrusted to the capable hands of Frank D. Stanton, whose work throughout was greeted with great applause from a delighted audience. Mr. Stanton is already well and favorably known in local amateur theatrical circles as a performer of no mean ability.
The part of Harold Hunting, director of the Metropolitan Opera House, New York, was very well taken by Godfrey Kenney, whose work is better this season than ever before.
The role of Jack Paden, Jr., a poet, was played by Mr. Bird, who on his first entrance was accorded an enthusiastic reception and, as usual he won both the sympathy and plaudits of his audience.
Kenneth E. Russell, an enthusiastic reception and, as usual he won both the sympathy and plaudits of his audience.
The remaining characters were in capable hands and the performance as a whole was a distinct success.
Between the first and second acts, Geo. Brown and Miss Baird, as Irene, assisted by a strong chorus, won a tremendous ovation in their clever rendition of the popular song, Good Luck Mary, introducing a balloon car in which Mary ascends as the curtain is lowered on the final chorus and in which she is suspended between the stage and "flies," while under the rays of the spot light. She sang the song with a voice of unusual sweetness and her acting, while splendid throughout, was at times rather of a professional than amateur type.

WOMAN MISSING AT RIVER GLADE

Salisbury, N. B., July 7.—Searching parties who have been out all day looking for Mrs. Albert Jones, of River Glade, who disappeared from her home at an early hour this morning, have failed to locate her.
Mrs. Jones got up about 3:30 this morning, prepared some milk and filled her baby's bottle and fed it. She then put some clothes on herself and started out. When her husband missed her, a little later, he, with a friend, started in pursuit. They tracked her to a point of woods about a quarter of a mile from the house when they lost the trail.
Parties have been searching all day, and the work of draining Jones' mill pond and grasping is now in progress.
Mrs. Jones, who is one of the most highly esteemed ladies of the district, has been perfectly well, although she complained yesterday of a slight pain in her head. Her disappearance under such peculiar circumstances is a mystery to her friends.

NEARLY HALF MILLION IN TAXES COLLECTED

The chamberlain and his staff had another very strenuous day at city headquarters. Being the last day of the 5 per cent discount on taxes, there was a great rush of people, no fewer than 1,276 having been introduced to the city. The figures this year show a satisfactory increase over last year. Up to the closing hour of the opportunity, a total of $485,490 was taken in, as compared with $475,290 last year. On the last day of the discount last October, $127,344 was taken in, whereas yesterday the chamberlain received $172,298. During the last two days of the discount period this year, $200,000 was paid in. Last year 5,000 people saved the discount, and this year 4,084 availed themselves of the opportunity. These figures show a satisfactory increase in all departments over last year. This is especially gratifying when it is borne in mind that there were gloomy predictions made by many as to the effect of the changing the time of the collection of taxes.

SIRACUSA SHOT BY ROSSI, SAYS JURY

"We, the jury empaneled to inquire into the death of Diego Siracusa, whose body we saw at the General Public Hospital, in the city and county of St. John, and by the evidence produced, that he came to his death by a bullet fired from a revolver in the hands of one Giovanni Rossi, who robbed and murdered Siracusa in his home at 27 North street, in the city and county of St. John, on the 25th or 26th day of June last."
Such was the verdict of the coroner's jury empaneled to inquire into the death of Diego Siracusa, who was found under a quarter of a mile from the house where he was shot, on Sunday, June 26, and in connection with which Giovanni Rossi or Andy Rose was arrested and has since been a prisoner.
