VICTORIAN NURSES TRYING NEW SYSTEM

Reside in Own Quarters Instead of General Home—Discuss Plans to Aid Patients.

It is the hope of the Victorian Order of Nurses in Saint John to be able to supply necessary bedside utensils to patients who are unable to procure such sickroom comforts for themselves and are in urgent need of them.

To this end cupboards have been installed in the V. O. N. rooms in the Health Centre to be storage space for the utensils and an endeavor will be made to obtain as many gifts towards the desired emergency supplies as possible.

A gift of infant clothing has already been received from Centenary church friends and at the meeting of the Board of Directors of the V. O. N. yesterday afternoon this gift was gratefully acknowledged.

L. W. Simms, president, was in the chair and Mrs. Margaret Lawrence was present for the first time since her election to the board. A hearty welcome was extended to Mrs. Lawrence and reference was made to the splendid service which her mother, the late Mrs. F. V. Ellis, had given the order while on the directorate for many years.

NEW SYSTEM TRIED.

A new system is now being tried out in the V. O. N. work, each of the nurses residing in her own quarters instead of all being together in a V. O. N. home. There was some discussion with regard to the way in which the new plan is working out.

Reports of the month were very gratifying. Miss H. B. MacKay, new superintendent, was cordially greeted and her report showed that there had been a total of 1,638 visits including 421 infant welfare visits, and 1,048 for nursing care. The total number of patients visited in their homes was 237.

At the 15 clinics held the attendance of babies was 140. From the Women's Council free milk fund the nurses had given out tickets for 1,339 quarts of milk which had been distributed among 71 babies.
