HUNTING A MURDERER.

ALMY HAS NOT YET BEEN RUN TO COVER.

Scouting Parties Still on the Trail at Hanover—Armed Medical Students Join In the Search—Assassin Thought to be Making for Canada—Dorchester Landlady who Remembered Him Well.

HANOVER, N. H., July 20.—This afternoon the body of Christie Warden was committed to the earth, and tonight the search for her murderer is going on with unabated zeal.

The funeral service was held at the home from which the girl was so suddenly taken, and beneath the roof that has sheltered for so many months her assassin.

The services were simple, but affecting. The officiating clergyman was Rev. S. P. Leeds, D. D., the pastor of the College Church in Hanover, of whose flock the dead girl had been a member.

A vast crowd attended the service, and hundreds of people were unable to enter the house which was filled with mourning friends.

The body of the victim reposed in a rosewood coffin and was completely buried in flowers. The members of the family were overcome with grief.

During the services and at the close 1000 persons pressed forward to take a last look at the form of their dead friend.

During the progress of the funeral, the crowd which thronged the yard was agitated by rumors that the murderer had been seen upon Blueberry hill, an eminence a mile or so to the east of the village, and a party at once set out in that direction.

While these rumors were agitating the people of Hanover, parties in other sections were on the lookout for the much-wanted man, and Sheriff Brigham was notified that a man answering Almy's description had been arrested at Newbury, Vt. Upon investigation, the man proved not to be Almy.

The sheriff was also notified that Almy had been seen at Wells river at midnight, and the authorities at St. Johnsbury, and other towns along the line, were notified to be on the lookout.

The students of Dartmouth Medical college are very much excited by the tragedy, and searching parties are constantly recruited from their number arrayed in tennis blazers and caps and armed with rifles and revolvers.

Yesterday the sheriff received notice of a suspicious looking stranger who was travelling through the small towns of Vermont on horseback. The man was followed for 45 miles over hill and dale, and was run down at Charleston last night. He proved to be the wrong man and was released.

A report reached here this afternoon from Lawyer Sloane, of Woodsville, that a man resembling Almy had been seen in that vicinity. Sheriff Brigham immediately ordered officers on the trail, but nothing further has been heard from there at this hour.

At 3 o'clock two women, who live at the north side of Balch hill, which is heavily wooded and covered with ledges, and which extends back easterly some two miles from the village, drove rapidly into town with the news that one of the hunters in the line which had formed early in the day on the far side of this rough territory, and had been advancing toward the village, had seen a man at some distance in the woods, who, when halted, ran, disappearing in the thick undergrowth.

This was confirmed shortly by some of the searching party, who came for more help.

Re-enforcements were gathered, another draught was made on the gun stores and the fresh party set out. It is so near dark that probably the most that can be done is to surround the locality in which the man was seen, and wait till morning before closing on him.

At sundown to-night the hunt seemed no nearer its end than ever.

At 7:30 o'clock the sheriff received a copy of a message which was, to use his own language, "quite binding." The message was dated at West Burke, Vt., and was as follows:

S. D. Miles, Newport, Vt.: The Hanover murderer rode to West Charleston, Vt., with Gilman, and footed it to Canada yesterday. The man was overtaken down here in the road, and was greatly excited, and wanted to get to Canada at once. His feet were blistered and he went to sleep twice going up. He wanted Gilman to keep on with him to Canada, but he didn't, only to Charleston.

PERRY PORTER.

Sheriff Brigham felt confident that he was now on the right track, and he at once telegraphed Mr. Miles, who is the sheriff of Orleans county, at Newport, asking if their was any dependence to be placed on the message.

To this message no answer had yet been received.

He thought the murderer, if the man mentioned in the telegram should prove to be him, is somewhere in the vicinity of the Canada line.

The theory of every experienced man is that the murderer crossed the Connecticut river and made his way into Vermont within a very few minutes after committing his crime and from there also hoped to make his way to Canada. Upon this hypothesis the officers are proceeding tonight, and when the midnight train leaves Norwich tonight it will carry with it Col. B. H. Corning, the deputy sheriff from Littleton, who has been the terror of criminals in Grafton county, and if he and Almy meet, it is not worth betting that Almy will get away.

Word has been received from Newport that Sheriff Miles is at Troy, 10 miles west from Newport, and Sheriff Brigham's message will receive his attention immediately on his return. He is in the near vicinity of the murderer's supposed whereabouts, and plans are being laid to have strong parties go out from Newport the first thing in the morning, when Col. Corning reaches there.

If the man seen at Charleston proves to be the man wanted, he cannot travel much farther without rest. He has covered 68 miles thus far, and must rest somewhere, and it is expected that he will be found before another sun has reached its zenith.

CONCORD, N. H., July 20.—The possible clew to the whereabouts of Almy, the murderer of Christie Warden at Hanover, which was found yesterday morning between Laconia and Tilton, and fruitlessly sought to be regained by officers from the latter place during the day, was picked up again late yesterday afternoon, and followed till lost again at this city.

A physician who was returning through Canterbury to his home in Boscowen, when driving around a turn in the road, suddenly came upon a man walking along at a hurried pace. He was taken unawares, and no sooner did he discover that the carriage was upon him than he dropped his head and averted his face, evidently making an effort to as much as possible escape observation. All the details of his dress, his height, physique, general appearance, and, so far as could be determined by the doctor, who scrutinized it as closely as possible, his face answered perfectly to the description given by the authorities of Almy.

He did not once lift his head or raise his eyes to look toward the wagon, though at the moment of passing the doctor's two children, who accompanied him, began to laugh loudly and indulge in childish merriment that would naturally have attrated the attention of any one walking along the road who was not anxious to keep his face hid from view.

The doctor's suspicion was excited, and he hastened to inform the Penacook police, who are officers of the department of this city. Word was immediately sent to headquarters here, and Capt. Rand and an officer, with officers from Penacook, went to the place in Canterbury where the man had been seen.

Upon arrival at the turn in the road mentioned it was found that the suspicious looking traveller had left the highway and taken to the track of the Concord & Montreal railroad.

His trail was easily followed by footprints in the sand, and what added to his suspicious course, instead of passing in front of a farmhouse that lay in the easiest and most direct route by which the railroad could be reached, he made a long detour to go behind it out of the possible view of people that might be in or near it.

His tracks were followed along the railroad without any difficulty as long as day light lasted, and when night came moonlight and burning matches enabled the officers to keep up the pursuit. The footprints, which were clearly discernible over the whole distance, and which showed, by sand thrown upon the sleepers by the toes of the boots, that the individual was making all possible speed, were followed as far as the bridge which spans the Merrimac river between this city and East Concord.

Here the trail was completely lost, and it is probable that the traveller either took the highway or followed the river bank, which is bordered with bushes or trees sufficiently thick to hide him from observation.

Careful search has been made today, but no trace of the mysterious stranger could be discovered. The physician mentioned feels sure that the person he saw is Almy, and the officers are convinced that, if it is not he, he is some one who is making strange, but determined efforts to keep himself in hiding from the public.

A MILITARY MUTINY.

THIS TIME IT IS THE COLDSTREAM GUARDS.

They are Confined to Barracks for Insubordination.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE GAZETTE.

LONDON, July 22.—Truth to-day prints the story of another mutiny in the British army which has been kept secret up to the present. The mutinous soldiers are those of the second battalion of the Coldstream guards, one of the crack regiments of the realm. The men are greatly dissatisfied at the extra duty which they were compelled to perform during the recent visit of the Emperor of Germany to London. The fact together with the refusal of the officers to grant the men at least a day free from duty led to open insubordination during drill at St. James Park. The men were marched back to Wellington barracks. Orders were issued confining the men to barracks for three days as a punishment and ten senior privates were placed under arrest with a view of trying them by court martial. The main body of guardsmen thereupon barricaded themselves in one of the rooms and declined to emerge until the order affecting the ten seniors would be rescinded. After much parley the mutineers finnally yielded.

FROM OTTAWA.

Sir John had Little C. P. R. Stock—The big Manitoba Crop—A Civil Service Order That Troubles the Clerks.

SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.

OTTAWA, July 22.—Hugh John Macdonald, M. P. says that an investigation by the executors shows the total amount of Canadian Pacific stock held by his father was one hundred and twenty two shares purchased in open markets at various times in 1888. At the present quotation eighty two, the stock is now worth ten thousand and four dollars. This, he says, is the total Canadian Pacific shares held by his father.

The government has been notified that the Canadian Pacific Railway has ordered fifty new locomotives and fifteen hundred box cars to handle this year's crop in Manitoba and the northwest. It is estimated it will take ten trains daily for seven months to transport the crop to the seaboard.

The government has issued an order prohibiting clerks of the Interior, Indian and Post office departments from going home at noon for luncheon. Many officials who leave the building at noon do not, it is claimed, return before three o'clock. The order is likely to be extended to all the departments. The clerks are greatly incensed.

THE HANOVER MURDERER.

Believed to be in Canada—A Clue Likely to Result in His Capture.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE GAZETTE.

HANOVER, N. H. July 22.—A despatch has been received from Island Pond, Vt. this morning stating that a man closely tallying with the description of Frank Almy, murderer of Christie Warden, had pawned a watch with the agent at Richmond, Quebec, on Monday morning for ticket to Montreal, and had proceeded on Grand Trunk road. A local jeweller has a description of Almy's watch which he had repaired twice. This was sent to Richmond at once to establish if possible a definite clue.

A GIRL'S DISGRACE.

Which She Says was Caused by a Minister.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE GAZETTE.

NEW YORK, July 22.—A special from Troy, N. Y., says a 16 year old girl named Hanlon was found wandering in the the streets yesterday crying. She said she came from Bennington, Vt. with the intention of drowning herself because she had been betrayed by a minister at Bennington. When she arrived here she could not make up her mind to drown herself. The girl's mother came here last night and took the daughter home; she confirmed the girl's story.

Mysterious Murder.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE GAZETTE.

SPRINGFIELD Mass, July 22.—An unknown man shot and killed James Nesbitt at Chicopee, this morning. He also wounded another man. He was arrested. The motive for the crime is not known.

Maritime Medical Association.

The first regular meeting of the Maritime Medical Association was opened at Odd Fellows hall, at 10 a. m. to-day, the president Dr. Wm. Bayard in the chair. The president's address on The History and Progress of Medicine and Surgery, during the past 50 years, was a highly interesting and instructive one, bearing as it did entirely on the advancement of these sciences. A vote of thanks was tendered the president on the conclusion of his address.

A lengthy discussion took place on the proposed bye-laws and constitution, and a committee consisting of Drs. Walker, St. John, Farrell, Halifax, and McLeod, Charlottetown, was appointed to formulate these and report at a future meeting. The enrollment of members then took place.

CENTENARY PICNIC.—Centenary Sunday school picnic at Watters' Landing yesterday was a most enjoyable affair and largely attended. The shower at noon forced the picnickers to seek shelter but when the rain stopped everything was pleasant again. There were two base ball matches, one between the Junior Centenary nine and the Exmouth Street boys which resulted in a victory for the former, the score being 15 to 18. At the game in the afternoon the Centenary team were defeated by Queen Square to the tune of 8 to 16. There were several foot races in which the scholars took part.

The Mill Strike—Equity Court—The Rockland Wood Trade.

PT. LEPREAUX, July 22, 3 p. m.—Wind southwest, light clear, Therm. 64. Four schrs. and stmr. State of Maine inward. Fifteen schrs. outward.

SALT.—Ship Ellida (Norwegian) arrived today from Liverpool with 700 tons of salt to order. She has had fog during the last three weeks of her passage.

THE SALE LARGE.—Up to noon today, the advance sale of seats for Miss Randall's benefit this evening, far exceeds the expectations of the management who have worked hard to make this a success.

THE MILL OWNERS held a meeting in Messrs. Miller & Woodman's office today to consider matters connected with the piling of the logs that are coming down river. The strike was talked over but no reference to it was taken.

THE SCHOONER Sower, before reported ashore near Mount Desert, was towed off this morning and taken to Bass harbor.

Temporary repairs were made there today and the vessel will start for St. John tonight in tow of the Neptune.

THE TRADES UNIONS TO DECIDE.—The grocers held a meeting and decided in regard to closing 7 p. m. the year round, to refer the matter to the various trades unions. All but four grocers have signed the paper, and another meeting will be held on Friday evening next.

THE ROCKLAND WOOD TRADE like other trades in which coasting vessels are employed has been very dull this season as the lime business in Rockland has been affected by the stagnation in the building trades in the large American cities. The price of wood has got so low and the demand for it is so limited that some of the woodboat and schooner men are thinking of laying their vessels up and quitting the business until it becomes more profitable.

THE MILL STRIKE.

The Prospect for an Early Settlement of the Difficulties Not Encouraging—More Offers of Assistance.

The prospects of an early settlement of the mill strike difficulties so that the mills may start again seem to be growing less although there are many who believe that several mill owners would much rather have their mills running than to keep them shut down. Yesterday, according to the arrangements made at Monday evening's meeting, the committee men appointed for the different mills interviewed some of the owners with the object of arriving at a settlement of the difficulties. This action was taken because some of the owners had hinted that some of the mills might start if the men would come to them to talk the matter over. But instead, of getting nearer a settlement it appears as if the attempt has only resulted in the breach between owners and men being made wider than ever and harder feelings have been aroused than have existed at any previous time since the men quit work. So far as can be learned the committee men who interviewed the owners think they were not met half way by any means. In one case it is reported that the mill owner after hearing the proposals of the committee men merely bid them "good-day" and drove off in his carriage. Another is said to have told the men that he would keep his mill closed till it rotted down before he would be dictated to by any crowd of d——d Irishmen, and that he would have nothing to do with union men. The committee men are to report the result of their interview to a full meeting of the millmen to be held in Berryman's Hall this evening, when the constitution and bye-laws of the union will be approved and the organization of the union completed.

Expressions of sympathy and offers of assistance have been received by the union from nearly all the other labor organizations of the city; and on Monday evening at the committee meeting $50 was received from some friends of the men to aid them to hold out. Today Mr. Lingley, the president, received a letter from Concord lodge No. 24, P. W. A. of Amherst expressing sympathy with the mill men and offering assistance. The letter was signed by the following officers of the lodge, Thomas Gibson, John D. Ross, James H. Hanwright, John W. Wheaton, Henry Davis, M. Berry, Clifford Tower and John White.

The work of piling logs continues and the piling gangs are being increased. This morning seven or eight stevedores went to work at log piling at one of the mills above the falls.

A gang of men was engaged in clearing out the slip at Barnhill's mill today and there was a rumor afloat that the mill would be started on Monday, but like others rumors there may be very little foundation for it.

Equity Court.

The business in the Equity court was hung up this morning for want of a stenographer, Mr. Fred DeVine, the steuographer, assigned for the present, has more than he can attend to.

The largest part of all the cases required to be heard before a court of superior jurisdiction are now carried on in the Equity court in Saint John. And thus while the entrees on circuit dockets are becoming smaller the entry of cases for trial in the Equity court are continuously increasing. The speed with which Judge Palmer insists that cases shall be settled, and yet have all the parties and their interests before him, has made the court popular, both with the barristers and litigants.

Messrs Hanington and Wilson deny that they have ever been employed by the Bank of Montreal through Mr. C. W. Weldon, and they further say they were employed by the Dominion cotton syndicate before the company was incorporated.

Since Judge Palmer has taken hold of the Parks' mills he has done some $400,000 of business, and expects before the end of his year to make it over $500,000, and what is more gratifying he has between $50,000 and $60,000 to the good.

What a different state of facts the GAZETTE would have to record if the Bank of Montreal had closed down the mills as they have insisted on doing.

White Wear
FOR LADIES AND CHILDREN.

IT IS A FACT NOW RECOGNIZED by large numbers of Ladies that White Cotton Undergarments can be purchased ready-made at prices actually less than the same can be made-up in their own homes, and thereby save all the worry and inconvenience in selecting the necessary materials to make up a trousseau. At the same time, while the prices are lower than ever, qualities, sewing and fit have not deteriorated in any degree, but, on the contrary, we are showing better garments for less money than ever before in the history of our White Wear Trade.

This has been caused by the wonderful improvements in the machinery used, and the rapidity with which large quantities can be produced by skilled help, better sewn and finished than can be done by ordinary hand labor.

While we keep an immense variety of styles and qualities in White Wear, we make a specialty of NIGHTDRESSES in three leading prices, the quality of which we can confidently say is not excelled in any city in America for value. They are
