SECOND CONTINGENT HONOR ROLL IS FILLING RAPIDLY

One Hundred and Fifty Seven Men Already in Barracks Here Ready For Infantry Service - Most of Volunteers Come From St. John City.

Of the one thousand and odd men who will be required to make up the New Brunswick battalion for the second Canadian overseas force, 157 are now in barracks here. The recruiting officers express themselves as pleased with the way volunteers are coming forward, but for some reason, New Brunswick is so far considerably behind in making up its battalion as compared with Nova Scotia. So far only infantry have been asked from this province, and no definite answer has been received in regard to the offer to raise a battery of heavy artillery here. Col. Armstrong has been asked to send in the names of officers willing to volunteer for overseas service with the heavy artillery, and he has been able to send in a list of volunteers. The recruiting officers somewhat larger than the Militia Department is likely to take from this section of the country.

It is understood that the militia authorities are likely to accept the offer of artillery officers somewhat larger than the Militia Department is likely to take from this section of the country.

The volunteers from the artillery were added to the infantry volunteers. New Brunswick would make a fair showing as compared with the sister province where practically every county hopes to be represented in the provincial contingent.

Yesterday the local recruiting officers received 27 applications from the city. Of these only one man was turned down by the medical officers. The recruiting officers were especially gratified yesterday by the fact that the volunteers coming forward were practically all from St. John, showing that the spirit of patriotism was taking possession of the people here. So far the majority of those who have volunteered for the service with the second contingent are men who were born in the British Isles. Apparently the importance of the conflict with Germany and the nature of the issues which hang upon it has not been brought home to the native born as forcibly as to men from the Mother Country.

One of the men who have joined the New Brunswick battalion is a Scotchman from New York. He left a good position in the American metropolis because he felt he had a call to fight for the Empire. With characteristic Scotch caution he went to a doctor in New York and submitted to a medical examination before coming here, in order to assure that he would not be turned down when he presented himself to the medical examiners here. Of course he was able to pass the medical examination here.

Another man who has joined the New Brunswick battalion has been for eight years in the United States Navy, but having been born in Great Britain he decided to leave the country of his adoption to fight in the battles of the Empire.

The recruiting officers have been much gratified by the spirit shown by the British born who have left good positions in the United States to come here and enlist, and they believe that when the people of New Brunswick come to realize what this conflict means not only to Great Britain but to the Empire and the world generally they also will be animated with the spirit which brings men from the United States to fight in the cause of freedom.

Local military officers had no definite information yesterday as to how the recruiting was going in other parts of the province. Outside recruiting officers only notify the military officers when they are sending a detachment of men here. Yesterday afternoon a number of volunteers came in from Newcastle and last evening a detachment arrived from Fredericton.

SOLDIER'S TERM OF LIBERTY WAS BRIEF

Roy Clark again arrested last evening for refusing "to move on" when ordered.

For acting in a manner unworthy of a soldier while encamped on Partridge Island, Roy Clark was placed under arrest and taken to the County Jail. Apparently Clark was allowed out yesterday after serving a term, and had not been out long until he was again in trouble. It was about 7.30 o'clock when on the North Side of the King Square, Clark with others, was ordered away from Breeze's Corner. He refused to go, so the policeman states, and the result was that he was placed under arrest. George Stackhouse interfered when Clark was arrested and he was also placed behind the bars. The case will come up before the police magistrate this morning.

Profiting Through Pessimism. While others are looking on the black side of the nations crisis F. A. Dykeman & Co. have their eyes on the silver lining. They are making purchases under very advantageous conditions in the fur markets which have been so upset and are offering these rich furs to the St. John people at a very great saving over former prices. Think of buying a muskrat coat made from first quality whole skins at $59.50; the regular price of which is $90.00. Think of buying a fox set for $65.00 which formerly sold for $100.00, or wolf set which looks very much like fox for $48.00 which formerly sold for $75.00.
