

FROM THE SUNDAY SCHOOL UNION BOOK LIST

THE "SPLENDID LIVES" SERIES -Continued.

GARFIELD: Farm-Boy, Soldier, and President.

By W. G. RUTHERFORD. Fourth Edition. [Twentieth Thousand.

The story of the lad who rose "from log-cabin to White House" is one of the most inspiring that can be placed in the hands of a boy of to-day. Here the author gives President Garfield's life history in a condensed form, but without losing anything of the spirit which makes this man's one of the most splendid lives ever lived. Young readers will be stimulated to seriousness and purpose by the history of one who accomplished so much and lived so nobly.

JOHN RUSKIN. By R. E. PENGELLY. [Seventh Thousand.

"Both the man and the writer are successfully limned, the former especially so."—Globe.

"A most interesting account of the great critic and philosopher."—Dundee Courier.
"Brief enough to be read by young and busy people, and yet long enough to let us know the man."—Expository Times.

"Tells in brief space, yet with skill and sympathy, the main facts of Mr. Ruskin's career."—St. James's Gazette.

MARTIN LUTHER: The Hero of the Reformation.

By E. VELVIN. Second Edition. [Fifteenth Thousand.

"Right ably has the author fulfilled her task. Enlists the reader's close attention, and repays it with striking sidelights upon a wonderful career."—Midland Free Press.

"A capital, well written, and well-illustrated life."—Bradford Observer.

"A most valuable gift for young people."—Schoolmaster.

"Nothing better could be used for the purpose of a prize."—School Board Chronicle.

OLIVER CROMWELL: The Hero of Puritan England.

By HORACE G. GROSER, Author of "The Kingdom of Manhood," etc. Second Edition. [Eleventh Thousand.

"A thoroughly well-written work; in every sense admirable."—Baptist Magazine.

"A brightly written biography, admirably suited for young readers."—Bookman.

"A monograph which seeks to do justice alike to the lofty character and the epoch-making achievements of the greatest and most militant of the Puritans."—Speaker.

"A succinct and clearly-written account, admirably adapted for young readers."—Literary World.

PHILLIPS, Dr. J. L., Missionary to the Children of India.

A Biographical Sketch by his Widow. Completed and Edited by W. J. WINTLE. Second Edition. [Sixth Thousand.

"An interesting account of an admirable career."—Pall Mall Gazette.

"A volume which is alive in every page with the vitality of James Phillips' burning zeal."—Literary World.

"The work is well executed, and written in a bright, interesting style, which carries the reader on from page to page."—Evangelical Magazine.

PRESIDENT LINCOLN: Plough-Boy, Statesman, Patriot.

By W. G. RUTHERFORD, Author of "The Story of Garfield." Second Edition. [Thirteenth Thousand.

"An admirable addition to the 'Splendid Lives' series."—Western Times.

"No lass or lad reading this book could fail to be stirred by Lincoln's noble example."—St. James's Budget.

"An excellent little volume in every way—a worthy member of the 'Splendid Lives' series."—Schoolmaster.

"A capital account, and most interesting."—Civil Service Gazette.

"Boys will read the book with great relish, and it will kindle and purify their imagination."—Teacher's Aid.

London: THE SUNDAY SCHOOL UNION, 57 and 59 Ludgate Hill, E.C.