

families. I spent the Sabbath at Tizzard's Harbour, where in the absence of a minister I was asked to conduct the services, and the Lord gave us blessed seasons. As we came from evening services Mrs. Boyd asked me if I would stay on shore as the night was very cold. I gladly accepted this very kind offer. There are services held and Sabbath Schools kept within reach of all these little places.

REMARKS.

"We have not had a fresh book to read since you were here two years ago."

Another: "That beautiful little book you gave me, sir, I often read it with the tears running down."

"Sir, I have no cash, but anything you could turn into cash I would gladly give you to get a book."

A debate between two men on the fishing ground:—"What boat is that by your stage?" "Mr. Allen selling books." "What is the good of all the books?" "To teach people the knowledge of God, and to save their souls; not to live and die in ignorance, and go to hell."

July 8th—I came to Exploits where I met the steamer and received a box of books to the amount of $74.00. After two days sales at Exploits, I passed on to Samson's Island, the people here wanted books very badly, they did not give me time to come to their homes. As soon as I landed they came to the boat to know if I would take fish for books; I said I would. Mr. Tobin's trader was there waiting for fine weather to take fish. I went on board and asked the clerk if he would take fish from these people in payment of books which I wished to deliver to them, and pay me later on. He very kindly promised to do so. I delivered the books, gave him the bill and passed on to Cattles Island, where Mr. Thomas French kindly did the same for me; otherwise I could not have sold anything. I then passed on to Comfort Cove, where nine families lived and seven of the nine bought books from me. Here I spent Sunday. I found the people much alive to God. After the sales of Monday I passed on to Loo Bay. Here I could only give a few small books and tracts, but one man said he would like to have twenty dollars to pay for books.

Wednesday I came down the Bay. Called at Chance Harbour.

Thursday, to Whale Gulsh and Moreton's Harbour.

Friday I came to Twilingate. After Saturday's and Monday's sales I was again sold out—about 70 dollars in a fortnight. I now returned to Exploit's, where I had ordered books to be sent. On this field nearly all the people appreciate good books. One person who saw my boat passing along was coming out on the point with her purse in hand. In she went back, the person chided her for visiting near; the person sent for me. One man bought a book, and came six miles to

At one harbour I bought two books, all to no purpose, has not been in the last shilling, I need a nice book. I read to them.

July 26th—I now started for Harbour and No

August 1st—but late at night

2nd—In the

3rd—Philip's

Sunday 4th—

Monday 5th—the farthest settler, the night.

6th—North

7th—Sparkle

8th—Scissors the eastward, the called at 14 settlements, harbour of five families here this summer. I have been read and recited years ago I had a book. I was pleased to see One person said, and several people of it as one who said, "Sir, I lost that book, did not bring it back. The reader may need. I might