READING-GLASS

We are well aware of the fact that various articles sent out by some concerns as premiums, have practically no intrinsic value. They are "shoddy," "cheap," and often useless. It has always been our rule to give as a premium something that we are not afraid to guarantee to give perfect satisfaction, and to be just as good if not better than we represent it to be. In fact, our premiums are known from one end of the country to the other, so that it is sufficient to say, they are

THE SPICE OF LIFE.

Writing of the weeder, Wallace's Farmer hits the nail on the head in two sentences:

"We do not know of any more useful implement on the farm than the weeder, provided the farmer understands how to use it properly. We don't know of any more useless article in the hands of a man who has not mastered its use and does not understand the principles of soil cultivation."

"Billiger," said Mrs. McSwat, in a determined tone of voice, "I want you to go and look at that furnace."

Mr. McSwat crawled out of bed, thrust his feet into his slippers, and went down two flights of stairs into the basement.

He returned in a surprisingly short space of time.

"It's still there, Lobelia," he said, crawling into bed again.

CHICKENS NURSED BY A CAT.

A few days ago, Mr. Simpson, a tradesman, of Aston, near Birmingham, England, received some chickens, hatched in a Hearson incubator, for exhibition as an advertisement for Spratt's chicken food. Before being placed in the window their chirping attracted the attention of an old cat, who gently drew them into her basket. Since their removal to the window, the cat has continued nestling them in her own fur, and regularly washes them.

A man was before a Tukesbury court the other day charged with stealing some fancy ducks. The Magistrate languidly listened to the fancier's long description of the stolen property, sniffed the air, and then remarked:

"Why, those ducks can't be so very valuable—of such a rare breed—I have some of them in my own yard."

The complainant turned red and exclaimed:

"I stated, your honor, that the ducks found in the prisoner's possession were not the only ones I'd missed."

Three men determined to rob a certain house. So, on the night chosen for the deed, they gathered in front of the building. One of them entered and started upstairs. He had his boots on, and when near the landing they squeaked. A female voice was heard in one of the rooms.

"You go right downstairs and take those boots off. I'm tired of having to clean up mud and dirt after you. March right down and take them off."

The burglar turned about, went down the steps, and, joining his companions, said:

"Boys, I couldn't rob that house, it seems too much like home."

GOSSIP.

POLITICS AND FARMING.

I know plenty of men who will read machine politics by the half-acre, and shy like a mule colt at anything printed about farming, writes W. F. McSparran. And this, too, where we have Farmers' Institute fellows telling us over and over how they have worked wonders on "worn-out" land.

Years ago about the hardest work on the farm was that of pitching off and mowing away hay and grain. It required a strong man to pitch a load of hay or heavy sheaves over the beam of a barn, or up through a small door in the side of a shed, and many a wet shirt was the result of trying to do the job in three quarters of an hour. Now it is different. A load can be placed anywhere in the highest building in a few minutes, and with very little labor. About thirty years ago a young man appeared on London market with a patented device for unloading hay. Later on, the sheaf lifter for unloading bound grain was added. That young man was M. T. Buchanan, the present manager of the firm of M. T. Buchanan & Co., of Ingersoll, and the success that has crowned his efforts may be judged by the number of such unloading outfits that are being used throughout the country. Almost every farmer has one of some sort in his barn. Thirty years' experience with M. T. Buchanan & Co., of Ingersoll, Ont., enables us to speak with confidence as to the quality of the unloading tools made by them. They do good work, and give good satisfaction.

A BAD CASE

KIDNEY TROUBLE

CURED BY

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Kidney Troubles, no matter of what kind or what stage of the disease, can be quickly and permanently cured by the use of these wonderful pills. Mr. Joseph Leland, Alma, N.W.T., recommends them to all kidney trouble sufferers, when he says:—I was troubled with dull headaches, had frightful dreams, terrible pains in my legs and a frequent desire to urinate. Noticing DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS recommended for just such annoyances as mine, it occurred to me to give them a trial, so I procured a box of them, and was very much surprised at the effectual cure they made. I take a great deal of pleasure in recommending them to all kidney trouble sufferers.

Price 50c. per box, or 3 for $1.25; all dealers or The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.
