

A BAD COLD

Developed Into BRONCHITIS.

Neglected Bronchitis is very often the direct cause of Consumption, and on the first symptom appearing Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup should be used and the Bronchitis cured.

The symptoms are, tightness across the chest, sharp pains and a difficulty in breathing, a secretion of thick phlegm, at first white, and later of a greenish or yellowish color, coming from the bronchial tubes when coughing, especially the first thing in the morning.

Mrs. Dan. J. McCormack, Cleveland, N.S., writes: "My little boy two years old caught a bad cold which developed into Bronchitis. He was so choked up he could hardly breathe. Reading about your wonderful medicine, Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, I decided to try a bottle and with such good result I got another which completely cured him, without having a doctor. I cannot say too much in its praise; I would not be without it in the house as I consider it a sure cure for Colds and Bronchitis."

The price of "Dr. Wood's" Norway Pine Syrup is 25c. It is put up in a yellow wrapper. Three pine trees is the trade mark. Be sure and accept no substitute for Dr. Wood's.

Worth Looking Into

When it becomes necessary to buy feed, it will be well to keep in mind the word

"CRESCENT."

"Crescent" is a mixed chop, with the Government analysis on every bag. One of the largest dairy herds in Ontario recently ordered a carload, and the order was placed after thoroughly testing its value as a dairy feed. Ask your dealer about it. If he does not know, write us. We can give you a close price on a carload.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Miscellaneous.

LUMP JAW.

Bull, within the last month, has a lump coming on the under side of jaw. If it is lump jaw, would it be advisable to breed stock from him? If he was fed for beef, would a person be allowed to put it on the market? This lump seems to be firm on the bone. Is it lump jaw? He seems to have a good appetite.

A. R. C.

Ans.—This is probably lump jaw. Taken in the early stages, a cure is generally effected by the following treatment: Give iodide of potassium in bran or in a pint of water as a drench; commence with one dram three times daily, and increase the dose by ten grains daily until he refuses food and water, fluid runs from the eyes and mouth, or the skin becomes scurfy. When any of these symptoms become marked, cease giving the drug. Repeat treatment if necessary in three weeks. The disease is not supposed to be hereditary. It is unlawful to offer for sale the flesh of an animal affected with this disease, though all but the part locally affected is probably safe to use.

VARIETIES OF APPLES.

Taking the following list of varieties of winter apples, which would you consider the three most profitable, and which the four most profitable varieties: Spy, Baldwin, King, Greening, Fameuse and McIntosh Red. Also which is the most profitable variety of fall apples, and which are the two most profitable?

A SUBSCRIBER'S SON.

Brant Co., Ont.

Ans.—The selection of varieties of apples to plant in a young orchard is a matter which requires very careful consideration, as there are so many factors to be taken into account. For your district, you would make no mistake in selecting any of the varieties you have mentioned. If I were limited to a selection of three of those named, I would plant Spy, Baldwin and King, and for a fourth would add Greening. Among the fall varieties there is nothing better than Fameuse and McIntosh. If I had to make my choice between the two, I would select McIntosh. With a good selection of varieties of this kind, the profits from the orchard will depend largely upon the care and management given, and the business ability shown in disposing of the crop.

GRAVEL OR CRUSHED STONE FOR WALL-HOLLOW BUILDING BRICK.

1. In building a basement wall for a barn, is crushed stone and gravel stronger than cement and gravel, and, if so, in what proportion should they be mixed, and what sized crushed stone is preferable?

2. Are hollow building brick suitable for a basement wall. Would they be strong enough, and how would they last?

A. B.

Ans.—It depends mainly upon the strength of the aggregate. If the crushed stone is stronger than the gravel, it will, other things being equal, make a stronger wall. A suitable size is 1 to 1 1/2 inches in diameter. Five parts clean gravel, three parts crushed stone and two parts sand, to one part cement, would serve fairly well, and is recommended by a concrete machinery man. For our part, we would incline to add a little extra cement. Crushed stone and sand may be used without any gravel at all. Enough sand must be used to fill the interstices. Probably five parts crushed stone to two parts sand would be found about right. Thus mixed allow one part cement to eight parts crushed stone.

2. In many respects, these hollow building brick are ideal, being a dry, well insulated wall, which, if care should prove fairly durable. They are not, however, extra strong, and will be afraid of horses kicking, or the like. If used, they should be protected against mishaps. A well supported plank, laid behind the wall, and secured to it by small iron rods, would be a safe way to protect the wall from such attacks. If you are not sure, consult a concrete machinery man, or a competent engineer, and do not hesitate.
