St. Patrick's Day at St. Laurent.

St. Patrick's day was fittingly and appropriately celebrated by the stuents of St. Laurent College. It was the fortieth annual observance St. Patrick's Literary Association, and because March 17, the date dear to every Irish heart, fell on Sunday. the celebration was transferred from the seventeenth to the twenty-first.

Rev. James Lacey, of Ogdensburg

N.Y., and Rev. Michael O'Brien, o Montreal, old students of the lege, graced the occasion by then presence; the one to preach, the other to say Mass. Father Lacey said Mass at 7 a.m., at which all the members received Holy Com-Rev. Michael O'Brien, of Montreal, sang the High Mass at Under the direction of the assistant moderator, Rev. Thomas Kellett, a full choir responded. The soloists were Messrs. McKeon, Davis, Bresnahan, Maher, McDonough, Doherty, McGarry and Farley. Messrs. McKeon, Davis and Bresnahan rendered fittingly the "Kyrie." Rev. Father Lacey delivered an uncon mon eulogy on St. Patrick and paid a glowing tribute to the Irish race. did honor to Father Lacey and was greatly appreciated

At the close of the Mass, the members proceeded to the college gymna sium, where in song and laughter they mingled together.

At two o'clock the annual banquet was served. The guests were: Rev. J. J. Lacey, Ogdensburg, N.Y.; Rev. Michael O'Brien, of Montreal; Rev. Fathers Hebert, C.S.C., the Presi-Laurent College; E. Mechan, C.S.C., W. H. Condon, C.S. C.; E. Laurin, C.S.C.; T. Kellett, C. Other guests were Messrs. A. Griffin, G. Bruneau, D. Clement and V. De Goesbriand.

The toast master, Mr. D. E. Regan, instroduced the speakers of the day, and each responded with a which elicited great applause. Mr. Philip Griffin-Irish Heroes.

Correspondence.

The following letter has been dressed to the Montreal Herald: To the Editor of the Herald:

Sir,-I beg to direct your attention to a few of the very objectionable features of Saturday's Herald. I feel quite sorry I subscribed but a few weeks ago for its continuance for another year.

Objection No. 1. stupid excerpt ridiculing the Irishanother of your stage Irishman's tricks-which appeared Herald's Sieve entitled "Quicker."

The assinine Cockney pronunciation of "MofRe" for Mike is so characteristic of some dull folks among our Anglo-Saxon friends! This excerpt I am mailing to the Montreal Hibernians for their edification and enchantment

Objection No. 2.-Your Ottawa correspondent can't find words flattering enough for praise of the new prophet Balaam—the Rev. Cook, who knows it all about Ireland and Irish wit and Irish beauty, forsooth. Yet he can lie and lie he eminently does, by denouncing the "agitators"—men like Dillon, Davitt and Parnell while like hungry vultures such men as he-can I call them men?-fattens and thrive on the fruits of their labors. Oh, how anti-Irish these hypocrites are, and so chock-full of that ingratitude which more strong than traitor arms quite vanquishes the truly great.

Lastly, the Herald flaunts in the its Catholic readers the face of speech of the magnanimous Dr. Sproule. This diatribe appears flattering unction to the Herald's soul. It would not criticize his attacks on the Catholic Church in France which It would not criticize his attacks on Mr. F. Otto Linke-Our Sister So- the Herald knew to be as false as dicers' oaths. Such heroic courage, or an ounce of it, must not be pected of the Herald.

Newman Literary Society Observe Feast of St. Patrick

The Irish boys of Montreal College fully demonstrated their love of the Emerald Isle and of the great Patrick, when, on Thursday, March 21st, the Newman Literary Society of that Institution conserated an "open meeting" to moration of the Saint's feast and to the glories of Erin. It was but one of their regular meetings comewhat more artistically arranged

A neatly designed programme call-ed for eight items, the first of which dies, well rendered by Mr. McCarthy, who also acted as accompanist. Then the president, in a few words welcome, explained the object of the

At the roll-call all the membe responded with some very apt quotations from Irish authors.

"How Larry Sang the Agnus," by the secretary, Mr. Melaugh, gained much merited applause for its cellent "true to nature" delivery "The Irish Celt," an essay by Mr McGill, showed a good store of information of pre-Christian Ireland as well as a knowledge of the de velopment of the various arts that country. But the pathos brought out by the vice-president, Mr. Haley, in "Will my Soul Pass through Erin" was particularly appreciated. "The Study of O'Connell," by ex-President Mr. Farquhar son, held the audience's attention, delineating the Liberator's courage, faith, patriotism and pow The oration of the day by Mr. McCarthy, "The Day we Celebrate," he did full justice to, in
