SPORT

HOCKEY

Old Jack Frost has at last been good to the Brantford hockeyists, and to-night's intermediate fixture with London will be pulled off at the arena on schedule time. The ice is in good condition and everything points to a red hot contest, for a win for the locals will still keep them in the running, while a loss will put them out for keeps, and the locals are determined to be the team that will lower the hockey colors. The London Braves and their supporters will arrive at 8 o'clock on a special train, and the players will be conveyed to the rink in a bus, so that no delay will be caused in the commencement of the game. As to who will handle the bell has not yet been ascertained, as the clubs failed to agree on a referee and the O. H. A. secretary was called upon to appoint a man. The teams will line up as follows:

Brantford—Goal, Meyers; point, Plante or Woolams; cover, Tuck; rover, Watson; centre, Knight; Marlett; right, Jones or McMillan.

Puckering.

The gate receipts at the Tecumseh-Quebec game on Saturday night were nearly $2000, which is the second largest of the season.

Quebec pros. re-remaining over in the Queen City for their game with the Torontos at the Arena tomorrow night. They are working out at the Arena and taking advantage of the hard ice.

The junior O. H. A. game between London and Watford, which was to have been played at London last night, was postponed, there having been no ice there for several days.

Queens University Intercollegiate team may be without the services of Bov, their clever centre man, for the next few games. In the game against McGill last Friday night he broke a thumb.

"Bad Joe" Hall of Quebec team who was suspended by President Junn of the N. H. A., for two weeks for unruly tactics, will be in the game against Torontos at the Toronto Arena to-morrow night.

The Guelph Victorias wired the O. H. A. headquarters yesterday that they were dropping out of the intermediate series. Last week at Paris the Vics, who aspired to senior company early in the season were beaten 30 goals to 1.

"We tried to get Fryer of Collingwood for the Torontos," said Bruce Ridpath last night. After watching his own goal three or four times "Riddy" was satisfied that the Torontos did not sign him.

Six-man hockey has been an utter failure in Toronto. The fans who have been clamoring for seven men and real hockey will have their wishes gratified in about ten days, the N.H.A. has seen its mistake and will revert to seven-man teams as demanded by the people who "pay the fiddler."

Boston Journal—I will give the Toronto University hockey players all the credit due them without any excuses. They outplayed our best local team in a manner that was amazing to the local fans, and accomplished this stunt by superior hockey playing and clean work. May they come here again.

BASEBALL

The London Baseball club will hold its annual meeting on Friday night of this week.

Joe Joe Keenan, the new manager of the Berlin club, will make an effort to gather together a team of young players for this year.

Carl Lundgren, former Toronto pitcher, may manage the Keokuk, Iowa, club this season.

Jake Gettman's injured knee is as good as ever, according to a letter received by Manager Dunn of the Baltimore club from the veteran outfielder.

Ward and Spencer of the Rochester club will probably be sold before the 1913 season opens. The former may go to Montreal and the latter to Sacramento.

"Baron" Fischer, a member of the Leafs' catching staff early last season, and who was drafted by the Brooklyn club of the National League, has signed his 1913 contract with the Dodgers.

Manager Mike Kelly of the Indianapolis club was in hopes of securing Beals Becker from the Giants when George Stallings of Boston put in a claim for the player. The Toronto club also had an eye on Becker.

The unique office of inspector of salaries was created in the Three-L league, when J. M. Boyle of the Danville club was appointed to that position. The object is to have the salary limit enforced. Boyle will also be assistant to President Tierney of the league.

Five New York American veterans are already in line for the coming season. In addition to the veterans whose contract was received about ten days ago, Frank Farrell, has signed Russell Ford, Harry Wolter, Jack Lelivelt and Bert Daniels.

THE TURF

London Purchased New Course.

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 20.—It was rumored here to-day that a mile racetrack would be built in the east end, by the London Jockey Club, which obtained a charter a few years ago. The site said to have been chosen is the Harris farm of 75 acres, near the asylum, for which the price was $15,000.

New Track for Toronto.

TORONTO, Jan. 21.—Toronto horsemen were tipped off yesterday that Davies charter for a running track at Thorncliffe was to be put into operation with two seven-day racing meetings this summer.

Mr. Davies is off to the West Indies with Chas. Miller, but it is stated that before he left, arrangements had been made for the present three-quarter mile track at Thorncliffe, to be extended to a mile one, and for a grand stand to be erected in time for a summer meeting.

Bookmaking of the old order will, it is understood, be the method of operation.

With the Woodbine, Hillcrest and Dufferin Park meetings, Thorncliffe will make a Toronto season of eight weeks jockey races.

The charter was granted to Robt. Davies and his associates shortly after the Hon. J. C. Doherty became minister of justice.

THE THIBETAN TEA.

It Forms an Almost Indispensable Part of His Daily Fare.

Father Hue, the missionary and explorer of the high mountains or more ago, depicts in his delightful book "Avalanches" of laden yaks pouring down the mountain sides. The early critic pronounced this very amusing, but to be taken merely as a picturesque relief to what the worthy priest feared would be a dull narrative. Nevertheless, it is now known to be quite true. Yaks still make the gissade on the icy passes when carrying tea over the mountains from China to the interior of Tibet. The Thibetan tea has been known to be his mainstay—his life. The nomads of these lofty plains have absolutely no crops. They have no pigs nor fowls, and their only source of food is their flocks of goats and sheep furnish them with meat, which they eat fairly often, and with milk, cream, and especially butter, which they consume in astonishing quantities. The national dish, indeed, is a sort of gruel made by boiling parched barley meal and mixing into it as it cooks a goodly proportion of buttered tea.

All the tea and most of the barley used in Thibet comes from China, and nearly all by a single road which leads across the rough mountains of Sze-Chuan. It is the best road in western China because most traveled and cared for; yet on the mountain passes—one ten thousand feet high—the tea-carriers in winter must wear climbing-irons, and pack horses descend mostly by falling on the glairy trail and rolling and gliding, load and all, until they bring up gently in loose snow or bushes at the bottom. The Thibetan yaks know better. They sit down on their haunches, as Hue tells us, and skillfully slide.

This practice of sitting is traversed by an endless stream of porters carrying bales of tea west and bales of skins, etc., eastward—bales which frequently weigh three hundred pounds. They are not so much afraid of their caste, and will not allow any horse to be bred or used on the fertile plain of the Min River, near the border, where the tea is produced, on their monopoly—a trade-union centuries old. In addition to the usual traffic via Tatsien-lu, a great caravan of tea goes twice a year from Song-pang to cross Tibet as far as the great lake Kokonor. All the nomads know of its coming, and at each halting place families assemble from far and near to buy a few years' supply of tea in exchange for goatskins, yak hair, etc. These traveling merchants (Chinese) are in no danger from the tribes through which they regularly pass, to whose chiefs tribute is paid, but are as likely as any other caravan to be robbed by outsiders, so that military precautions must surround every movement, since nowhere on earth is society composed so wholly of Ishmaelites as that of eastern Thibet.

THE JAPANESE LANGUAGE.

The Japanese language has some features which are peculiar in its use. In English when one has learned the name for rice that ends it. Not so in Japan. Begin with cooked rice, and it is Onigiri. If you eat it in the field it is Onigiri. So a carpenter's tool, or shaku, is about twelve inches, but a tailor's is fifteen. A kin or pound of tea is fourteen ounces, and a flour twenty-one, of sugar over thirty. The ri, or mile, varies in different provinces, and on the Fusuyama ascent had a ri in twelve miles because it's so much harder work going uphill.

Pretty Cool.

"Was it cool where you spent your vacation?"

"Cool," I should say it was. I was obliged to go to town for a few days and returned unexpectedly. I met the old farmer coming down the road wearing one of my shirts and using my pants to drive home the cows. One of his sons had gone to the village with my best suit of clothes on, and the oldest daughter was straining jelly through my white muslin coat.

"When they saw me they seemed a bit surprised, but all they said was: 'We hadn't been expectin' yer hum so soon. It was certainly the coolest family I ever struck.'"

Mozart's Quick Work.

On one occasion Mozart was making merry with his friends at midnight when not a single note was written of the overture to "Don Giovanni," which was to be produced on the following morning. Awakening refreshed, he set to work on the overture, dashing off sheet after sheet with incredible rapidity and dispatching them to the copyists. The opera was to begin at 7 in the evening, and a few minutes after that hour Mozart was in his place as conductor, baton in hand, while the parts with the ink still wet on some of them were being handed to the orchestra.

A. WOMAN'S WISDOM.

The worried mother wakes up to hear her baby's heavy breathing—a little cough—perhaps the trouble does not amount to much. Finally she thinks of the doctor when perhaps the trouble has become serious. Finally she thinks of the doctor when perhaps the trouble has become serious. Finally she thinks of the doctor when perhaps the trouble has become serious.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best medicine for any woman to take when in this condition. I recommend it to all my friends.

TURKISH

Has Agreed to the Proposal of Peace—Hostilities Resumed as Practice

(Courier Leased Wire)

PARIS, Jan. 22.—Special despatches from both Constantinople and London agree that Turkey is on the eve of acceding to the advice of the powers as formulated in the note of Jan. 17. A despatch to The Matin from Constantinople says that Turkish Pasha, the Turkish ambassador at St. Petersburg, has communicated to the Porte declarations made to him by M. Sazonoff, the Russian Foreign Minister, who strongly urged that Turkey give way at once. If Turkey dragged out the pour parlars, he pointed out, she would endanger the political situation in Europe and Russia above all desirous of consolidating the situation would find herself obliged to compel Turkey to give in by occupying the vilayets of Van, Erzerum and Trebizond and entering the straits. The Russian Government, he added, could not resist public opinion and demanded an immediate answer.

The Russian ambassador, M. Degeers had made similar representation to Kiamil Pasha at Constantinople. M. Bompard, the French ambassador to Turkey has advised the Premier to comply with Russia's suggestion.

TURKISH LOSSES.

In the course of the fight a Greek shell exploded inside one of the turrets of the Turkish Battleship Turgut Reis, killing and wounding every man in it and disabling the ship. The vessel was severely damaged and also inflamed by the Greek projectiles.
