A WARM SCORING.

W. K. Merrifield's Opinion of The Detroit Free Press.

He Declares it Cannot Discuss Anything Canadian or British in a Fair Way.

To The Planet.—It is some time since I have seen a subject so aptly described as was the Detroit Free Press in your last Saturday's editorial column.
Of all newspapers on nineteenth century journalism the Detroit Free Press, in my opinion, forms the top. I purchased a Sunday number at the time of the battle of Elandslaagte. On one page was a long article copied from some source which gave the Boer-Hottentot question as it is. But in the editorial it entirely ignored that article, and instead, gave an utterly discreditable, anti-British tirade.
The sheet appears to be got up on a negative—I was going to say principle, but it is more a plan. In United States politics it has been copperhead, and mugwump, and in British, it is pro-Fenian, pro-Boer, pro-Russian or pro anything else against Britain or Canada. Has any one ever read an editorial in that paper which contained a truthful representation of anything Canadian or British? And how any Canadian with respect for himself or his country can deign to read such editorial is beyond me. It is a disgraceful thing for any newspaper to publish such a thing. If our people must have Detroit news, there are respectable morning and evening papers that do not depend upon the unwashed for existence.

Yours truly,
W. K. MERRIFIELD.
DISGUSTED FREE PRESS SUBSCRIBER.

As representative of the Free Press in Chatham, I regret that the war editorial of that great journal have shocked the nerve system of this ex-

Subscriber, and perhaps have given him a gentle touch of the cerebro-spinal meningitis. Evidently Ex-Sub would be a poor substitute even in the Own Paul campaign. The position of powder-monkey would be hazardous enough for this hero who is taking up the white Queen's Jordan in Africa. The Free Press would no doubt pay this wiseacre for child music advice as to how the paper should be run, although the Free Press has been able to wiggle along without this new Horace Greeley, for at least sixty years. The patriotism of Ex-Sub, is knocked silly by the fact that he holds a brief for the Detroit Tribune, as he winds up by highly recommending that paper.

OLD MAN IS GAME.

He is Anxious to be Prosecuted for Libel.

But Says That no Such Good Luck is in Store for Him—Sir Charles is Sarcastic.

Winnipeg, November 23.—At Brandon Sir Charles Tupper was particularly hard upon the Siftonian administration in the Yukon-Toshin Lake Railway scheme, and the granting of the permits to Mr. Philip, Mr. Sifton's late partner, worth enormous sums of money to the fortunate recipient. The following day rumors were rife throughout the city that Mr. Philip had commenced legal proceedings against Sir Charles for alleged libellous expressions.
A reporter called on the veteran statesman at the residence of Senator Kitchener, and was courteously accorded an interview. He asked Sir Charles if he had received any notice of these proceedings.
"Alas, no," he replied, "and you may rest assured there will not be any. I have had a long journey to get to Brandon, but I should consider all the time and trouble well repaid if they would bring any such action against me. Mr. Sifton would then be compelled to get into the witness box and be subject to cross-examination on these points, and that is an ordeal he would never face."
"Do you think your remarks were libellous?"
"Well," answered Sir Charles, "there is an old saying, 'The greater the truth, the greater the libel.' I stated some very plain truth and facts in unmistakable language, and no doubt it makes them feel uncomfortable, as they know I have the proof and can justify anything I say. I do not know that I said anything to damage Mr. Philip," continued Sir Charles, "unless it may be connecting his name with that of the Minister. That might certainly damage him."
"You don't really fear any prosecution by Mr. Sifton?"
"No," replied the Opposition leader, with a smile. "That case will never come to trial unless, yes, he adds, after thought, 'he could get me tried before his wife's uncle, Mr. Ogilvie.'"

WELL SPOKEN OF.

H. F. Anderson, "The King of Scotch Komiks," was the leading character at the Scotch concert at Massey Hall in Toronto, and aroused the enthusiasm of an audience of 3,000 people to the highest pitch. The Globe's report says: "The humorous sense of the audience was appealed to by Mr. H. F. Anderson, who made a great hit in his character selections. As evidence of the appreciation with which the program was received, it may be mentioned that every number of the first part and the first four numbers of the second part were encored." Do not fail to hear him at the Scotch concert on Tuesday evening next.

BY AN AMATEUR COMPANY.
Last evening the Pools Comedy Company presented, "The Double Crime," in the Young Men's Liberal Club theatre over the Central Drug Store. Miss Catham took the leading part, Alfred Wrigley, as the Irish man and Tom Poole as the tramp, were individual entertainers in themselves. The specialties were up-to-date, consisting of step dances by George Tucker and cake walks by the Bohemian Sisters. The show netted the company about $5.

SURPRISE AND PRESENTATION

By the Knox Church Congregation to Miss Sara Langford at Kent Bridge.

About twenty of the young people met at Miss Sara Langford's home on Wednesday and spent a pleasant evening in games and instrumental vocal music. The purpose of the gathering was then introduced by Miss Anna Shaw, coming forward and reading the following address, the presentation being made by Miss Emma Smith:—

Dear Sarah,—On behalf of the congregation and choir of Knox church, Kent Bridge, having gathered in your home to-night, we beg leave to avail ourselves of this opportunity to tender our sincere thanks to you for laboring as you have labored so faithfully and smoothly in the church for the past six years.

We desire to express our high appreciation, and to offer to you the tribute of respect and esteem due to the high position which you occupied so honorably and creditably. We rejoice that during your term of office as organist rapid progress was made in the choir, both in membership and proficiency. We both as a congregation and individually as well, very much regretted to hear that your resignation had been sent in.

And as a token of our appreciation of the warm interest taken in the choir and the efforts put forth for the advancement of the choir and church by you, please accept this chain and tablet. We will call this but a small token of our regard for you, feeling that your kindness will not soon be forgotten. We all heartily join in wishing you an abundant entrance into the great hereafter.

Signed on behalf of the church, ANNA SHAW, EMMA SMITH.

Miss Langford in reply, said:—I wish to thank you for this gift and the motive which prompted it. And I assure you anything I have done has been only a pleasure.

Baskets were then brought out and lunch passed. A very pleasant time was had. Miss Sara Langford sang a beautiful solo, after which the choir sang an anthem.

HOLDS HOSTAGES.

A Boer Commander will Shoot Two Englishmen

If the Suspected Traitor Van Renssberg is Executed—General War Notes.

London, Nov. 25.—The Daily Mail's correspondent at Naauwpoort says:—
"An open, unsigned letter, smuggled through from Colesburg, says: 'Commandant Grobler has arrested two prominent Englishmen and threatens to shoot them if any harm is done to Van Renssberg, ringleader of the Colesburg rebels, who was captured by the British and is to be tried for treason.'"
The position of Mafeking is beginning to be regarded with anxiety in view of the impossibility of Lord Methuen being unable to relieve the town for some time to come.

The New South Wales government being the first to rally in the British cause in South Africa, their contingent was the first to take blood. To-day's Cape cablegram announces that a troop of New South Wales Lancers was included in General French's force, connoitering force yesterday, fired upon by the Boers near Arundel.

Cecil Rhodes keeps a big balloon ready at Kimberley to escape, if driven to that extremity.

The United States government has instructed Mr. Macrum, its Pretoria Consul, to insist upon his right to look after British interests.
