-two days only—August 11, 12. It is important, (if ruptured,) that you secure the best services and most advanced methods of relief. The theory of curing rupture by hypodermic injections, electricity, and the application of external lotions, has long been discarded by leading hernictomists, and medical statistics show that Mr. Egan's system of treatment is the only reliable one, without any of their injurious effects. Blood poisoning often results by rubbing on external lo-tions. Consult this gentleman free when the opportunity presents itself. See advertisement in this issue.

STORM DID DAMAGE.

The wind and rain storm, which sed over Dover and Chatham town passed over lover and Chatham town-ships on Wednesday night, did consid-erable damage to the corn, many fields of which were levelled. On the farm of Fred Goodland, Prince Albert Road, Chatham township, five large apple trees were blown down and a monster locust tree was torn up by the roots. It fell across a brick milk house, completely wrecking the structure.

He Knocked Out the Big Ohioan In Six Rounds.

The Older Man's Science and Experlence More Than a Match For Ruhlin's Youth and Physical Strength.

Madison Square Garden, New York,

ug. 11.-Bob Fitzsimmons, of Australia, now an American citizen, met Gu Ruhlin, the Akron giant, last night before the Twentieth Century Club at Madison Square Garden, and won by knocking the Ohioan down and out in the sixth round onloan down and out in the sixth round sitzsimmons did the trick clearly and clever-y. It was a fierce and bloody battle while t lasted, and at times it looked as if Ruhlin would get the better of the older man, but would get the better of the older man, but Fitz at the proper time would cut loose with his fearful body blows, which finally snuffed out the Ohio boxer's light. The betting all along favored Fitzsimmons, many wagers at the rate of 100 to 80 on Lanky Bob being made. Last night, however, at the ringside there was a flush of Ruelin money, which forced the odds to take a turn in Rublin's favor at the rate of 100 to 90. which forced the odds to take a turn in Ruhlin's favor at the rate of 100 to 90. This did not last long, however, and by the time the men put up their hands for the opening round, they were equal favorites, even money being the rule. Fitzsimmons conceded about 32 pounds to Ruhlin, and this in itself was a serious handicap. From the men started in with hurricane like force. Both were wild at times, but Fitz the men started in with hurricane like force. Both were wild at times, but Fitz was always the quicker to steady himself. Ruhlin clinched a good deal, and for three or four rounds was the aggressor. He landed some hard straight lefts on Fitz's face and swung his right to the body and head with fearful force. Several of these blows staggered, but none of them landed on the marks as Fitz was too shifty. Fitz forced Ruhlin to break ground, and in a hot mixup the Ohio man was always the first to ease up and take refuge in a clinch. Time and time again Fitz forced Ruhlin to the ropes, from which position Ruhlin got away rather clumsily, while Fitz was alway very quick in his foot movements. When Ruhlin's nose began to bleed, from a left punch, the sight of the blood seemed to have a deterrent effect on him, and Fitz was quick to see this. On the first sign of weakness on Ruhlin's part, Fitz began his attack on the body, and each blow he landed there made Gus wince with pain. Fitz's handlers kept urging him to play for the solar plexus, but Fitz ouly tried it occasionally. In the fourth and tifth rounds both men showed plainly the effects of the stiff and rapid work they had done in the preceding rounds. rapid work they had done in the preceding and leg weary, but Rublin showed up much the worse of the two. Fitz was always the quicker on his feet at the always the quicker on his feet at the call of time, but now and then during the rounds he seemed to stand still and glare at his opponent. Ruhlin at these times also stood still, being evidently grateful for the chance of breathing which Fitz afforded him. Just once Fitz touched the floor, when he slipped down from a clinch at the end of a round. In the sixth round Ruhlin was slow in coming to time, while Fitz jumped at his man. It was just a question of who could land a telling punch, as both men were much fatigued. Fitz, always the quicker on his feet, was able to get around Ruhlin, and while the latter sent straight lefts for Fitz's head, Bob side-stepped and landed lefts on the solar plexus, Fitz sent Ruhlin in a heap on the floor. This was the beginning of the end that soon followed. Ruhlin, after taking nine seconds of the count, arose to his feet, groggy from the effects of the solar plexus blow. Fitz knew he had his man and was ready for him. As soon as Ruhlin got up Fitz rushed, sending two lefts to the face, and then shot his right with fearful force to the point of Ruhlin's jaw. Got pitched forward Ruhlin's jaw. Got pitched forward as if struck with an axe and fell on his face to the floor, where he was counted out and had to be carried to his corner.
