GROWTH OF MILLING INDUSTRY IN CANADA

Rapid Expansion in Keeping With Dominion's Position Among Wheat Producers of World

From its humble beginning at Port Royal (now Annapolis Royal, Nova Scotia) in 1605, flour and grist milling in Canada has grown to be one of the Dominion's most important industries. According to an early census there were nine mills in operation in New France in 1655 while the latest figures (those for 1922) compiled by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics show 1,364 operating mills in Canada with a daily capacity of 134,125 barrels. The amount of wheat milled and flour produced by these mills showed a considerable increase during 1922. This year saw 81,413,649 bushels of grain converted into flour, as compared with 70,005,373 bushels in 1921 and 61,116,380 bushels in 1920. The production of flour during the 1922 calendar year reached 17,787,329 barrels, an increase of 2,466,170 barrels over the previous year and 4,680,669 barrels greater than 1920.

Easy access to the Atlantic seaboard has heretofore been a determining factor in deciding the location of flour and grist mills in Canada. Of the 1,364 mills in operation in 1922, 1,211 were situated in Ontario, Quebec, and the Maritime Provinces. In the early days of the industry Montreal became the centre of flour and grist milling and it has held its predominant position, the daily output of the mills in its vicinity totalling nearly 20,000 barrels in 1922. However, with the development of the Pacific trade the growth of western points as milling centres is being accelerated, and there is every indication that the industry will continue to expand in proportion to the Dominion's position as one of the great wheat-producing countries of the world.

TO DEFEND ULSTER

Sir James Craig Threatens Opposition if Decision Not Satisfactory
BELFAST, Oct. 7.—Sir James Craig, Premier of Ulster, at the opening of parliament today, said that if the British parliament passed the Irish Bill and the Boundary was finally fixed so that it would be acceptable to Ulster, "Well and good". On the other hand, he declared, no matter who was named as the third member of the boundary commission, if the decision was not acceptable to Ulster, he would not hesitate a moment if there was no other honorable way out, to resign and place himself at the disposal of the people, no longer as premier, but as the chosen leader to defend any territory which they might consider had been unfairly transferred from Ulster, Great Britain and the flag of the Empire.

A bad motor accident which fortunately was not attended by bodily injury to the occupants occurred last Sunday afternoon at the intersection of Main street and Highland avenue. A Chevrolet sedan, belonging to Mr. Andrew Pearson, of Greenwich, and driven by his daughter, Miss Annie Pearson, was proceeding from Highland avenue to Main street, going west, when it collided with a Ford owned by Mr. John Atwell, of Gasperen, and driven by Miss May Cavanaugh, going east. The Ford was badly wrecked, while the force of the impact broke a wheel of the closed car, removed three tires and damaged the doors, no glass being broken. Miss Pearson was alone in her car while the Ford contained five persons.

SUNDAY OBSERVANCE

To the Editor of THE ACADIAN
Mr. Editor.—Walking along Main street last Sunday morning, enjoying the freshness of the day, I felt that it was a day of rest. The calm and peace that reigned around me, as well as the closed business places, and the absence of traffic, all attested to that fact.

On approaching a gas-station, however, I noticed that the scene was very different. Instead of the rest and quiet prevailing elsewhere here all was bustle and hurry. People were busy buying and selling gasoline, while others were awaiting their turn to have their tanks filled. The garage behind was wide open. Several persons were standing by the doorway, and others passing in to where car accessories are usually kept on sale.

Remembering that there are both moral and statute laws prohibiting the sale of commodities on Sunday, except in cases of necessity and mercy, I wondered why the people of Wolfville, and not of Wolfville alone but of other places as well, permitted the violation of these laws on the open street. Perhaps it is allowed on the ground of public convenience. It cannot be thru Sunday, knowing it cannot be had on that day one can and will provide it on Saturday. Should the tourist run short of necessities, he would have to wait until Monday. Did mere expediency justify the custom, we may well open all our business places and throw to the winds the Sabbath which our fathers held so sacred and the freedom of which they handed down to us at such a price.

CAR OWNER

Common and illegal as the practice is, it is not by any means universal. Everybody knows that there are many towns in Canada and elsewhere where gas is obtainable only on week days. Even if it were, the question still remains, namely: is it right or is it wrong. If it is wrong, it should find no place on the streets of Wolfville.

NORMA TALMADGE IS SCREEN BLACKMAILER IN "WITHIN THE LAW"

Sent to prison for a theft that another girl committed
Saved from an attempt at suicide.
Initiated into a band of blackmailers working only "within the law".
Specializing in breach of promise suits.
Sworn to get square with the employer who "sent her up" as an example.
Married to his son as a means of obtaining vengeance, but somehow this didn't work out as planned.

These are some of the dramatic and romantic things that happen to Norma Talmadge, as Mary Turner, in the screen version of "Within the Law", the first National picture directed by Frank Lloyd, which will be shown at the Orpheum Theatre on Monday and Tuesday. But Mary is a good girl at heart and everything, of course, turns out well. It is said to be Norma Talmadge's biggest emotional role in motion pictures, and surrounding her is a cast of exceptional talent. Her leading man is Jack Mulhall, in the role of Dick Gilder, "victimized" son of Mary Turner's hated employer. Eileen Percy plays Aggie Lynch, the blackmailing, with whom Mary forms an acquaintance that sets her life on a new course. Lew Cody is seen as Joe Garson, forger, who sacrifices himself because of his love for Mary.

Other important parts are taken by such celebrities as DeWitt Jennings, Lincoln Plummer, Joseph Kilgour, Helen Ferguson, Ward Crane, Lionel Belmore, Catherine Murphy and Thomas Ricketts.

Great Britain's first Labor government virtually came to an end at 11 o'clock last night, when by a combination of Conservative and Liberal votes, the House of Commons carried a motion demanding that a select committee of the House investigate the action of Attorney-General Sir Patrick Hastings in withdrawing prosecution in the case of the Communist, James R. Campbell, acting editor of the Workers' Weekly, charged with inciting His Majesty's forces to sedition. The vote was 364 to 198. #### GREENWICH

On Tuesday, September 30th, our population was increased by the birth of a son to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cleaveland.

Mrs. Norman MacRae, of Lower Wolfville, who was a patient for two weeks at the home of Mrs. Grace Anderson, returned to her home, with her infant daughter last Thursday.

Mrs. Parsons, of Amherst, who spent a month at the home of her sister, Mrs. Frederick Ford, returned home one day last week.

Miss Gow, of Halifax, who was a guest for a week at the home of Mrs. (Dr.) Gow and family, "Ridgeland Farm", returned to her home last Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Harry Neary has the deep sympathy of her neighbours and friends in losing her mother, Mrs. Gammon, of Medford, by death, last Friday morning. During her visit here at the home of friends, Mrs. Gammon had over to attend her funeral on Sunday afternoon at her late home in Medford.

Mr. and Mrs. John Fenwick spent the week end in Rawdon, Hants county.

Mrs. Cecyl Hiltz, of Kentville, who is a patient at the home of Nurse Andrew, was gladdened on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 5th, by the arrival of a fine big baby-boy. Dr. Bradford Bishop, of Kentville, is the attending physician. Much interest is expressed in the community upon the arrival of this little son, as the mother was one of our own girls, being Gwendolyn, youngest daughter of Mr. C. C. Brown, a former well remembered resident.

A "sing" at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Fenwick on Sunday evening was enjoyed by a good number.

A few from here motored to Kentville on Sunday evening to hear and enjoy Rev. J. Hamilton Wigle, Principal of Mount Allison Ladies College, Sackville, N. B., who preached at the United church of St. Paul's and St. Stephen's. Special music was also an enjoyable feature of the evening.

Mrs. Andrew Fenwick, who is driving her father's automobile in Wolfville on Sunday afternoon, had part in a collision on the Main street, which resulted in both cars being badly broken. We understand Miss Pearson was alone at the time and fortunately was not injured.

HUSBAND GAMBLES IN STOCKS WIFE SAVES HIM

Story of "The Silent Partner" is Filled with Strong Human Appeal

Some wives dig into a man's pocket for money, others make him dig. If you wanted to cure your husband of gambling in stocks, and at the same time keep his money in the family, how would you do it?

Letrice Joy, as the wife of a stock gambler, shows one way in the intensely interesting Paramount domestic drama of New York life, "The Silent Partner", which will be the big feature at the Orpheum Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday.

In this Charles Maigne production, Owen Moore takes the part of a small-salaried clerk in a stock broker's office. When he suddenly gets the speculation fever, success turns his head. He resigns his steady position and moves from a modest kitchenette flat to exclusive Park avenue apartments.

How woman's wit prepares for the crash that comes—how she stands by her husband even though he neglects her in the excitement of piling up newly acquired wealth—is revealed in the film version of this human Saturday Evening Post serial of Maximilian Foster's, adapted by Sada Cowan.

FOOTBALL ACCIDENTS

Mr. Fenwick's home is near Sussex, N. B. Tees, another football player, and student at Acadia Academy, had his hand broken. There have been no accidents of this kind on the Acadia Campus for years.

GRAND PRE WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

Interesting Report of Institute Exhibit at Toronto Exhibition Given by Miss Stuart

The October meeting of the Grand Pre Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Patrinquin with the president in the chair.

Mrs. Bower gave a report of the sale held in the Tea Room on Thursday and Friday, October 2 and 3. There are still a good many articles left but the sale was as good as anticipated.

Some of our members, also members of the community, were reported on the sick list. Sunshine boxes and flowers will be sent this week.

Next month is our annual meeting for the election of officers. Preparatory to that, a Nominating committee was appointed, consisting of—Mrs. Ayrton Johnson, Mrs. MacRae and Miss Laura Trenholm.

It was decided to celebrate the eleventh birthday of our Institute by holding a party, subject to two conditions,—first, that the cake be large; second, that the members put as few coppers as possible in the envelope as it makes more work for the secretary.

The opening poem was read by Miss Magee. Miss Stuart, first vice president of the Federated Women's Institute of Canada, gave a splendid report of the work done at the Toronto Exhibition. Miss Stuart spoke in the highest terms of the executive and management of the Exhibition. Our splendid fish exhibit was also mentioned, but, of course, the topic was Institute work. As our motto always has been, "For Home and Country", a resolution was passed that it be copyrighted, making it impossible for magazines or newspapers to use the term for other than Institute news. Each province had a demonstration booth, with the exception of Alberta which is an independent body, receiving no help from the government, so they could not finance the transportation of exhibits this year. New Brunswick had an Industrial exhibit, Madame Blanchard manufactured flax, beginning with the seed and ending with woven towels made on a miniature loom. Manitoba demonstrated the correct way to dress. Models were used to show the incorrect as well as the approved method. The can and sanding of bees was also demonstrated. Prince Edward Island demonstrated home industry, namely,—quilts, rugs, pillow cases. British Columbia represented a health centre, the booth being a miniature hospital. There were also flowers, evergreen products, fruit and honey. Ontario furnished a three-roomed suite,—kitchen, living-room and bed-room complete with every necessary article of furniture, including a range sink and a full supply of goods for dishes and trunks, for size 37, all articles being supplied by the T. Eaton Company. Nova Scotia had enlarged pictures of scenic views for tourist publicity purposes. The demonstration was in nutrition, specializing in canning and school lunches. The old fashioned lunch of thick bread and molasses and cake rolled in a newspaper was placed beside the model lunch composed of a jar of milk, several sandwiches, cookies and fruit in a sterile container, such as a shiny lard pail, when hot lunches are not available.

Mrs. Chambers favored us with a pleasing piano solo. Then Miss Ora Woodman gave a very interesting descriptive account of her recent European tour in England, France, Spain and Italy.

The hostess served delicious ice cream and cake.

The November meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Townshend.
