A MEETING was held at the office of Messrs. Brecken & Fitzgerald, on Friday evening last to discuss the question of planting the squares and sides of the streets in this city with trees. All present seemed to favor the movement. A meeting of the citizens is to be held in the Market Hall this evening, to organize measures for carrying such

The Catholic Herald, published at Lawrence, Mass., referring to the poem entitled "A Lesson," by His Grace Archbishop O'Brien, of Halifax, which we publish on our fourth page to-day, says: our fourth page to-day, says:

"It is indeed a lesson, a double less "It is indeed a lesson, a double lesson, a lesson in pure poesy as well as a lesson to the would-be scientists of the age. The gentle sarcasm of the Archbishop is the outcome of a truly scientific mind. In the montal sciences Archbishop O'Brien has few peers in the English-speaking world to-day. It is a rare combination in one mind, science and recent

Perhaps the most successful of our young Islanders abroad is Mr. James C. McEachen, voungest son of John McEachen, Esq., mer chant, of this city. He has lately graduated with high honors from the Law University of New York, and received the title of L. L. B. He cannot practice, however, until next November. The degrees are to be con-ferred by the Rev. Dr. John Hall in the Academy of Music, New York, on May 15, when addresses will be delivered by students of the University and leading lawyers of New York. Mr. McEachen is one of the three composing the managing committee to arrange a programme, &c., for the occasion. We congratulate our young friend on his success, he being only in his twentieth year.

THE steamer Carroll was the first steamer to arrive from Boston this season. There always appears to be an attraction on the arrival and departure of the Boston boat, and the number on Pownal Wharf on Saturday lest is an indication that the interest is not decreasing. The Carroll had a full load of freight for this port, among which was nearly four thousand barrels of flour. She sails for Boston to-day with a large cargo and the following passengers:—John Eden, J. C. Turner, Mrs. J. C. Turner, Sarah Ann McNeill, John A. Currie, Mary Fisher, Kate Arnold, John McDonald, Annie McCormack, Mary Donnelly, Donald McDonald, Hannah O'Brien, Jane McCarron, Rose McCarron, Mary E. Smith, John B. McKinnon, Miss C.
