WASTING TIME.

Certain members of th Opposition are not improving their case or in creasing their prestige by wasting the time of the country in idle talk. It has long been the privilege of the House of Commons, under the British system of Supply to indulge in almost unrestricted debate. The real reason for this has been lost sight of in this country, and leave invariably turned into license. This is harmless enough in ordinary years, when both the country and its legislators are anxious to get on with reasonable speed with the business that has to be done. This year urgent matters recently the country and its legislators are anxious to get on with reasonable speed with the business that has to be done. in ordinary years, when both the This year urgent matters press. The session is very late. Let the members talk, but let them talk to the point. There is quite enough in the estimates to furnish a subject with out reaming into little bysics. out roaming into little byways or sible and Mrs. Logan is arranging a aeroplaning over the British Emmusicale. The proceeds are to be depire. Our suspicion is growing into voted to the Khaki Guild Fund. certainty that the real reason is that there is only one member wh sees the importance of the matter and understands all its details, the Leader of the Opposition. Dr. Lloyd's criticisms have been consistently relevant, and in the matter of the in-terest on the fresh war loans he has raised a question which neither the raised a question which neither the estimates nor the Finance Minister's warm or vice versa and those people with the changes suddenly from cool to warm or vice versa and those people warm or vice versa and v explanations answer satisfactorily. are the best that the Supply can evoke, let further discussion be curevoke, let further discussion be curtailed, the business put through and the really important work approached. The Government will have to ed. The Government will have to bring in their Extension of Parliament Bill: everyone knows this. The sooner the better. The Opposition will then have the opportunity of op posing it in the proper place. Their arguments will have every sympathy and consideration from the country at large, whatever happens to them in the House. But the country wants arguments, not empty talk or emptier threats, on a matter which affects it so deeply. Next to that and to the our strength in France, which is be ing too long and culpably shirked the economic needs of the country have to be met and far more satis-factorily than at present. The food situation has hardly received the merest passing notice in the House. Will the Government let another ses sion pass without the enactment o an Excess Profits Tax? They will, of course, jump at the opportunity of shifting responsibility, as they alshifting responsibility, as they always do, and will appoint the proposed Food Control Board. The result is certain to be unsatisfactory and may easily be disastrous. In the process of food supply the first stages which can only be handled with ges, which can only be handled with the greatest care and delicacy, will to occupy all the energies, all the abilities and all the patriotism of our legislators. They are not our legislators. They are not giving convincing proof of those qualities by deferring action upon them to the latest moment possible. Conditions time to consider how they may succeed (or fail) to meet them.

Gift to C. of E.

Orphanage.

GENEROUS ACTION OF JOB FAM-

The memory of the late T. R. Job, Esq., of Liverpool, who died there recently, has been perpetuated by his family in a philanthropic action of a rare but appropriate nature. The Church of England Orphanage has been greatly handicapped for years by its unsuitable location, the premises on Military Road being much too confined and urban for the health and well-being of the young inmates. These disadvantages are now removed and many additional benefits gained by the gift to the trustees of "Exon," near Long Pond, formerly the residence of Mr. R. B. Job. The property is extensive, comprising about ten acres, and the house and grounds are valued at $20,000. The setting and surroundings are very beautiful and the orphans will have all the room they went in which to extract their limbs want in which to stretch their limbs. This magnificent gift is typical of the generosity of the Jobs, as well as their public spirit, for it confers the greatest benefit not alone on the fortunate orphans but on the community

Uncalled For Remarks Strongly Resented.

The Chief Engineer of a local steamer is now out of a job because of remarks which he made during the recent run of the ship to a foreign port, reflecting on the ability of Newfoundlanders. It is said that the chief made some unpublishable states ment against our workers and soldiers which were strongly resented by a trimmer at whom the remarks were aimed. Others of the crew objected to the language of the "bully" with the result that he is now looking for another ion.

U-boat Peril.

Profesor Michael I. Pupin, member the National Research Counci which has been studying the submar ne problem, asserted positively in an address recently to the members of the New York Academy of Sciences, of which he is President, that there was o doubt of the ability of American enius to check Germany's undersea ampaign. The emphasis with which ne made the statement caused many o nis hearers to recall the cable message from London published in the New York Times on Sunday last, announcing that the submarine menace was being mastered by a simple de ice invented by an American.

"The Germans ought to have known hat the same inventive genius which gave them the submarine weapon will also knock it out of their hands," said rofessor Pupin.

His address was delivered at the entennial meeting of the Academy in he West Assembly Hall of the American Museum of Natural History.

"The Germans have announced he world that unrestricted submarine warfare is their trump card," he said, and that they are staking their all combat against the very weapon to be addressed by the Rev. D. Hemmeon, B.A.; there will be specially which the inventive genius of this he flying machine. But the Germans ought to have known that the same inventive genius which gave them the submarine weapon will also knock it out of their hands. They did not know it owing to their utter lack of subtle psychological discrimination, but they will know it very soon.

"The scientific men of this country Dept. Col. Secretary, June 16, 1917. mmand an art which has been deloped here during the last five years by scientific research of the highest order. Some of the very best scientific minds of America are confident that they will soon employ this art to convince the Germans that the submarine is the most fragile weapon which they are wielding, and if this weapon is really the last trump card upon which they have staked their all, then they have lost. "Victory will be ours, and the people of this country will recognize that after all.
