The Women's Christian Temperance Union held the first meeting for the season on Thursday afternoon past. Owing to unforeseen circumstances, and after a notice of intended meeting had appeared in the press, it was found that the Congregational Church class room would not be available. However, Mrs. Diamond having placed her rooms at the Union's disposal, a very good gathering of active members was the result. President Mrs. Hunter was in the chair. The meeting opened with the singing of hymns. "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name," Evangelist Superintendent Mrs. Martin reading a Scripture passage, and Mrs. Diamond presiding. Many reports were presented and preparations made for the work in store. The monthly services at the Pentecostal Church will be held on the 1st of October, being both interesting and varied. At last Sunday's service Rev. Mr. Atkinson, president, and Mrs. Diamond, addressed the assembly. Miss Jones, a lady visitor, kindly presided at the banquet. It was a most interesting and profitable meeting, and a large number of new members were secured. The next meeting will be held on the 1st of October, at 8 o'clock, at the residence of Mrs. Diamond, 124 Duckworth Street, over Maunders' shop.

it nevertheless has a watchful eye. When the three young girls were in court just the other day, the president was there. The youngest girl who got free was talked with, led and accompanied near to where she said her home was, to be later, the imagination supply the rest. The youngest girl is not a truthful girl. Busy women know all about many a heart of poverty and vice that should be brushed to the ground. Motherless girls are going wantonly astray, because there's no one to compel them to keep good company. The very life of the town is endangered by the evils that exist in and around it. To combat these evils there is just one remedy. To establish a home where wayward girls could be reclaimed should not be an impossibility, nor it any longer be regarded as a desirable project. To establish a home where wayward girls could be reclaimed should not be an impossibility, nor it any longer be regarded as a desirable project. His Glorious Deeds of Valor.

LONDON, Sept. 27. (By Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—The London Gazette announces the award of nine new Victoria Crosses to seven Canadians, one Australian and one New Zealander. Four of the recipients are dead. The names and achievements of the Canadian recipients follow: Lieut. James Edward Tait, M.C., late of a Manitoba regiment, for conspicuous bravery and initiative in attack and advance. Having been checked by intense machine gun fire, Tait rallied his company and led it forward with consummate skill and dashed under a hail of bullets. A concealed machine gun, however, continued to cause many casualties. Taking a rifle and bayonet, Tait dashed forward alone and killed the enemy gunner. Inspired by his example, his men rushed the position and captured twelve machine guns and twenty prisoners. His valorous action cleared the way for his battalion to advance. Later when the enemy counter attacked, under an intense bombardment, this gallant officer displayed outstanding courage and leadership, and though mortally wounded by shell fire continued to direct and aid his men until death overtook him. Lieut. John Brilant, M.C., late of a Quebec regiment, for conspicuous bravery and outstanding devotion to duty, when in charge of his company, which he led in an attack during two days with absolute fearlessness and extraordinary ability and initiative, the extent of the advance being twelve miles on the first day of the operation. Shortly after the attack had begun the left flank of his company was held up by an enemy machine gun. Brilant rushed and captured the machine gun, killing the two of the crew. He was wounded whilst doing this but refused to leave his comrades. Later on in the same way his company was held up by heavy machine gun fire and subsequently this gallant officer effected a field goal during open sight. He immediately ordered and led a rushing party to destroy the gun, but after progressing about 600 yards he was again seriously wounded. Nevertheless he continued and advanced about 200 yards more before he fell unconscious from exhaustion and loss of blood. Brilant's wonderful example throughout the day inspired the men with enthusiasm and dash, and contributed largely to the success of the operations. Sergt. Raphael Lewis Zengels, M.M., of a Saskatchewan Regiment, for most conspicuous bravery and devotion to duty when protecting his battalion's right flank he was leading his platoon gallantly to the attack, when he realized a gap had occurred on his flank, and that an enemy machine gun was firing at close quarters into the advancing line, grasping the situation he rushed forward, some 200 yards ahead of his platoon and tackled the machine gun emplacement, killing the officer and operator of the gun, and dispersing the crew by bombs. By this prompt action he undoubtedly saved the lives of many of his comrades. Later when the battalion was held up by heavy machine gun fire, he displayed much tactical skill and directed his fire with destructive results. Shortly afterwards he was rendered unconscious for a few minutes by an enemy shell, but on recovering consciousness immediately commenced to direct a harassing fire on the enemy. Zengels' gallant action was a most excellent example of personal safety and confidence in himself inspired all ranks, and he is greatly admired in bringing the attack to a successful end. Corporal Herman Jones Good, of a Quebec Regiment, for the most conspicuous bravery and leadership in attack, directing his companions which were held up by a heavy fire from machine guns, which seriously delayed the advance. Realizing the gravity of the situation, Good dashed forward alone, killing several of the garrison and capturing the remainder. Later, Good, while alone, encountered a battery of five point nine's which were in action, collecting three men of his section, he charged the battery under point blank fire and captured the entire crews of three guns, and despite his wounds this gallant no-commissioned officer continued with his platoon to the final objective, and only left the line when it had been made secure, and he had been ordered to do so. Pte. Alexander Brereton, of a Manitoba Regiment, for the most conspicuous bravery during an attack when a line of hostile machine guns opened fire suddenly on his platoon, which was in a exposed position with no cover available; this private appreciated his critical situation, and realized that if less something was done at once his platoon would be annihilated. On his own initiative, without a moment's delay and alone, he sprang forward, reached one hostile machine gun, shot the operator and bayoneted another who attempted to take his place. His action was a splendid example of resourcefulness and bravery, and not only undoubtedly saved the lives of many comrades, but also inspired his platoon to charge and capture the five remaining positions.

Frederick George Coppin, of a Manitoba regiment, for the most conspicuous bravery and devotion to duty, during an attack, his platoon came unexpectedly under the fire of numerous machine guns. It was impossible to advance or retire, and as cover was available, it became apparent that the platoon must soon be annihilated, unless the enemy machine guns were silenced. Immediately Coppin unhesitatingly on his own initiative, called on four men to follow him to the front. In the face of the intense machine gun fire, with his comrades he rushed straight for the machine guns. The four men with him were killed, and Coppin was wounded, but he reached the hostile machine guns alone, killed the operator of the first gun, and took four others prisoners. By this action the outstanding valor, was the means of saving the lives of many of his platoon and thus enabled the advance to continue. Pte. John Bernard Crook, late of a Quebec Regiment, for the most conspicuous actions in attack when having become separated from his section, he approached a machine gun nest, which he bombed

BRITISH CROSS HINDENBURG LINE.

BRITISH HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, Sept. 27. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—The enemy resistance is strong in some places, particularly east of Arrancourt, where there appears to be a considerable concentration of Germans. While the enemy seems to have withdrawn his guns in some places, he is firing with great intensity in both the Arrancourt area, and from behind Bourlon Wood. Some of the nine enemy divisions, that apparently are opposing the British, are made up of composite elements, but several of them are comparatively fresh in the line, and there are undoubtedly large forces in close reserve. The British are along a big stretch of the Hindenburg support line, and are already across the line in places. It is too early as yet, to talk of the probable loss of prisoners, but several reports already have come back, announcing considerable batches, and there seems reason to anticipate a satisfactory total.

THOMAS CONDEMS STRIKERS.

LONDON, To-day. J. H. Thomas, M.P., who yesterday tendered his resignation as a member of the National Executive of the National Union of Railway men, on account of differences with it over the railway strike, stated today what he made his decision because it was imperative to a believer in constitutional government in trade unionism. The people responsible for the recent and dangerous strike, he said, must be fought, otherwise the country would soon be in a state like Russia. His resignation meant a challenge to such methods.

THREW OUT HOSTILE RESOLUTION.

LONDON, To-day. The National Liberal Federation, which has just opened a convention in Manchester, adopted a resolution opposing the prosecution of the war until a just and lasting peace was assured, and urging the establishment of a League of Nations. The motion passed by a large majority, but it was defeated by an overwhelming majority, and its mover was constantly interrupted. The National Liberal Federation also unanimously passed a resolution supporting such constitutional reforms in India, as would secure the gradual development of self-governing institutions, with a view to the progressive realization of responsible government in India, as an integral part of the British Empire. It also took throughout the attack was enabled Dominions and India to exercise their due share in the control of the foreign policy of the Empire, and other matters of common concern to the whole British Commonwealth. Ex-Premier Asquith expressed strong disapproval of the Liberal Government, but he offered as a real clean peace effort. He opined the time had come when the best heads among the Allies, who could be spared from combatant and administration work, might assemble in conference to attack the practical sides of the problem of a League of Nations.

INTERMENT MUST CONTINUE.

LONDON, To-day. A despatch from Melbourne, Australia, says that the result of the judicial enquiry in the cases of seven Irishmen, arrested and interned on June 19th last, suspected of treason against the Federal Government, has decided that the interment must continue.

WILL NOT RETURN COLONIES.

LONDON, To-day. Speaking at a dinner to the Dominion Journalists, Rt. Hon. Walter Long, Colonial Secretary, said we did not enter the war for the purpose of dispossessing the colonies, but I am here to-night to say that if her colonies are returned to Germany, all the sacrifices of our heroes will have been in vain. Mr. Long continued, that the Germans would regard their late Pacific Islands and bases for airplanes, submarines and wireless plants. We want, he stated, after the war to make Germany understand that she must be peacefully progressive, before she can have any of her possessions back. Mr. Long also deprecated returning to a non-progressive Germany, her African colonies, from which as well as those in the Pacific she would be able to threaten the Empire trade routes. If Germany was again placed in a position to endanger trade and peace, there would always be a black shadow overhanging, not only the British Empire, but the whole world, and the British were obliged to pursue their colonial policy with a view to the thick of the fight only having ten days' furlough in that time. He was with the Canadians at Vimy Ridge, Messines, Passchendaele and the last big drive. Speaking of the recent fighting he says, "I would not have missed it for anything, as it was some sight to see, and a thing a fellow may never have a chance of witnessing again for quite a while." He is the second son of the family to win distinction on the battlefield, his brother, Capt. Jack Turner, having been awarded the M.C.

Recommended For M. M.

By the last English mail Mr. Geo. B. Turner, Deputy Minister of Agriculture and Mines, received an interesting letter from his son, Pte. Geo. Turner, of the Signal Section, 44th Canadian Battalion, conveying the pleasing intelligence that he was recommended for the Military Medal. Signaller Turner, who is one of four brothers to be on active service, has been in the front line for two years in the thickest of the fight only having ten days' furlough in that time. He was with the Canadians at Vimy Ridge, Messines, Passchendaele and the last big drive. Speaking of the recent fighting he says, "I would not have missed it for anything, as it was some sight to see, and a thing a fellow may never have a chance of witnessing again for quite a while." The Street Confusion.

We ask those of our readers who will be on Water Street to-night to take notice of the confusion that exists there when the street is crowded with people, and we also ask them to endeavor to imagine what would be the good result were a proper system enforced. All that is needed is for the Inspector General to give instructions to the policemen to direct people to keep either to the right or left of the sidewalk and then all the confusion will be eliminated and orderliness reign.
