Large Proportions of Missing Persons Finally are Found

NEW YORK, Dec. 3 (A. P.)-More and approximately 900 of them had not been located by December 31st. These figures were gathered by the National ciation of Travellers Aid Societies the number and types of persons who drop out of sight each year. Reports from 37 cities, the association said, gave a total of 31,638 men, women and children who disappeared, about 2,-500 of whom were not found.

Seeking for people who disappear is part of Travellers Aid service which protects inexperienced travellers from harm by giving advice and help at railroad stations and steamship piers, according to John R. Shillady, general irector of the national association.

"Travellers Aid workers in 160 cites helped more than 2,000,000 persons last year," he said, "saving thousands of girls from being lured off by designing individuals in crowded stations. The service helps all travellers, from mere information seek ers to those in dire emergency. Police reports show that in New York City 2,446 girls and women were reported missing in 1922, 1,652 of whom were girls under 21 years. Chicago recorded 1,549; Los Angeles 1,020; Philadelphia 1,006; St. Louis had 789; San Francisco 471 and Detroit 311. About 92 per cent, of the missing were finally located-dead or alive-but the records show that many had undergone experiences worse

Large as these figures are, they represent only about one-half of the actual number of those who actually dropped out of sight at some time during the year, in the opinion of Captain John H. Ayers, Chief of the Bureau of Missing Persons, New

"People often fall to report disappearing members of their family to us because they mistakenly fear we will bring publicity upon them, when that is the last thing we want to do said Captain Avers in a statement to the National Association. "Many also drop out of sight who have no one sufficiently interested to make a report. ### The Sky's Galleons

Every Cloud Has Its Weather.

When we find nothing of particular moment to hold our attention in our earthly surroundings, a glance heavenwards may be rewarded by the pageantry of the sky-proud cloud galleons sailing along, or clouds that are like racing greyhounds, like sheep, fish, swans, fighting bears, mermaids, or angels in flowing raiment. In a street the clouds may be the only visible bit of Nature to set the fancy roaming, and conjure visions of what fine countries, what woods, meadows streams, and hills we should see if sailing in the sky's galleons. To know something of cloud-lore is to wonder why other people take the clouds so much for granted that they do not even know their names,

Cloud Names. There is a theory that if you mark the clouds one day, mark also the way of the wind and the state of the barometer and the kind of weather bred by these conditions, that weather will follow when next the same clouds gather in the same way. To have a nodding acquaintance with the clouds is as pleasant as to be able to greet birds by their names,
