Market active and fully $5 per head higher at the opening of the week, and Satur-day values were well sustained. The hidding was active and a good clearance was made. Good to choice drivers and actors sold well up, and with German and French buyers in the market all the offerings of desirable horses were sold. Good drafts brought $125 @ $170, and fair ones $80 @ $100. Drivers all sold at $100 @ $125, up to $160 @ $165 at private sale.

On 'Charge. Special to C. E. Turner, broker, Masonic Temple, from Kennett, Hopkins Company. Provisions sick. Cudahy covered short pork, and held that from breaking badly, but lard and ribs don't seem to be wanted. The Herald estimates the total wheat crop at 373,000,000 bushels on Government report. The market seems to have bullied wheat as much as its ability without better assistance from Europe. The trade threatens to weaken materially on account of the spring wheat crop, the movement of which promises to be a large as transportation facilities can supply.

Visible—Wheat, 37,839,000; corn, 4,-613,000; oats, 3,925,000; rye, 254,000; barley, 44,000. English visible increased 1,-

John Inglis has been in the country most of the time for the past three months, returning yesterday from the Northwest. From what he says, there is no doubt the spring wheat crop is the largest ever harvested. He says Manitoba will have 30,000,000 bushels for export. He believes the yield of corn prenomenal, and that it will be nearer 3,000,000,000 than 2,500,000,000. He says oats, barley and potatoes are all immense. This mean low prices for breadstuffs and high prices for stocks.

of Hodgins & Pay was started in Clinton. John Hodgins succeeded to the business in February, 1879, and continued until his death in January, 1883, leaving a valuable estate. His brother and brother-in-law were then appointed executors, and they secured the services of a practical man to take charge of the business. Later on the management passed into the hands of the two sons of the deceased. This has evidently proved disastrous to creditors, as their statement shows that they owe $44,000. They have stock amounting to $25,000; this has been purchased by the Hodgins Bros. at 40 per cent discount.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

-Advertising is to business what rain is to grass, keeps it alive and growing. -A number of Brantford people are in the city today. This is Brantford's Civic Holiday. -Rev. W. J. Clark, city, conducted the Y. M. C. A. Bible class in Montreal vesterday afternoon. -Bishop O'Connor yesterday morning blessed the cross in the new Catholic Church at Tilbury.

-An ad. in the newspaper will get in its good work when it's too stormy for your drummer to travel. -The condition of Mr. Fred Kingston, son of City Clerk Kingston, who lies ill of typhoid in Buffalo, was slightly improved on Saturday. -Ald. R. Carrothers, of London, representing the Brewers' and Distillers' Association, addressed the executive of the License Holders' Protective Association, Eigin and St. Thomas, on Saturday.

-The autumn course of training at the Royal School of Cavalry, Toronto, commences on Sept. 1. Corp. Haylock and several men of "A" Troop, First Hussars, have applied for entrance to qualify for promotion.

-As the quarterly board of the Florence circuit kindly granted Rev. J. E. Holmes a holiday, his father, Rev. E. Holmes, of this city, preached yesterday (Sunday) at three of the appointments on the above-named circuit.

-Work was commenced on the London Electric Railway power house on Saturday morning. About fifteen men are employed making the excavations. Contracts for the building have not yet been awarded.

-Messrs. Poulton, Lucas and Archie Nicholson, three East End disciples of Ike Walton, drove to Komoka on Satturday afternoon and had a quiet afternoon's fishing. They enjoyed themselves immensely and had great sport.

-The Board of Education holds a special meeting tonight to adopt the report of No. 1 committee in regard to changes on the staff and to consider No. 2 committee's recommendations in regard to the repairs needed at the Colborne street school.

-Mr. A. J. Terryberry, a University student, preached twice at the Askin Street Church yesterday, and Mr. Buchanan did similar duty for the Knox Church congregations, which worshipped in the school room, pending the alterations in the church. -Mrs. Francis Graham, when returning from church yesterday morning, was thrown on her face by a loose plank in the sidewalk, receiving injuries from which she is suffering. A acctor was called in. She will be confined to her bed for some time at her residence, 920 Queen's avenue. -Notwithstanding the rain yesterday afternoon a large-sized congregation assembled in St. Andrew's Church to hear Rev. J. L. Murray, D.D., of Kincardine, preach a Gaelic sermon. Mr. Murray's effort was deservedly appreclated by the descendants of the Gael.

-The builders' pionic this year assumed the proportions of one of the national picnics. This was no doubt due to the increasing popularity of the picnic and to the unusually fine weather. The day at Port was pleasantly spent in the usual manner and the large crowd returned safe and sound and without mishap. -Mrs. Thomas Palmer, wife of a G. T.

R. employe, died very unexpectedly at 5:30 this morning. The family lives at 77 Maitland street and Mrs. Palmer complained during the night of feeling unwell. This morning she was in pain and awoke her husband, but the end came before he could summon aid. There is no family.

-A camping party left this morning for Grand Bend, consisting of Percy Gardner, New York city; Frank Mil lar, Ray Cameron, Charles Bartlett and Clifford Reason, of this city. They go fully provisioned for a week's siege, and Mr. Gardner acts as "chef" and general chaperone of the party.

-The funeral of the late Lawrence Lawless took place yesterday afternoon to Woodland. The cortege left the restdence of deceased's mother-in-law, Mrs. P. Bartlett, Dundas street, London West, at 4 o'clock. Although the day was wet there was a large turnout of members and friends. The funeral was conducted by the Ancient Order of -The campers at Port Stanley had a "shirt tail" parade Friday night. They serenaded the summer residents. It is understood an information will be laid against the participants. There were about 25 or 30 young men in the party. They went around to all the campers and made them join in the procession. It is said they went into flelds pulling up corn, taking apples, etc.—St. Thomas

-"Duke" and "Prince" were a pair of well matched, beautiful cocker spaniels, owned by the sons of R. D. Millar, corner of Dufferin avenue and William street. "Duke" was poisoned about 9 o'clock on Saturday evening by some person (unknown at present). The dogs were a familiar object to passers by, and few could pass without a friendly recognition or a pat on the head of the kindly and affectionate animals. This is the fourth valuable dog which has recently been poisoned in the above neighborhood.

-The funeral of the late Malcolm Grieves, who died from the effects of an accident at Wortman & Ward's, took place from his father's residence on Wellington street on Saturday afterneon. The large attendance at the funeral testified plainly to the esteem in which the young man was held. Services were conducted by Rev. Canon Smith and Rev. W. H. Moorhouse. The interment was at Woodland, and the pall-bearers were all young men, friends of deceased, and interested with him in church work. They were Will Burney, Mat. Brown. John Partridge, Tracey O'Brien, Clifford McDonald and Will Winder.

NO LONGER AN ORDEAL. A Topeka, Kan., humorist remarks that a high-spirited Kansan would rather saw a cord of hickory wood on a wobbly saw-buck, and without bacon, than go shopping with heaven's last, best gift to man. If this be the feeling in Kansas, shopping in the cities of that State must be a different function from shopping in Philadelphia, where men are not a rarity in any of the drygoods stores, and where it is not uncommon for the betrothed to hunt in couples for their pots and pans. It was not so until advertising broke down the sex line in the stores and made them

Did Larry Lawless Tell Anybody of His Intentions?

A Mysterious Card and What Followed-Said to be Able to Explain the Mystery.

Today's mail brought to the "Advertiser" the following card: "London, Aug. 12, 1895. "Mr. Editor: There is only one man in London who can give the full particulars relative to the suicide of the late Larry Lawless, and that man is the barber who has done ting and shaving for the last sixteen months. Whether he will tell or not is the question. (Signed) R. S. B. Acting on the hint, the "Advertiser" looked up the barber. The reporter found him in the City Hotel, but it would have required the cross-examining qualities of B. B. Osler, or Coroner Flock, to have elicited any information. He did not even want his name mentioned, but admitted that Mr. Lawless had confided much to him in confidence that he did not feel justified in repeating, dead or alive. Further than that he would not, as he felt just as much bound in Mr. Lawless' confidence as if he were yet alive. The inquest will be held tonight at the

From Halifax. And the Weman Has a Baby on the Way-

Seventeen Months on the Journey.

By far the best street plano that has struck this town for some time arrived today. It belongs to an Italian named Pietro, who has an English wife, a London, England, girl, whose maiden name was Dixon. The piano is drawn in a low-wheeled wagon by a healthy-looking horse. Before the wheels traversed Canadian soil they were wont to rattle over the stone pave-ments of the English metropolis. Then Pietro took a desire to emigrate, and they traveled from city to town, and from town to village, walking all the way, and camping at night by the roadside, until Liverpool was reached. They took passage to Halifax, where they ar rived seventeen months ago. The two immediately set out for a tramp across the continent, and six months ago reached Montreal. A baby boy was born to them there, and he now rests contentedly in a basket in front of the piano, sider a cage of birds that tell fortunes. No other baby lives in the midst of so much eternal music, and at the early age of six months it has acquired a discerning ear. At least it began to whimper as its daddy began to grind out "After the Ball," with variations, and its mother had to hold it until "When Other Lips," etc., began to roll forth.

From Montreal the two walked to Toronto, and from Toronto here. Mrs. Pietro says they will spend the winter in London. The distance by rail from Halifax to London is nearly 1,300 miles. Tramping from place to place and around towns and cities, it is hard to compute just how far these strolling musicians have
