Special to The Advertiser. Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 8.—Organization of a dominion-wide association to secure a political independ-ence for Canada has been launched here by a group of prominent professional and business men, representing varied phases of public opinion and The movement has been under way The movement has been under way for several weeks and a number of private preliminary conferences were held prior to the general organization meeting held recently at which definition of the aims and objects of the association were agreed on.

There in says:

"The romance and excitement has been taken out of newspaper work abroad. A correspondent's position has reached a point where it is largely a matter of routine. He stays of the association were agreed on.

These include:

SEES NO INDICATION OF EUROPEAN WAR

Hal O'Flaherty Finds Progress in All Countries of Old World.

One of The London Advertiser's best known foreign correspondents is Hal O'Flaherty, who writes for The Advertiser and the Chicago Daily News. #### By PHILIP SCHUYLER. Europe is progressing on pacific

Thus, in figurative language, Hal O'Flaherty, European manager of the Chicago Daily News foreign service, this week described his view of the current continental situation. In an interview in New York, prior to returning to his London post after a leave of absence in this country. he discounted lingo news despatches from the European capitals; made light of the so-called communist. menace and expressed his opinion that commercial progress towards prosperity was the present dominant tone in countries across the sea. European nations are not now walking with the war chip on their shoulders, was the impression O'Flaherty gave. Military prepara-tions described in news despatches are defensive and no more aggressive than the summer training camps "There is no cause for fearing that Europe is heading towards a new war," O'Flaherty said. "True, France is building mam moth aerodromes and improving for-tifications along the northern boundary. On the face of it, this fact looks threatening. It could be interpreted as preparation for another war. No Fear of War, France, however, feels it is perfectly normal procedure to build these aerodromes. The French gov-ernment is seeking to assist the evolution of commercial aviation, just as is the United States government, "The British take the same view point. Statesmen, to my knowledge, have not expressed themselves as particularly frightened by such normal development of air forces,

"Of course the view is poss:

development is merely a cloak hiding militaristic preparations for future wars, but, in my belief, it is an opinion prone to over-emphasis. "As a matter of fact, all Europe, but particularly Great Britain, wants trade more than anything else. The

has been to get behind old world news, interpret it, explain it, and give t historical and personal ba for American and Canadian con-sumption.
