Rev. E. E. Daley Delivers a Powerful Sermon on State.

is the duty of every citizen to seek to elevate the moral character of his people. This is after all what everything exists for, as Humboldt has said governments, religion, school books, are nothing but the scaffold to build the man, and when you have him you will have something that will give prosperity and permanence to the state, possessed as we are with the ballot for the proper use of which power we are responsible to God.

Now if it is true, and true it is as history has revealed it, then the institutions that are laboring for the moral and religious life of the people are among the true bulwarks of the state. The words of Andrew Jackson as he lay on his death bed were wise words. Pointing to the old family bible he said "that book is the rock on which our republic rests." Said that commercial magazine, the Wall street journal in an editorial recently "What America needs more than railway extension and western irrigation and a low tariff and a merchant marine and a large navy, is the revival of piety. The kind mother and father used to have that counted it good business to stop work for family prayers, and to attend the midweek prayer meeting. That says the editor, is the thing that we need now to clean this country of the filth of graft and of greed petty and big and the worst of fine houses and lands. And he was right, for there is nothing that will protect a country from these present day evils as the strengthening the stakes and lengthening the cords of religion. What is true of the seat by republic is true of Canada. Her safety is in her churches, in her bible, in her Sunday school, in her Sabbath, for these are the promoters of the spirit that can alone make any country great. If you wish to discharge your duty to your country, to build it up, to make it strong, then stand by, and for these institutions that are pouring red blood into the national veins, for as Wendell Phillips once said, "Though you build your capital as granite and pile it high as the Rocky mountains, if it is founded on or mixed up in iniquity the pulse of a girl in time will beat it down." Let every man count himself a defiler, a custodian of his country's interests, and let him know that since he occupies this position he is responsible for the way he uses the power that the Almighty has placed in his hand. Said a great American War Secretary, "I believe that the government is founded by God, and for my part, I will stand before Him in judgment." So should we all of us, feel about the strife. There cannot be anything greater done for this country than to keep it in connection with God, and such as do, are the true statesmen and the real patriots. But one other thought we have thought of the citizen as a debtor and a custodian. Let us think of him as a cancer. He can be well many are. You may find them among the professional politicians. You may meet them among the henchmen. They are the people whose aim is to feed off the state without giving it an adequate return. The man who counts votes as so much coin with which he may purchase what he wants. The type was well illustrated by a man who said to another, "Tom, you are a fool I don't care for the people, I don't care for the party, I only care for my self." There are such national blood-suckers. There are not a few of them. There is a tremendous temptation to day as you listen to men advocating their parties to think, "Well what are you after now? It may be a mean thought I try not to have it but to such a degree has the spoil system permeated our national life that one can hardly resist it. Men of this stamp are found in both camps. There is as far as I can see no difference. Such men are national cancers, public enemies. The citizen is a cancer in the state who corrupts his fellow men, while he means the man, he demoralizes himself. He furnishes him with an opportunity to sin as certainly as the saloon keeper. Such a man salves his conscience with the idea the end is good. The others do it. I'll fight fire with fire. That is they go into partnership with the devil for the sake of the dividends. Such men have sometimes the brass to say that they cannot see any harm in helping a man to break the laws of his country and become a criminal. The man that talks that way had better be ashamed of it lest people think him on the same plane as the Fiji Islander, lest people begin to enquire where he was brought up and whether he has moral strength "as a grain of mustard seed. Then the man who is bought in a cancer in the life of his country. Some people say what is the harm. That man has no opinion. They seem to see that if he has an opinion that he ought not trade it for the dollar, but they say he has no opinion. Then why should he be paid to lie. Every time a man puts a vote in the ballot box he declares that he has an opinion. What would you think of the man who goes into a courthouse and for a five dollar bill or for a hundred dollar bill, says that he knows that A or B is an innocent man when he does not know it, that he is a guilty man or a bad man when he does not know it, when a man who has a vote and yet has no opinion says that a certain party is bad when he does not know it is good. That man is in plain English, simply lying. The man who has no opinion has no right to vote. The venal vote has become a serious evil in our day. A few years ago a man who stood high in the public life of the Dominion said in speaking of a certain county that when he entered public life there were hardly seven men in the county that could be bought. Now he said there were hardly seven that cannot. What does this condition mean? It means that it is a menace to the clean lives of our public men. They must have money. If men give it why do they give? In nine cases out of ten in some way they may be reelected when the day comes that they can be. That means danger, it means graft. The venal ballot is a disease at the heart of the country. There is no point in the national life more sacred. There is no place so full of death if its sacredness be ignored. There is another man who is a national cancer refer to the rabid partisan. You find them in both parties. He is the man who will vote the regular ticket, if Belcher be the nominee. The franchise in the hands of such a man is like a jewel in a sewer. The proper place for the voters of any country to occupy is that which is near the fence where they can jump either way. Men sometimes think it to be made to feel that they can only depend upon the indifference of their fellows as their path is clean and not le and good. Then there is another man who may be said to be a cancer in the state. It is the man who is a squire therein. The man who treats the whole state life with indifference. He is apt to be found among men of good position, the so-called best citizen. They regard, oftentimes, the ballot as an insignificant thing and state that in the state of Massachusetts responsibilities are despised. I have read there are one hundred and fifty thousand dumb votes, Jacob Riis tells us that when the Tammany frigate was on the city of New York, that when crossing the ferry he happened to mention the fact that it was election day. One man said I did not know it was election day. Another said they didn't send any carriage for me. A third said I have more important business to attend to. Tammany, he said, was hauling its voters by the heels all day and came into power, and he said we swore at them for three years, but he said, we swore at the wrong men. It wasn't these men, it was the man who was too busy, who didn't know, who had no carriage sent for him, and he said further, the man who will not turn aside to vote is only one stage removed from the criminal and ought to be drummed out of good citizenship to the tune of the rogues march. And yet that is one of the great troubles in civic and national life. It has been the curse of the great American cities and its influence can be felt

I have no doubt, in Canada. The late Dr. Dale, one of the eminent preachers of England, said in the United States the rogues do public work in order to make money and the honest men neglect it in order to save money and judged by the standard of morality there is not much choice between the two. When Jacques Cartier landed on the shores of this country he set up a cross, significant action indicative of the countries need. Christ's cross is Canada's greatest need, the surest guarantee of her present and future prosperity. The Dominion of Jesus in our Dominion is national prosperity. There is no policy that promises so much for our great land as the policy of making Jesus, Lord That can only be done by the individual citizen individually accept Christ. Under his banner we shall conquer and so I urge on Him on you as the highest qualification for citizenship in time and eternity, for if the maple leaf be twined around the cross that mighty symbol of righteousness and sacrifice, our country will be able to be truly great, permanently prosperous, and to the glory of God.

A tickling cough from any cause is quickly stopped by Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. And it is so harmless and safe, that Dr. Shoop tells brothers every where to give it without hesitation, even to very young babes. The wholesome green leaves and tender stems of a lung-healing mountainous shrub, furnish the curative properties to Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. It calms the cough, and heals the membranes. No opium, no chloroform, nothing harsh used to injure or suppress. Simply a resinous plant extract that helps to heal aching lungs. The Spaniards call this shrub which the Doctor uses, "The Sacred Herb." Always demand Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. For sale by W. A. Warren, Bridgetown, and Bear River Drug Store.
