

six months," and the township is "free from the curse of groggery." "Roseway is in good working order, and still adding to its number and is a "terror to those engaged in the traffic."

Yarmouth County.—No report.

Digby County.—Deputy Stewart reports Union Division "steadily increasing." It has recently been joined by a number of young men from the best families in the place. Deputy Nicholl regrets he can give a more encouraging account of Royal Division, but is hoping for improvement.

Annapolis County.—Rev. Dr. Robertson reports the cause in this county in a much more prosperous state than last year. Cunningham Division is in a "flourishing condition." "Olive Branch keeps increasing but has much to contend with." Margaretville "is doing well." Emblem is "flourishing and admirably attended. They have many lectures which may embrace any useful subject." Victoria Mission prospering—has "seventy-three members and thirty lady visitors." Nelson "has not been resuscitated more than nine months, and is doing wonders." Tremont is not flourishing as could be wished. Williston has been in much the same state, but now exhibits "some signs of life."

King's County.—Rev. Dr. Cramp states that the cause in this county is rather looking up than otherwise. Wolfville Division "going on steadily, having now a 'local habitation' as well as a 'name.'" Invincible "holds on. Though its numbers have not increased, its influence is felt." Emblem is in "good working order." Deputy Vanbuskirk writes, "We have much to contend with. Fortyteen hundred gallons of poison have been landed at our only shipping place within the last three months, besides what is brought in by horse carriage." The divisions under the care of Deputy Marsters are doing well."

Hants County.—Rev. J. Cameron writes rather despondingly of the divisions in his county, Kellogg and Vesper divisions are "working, but many are wearied." Rechab has rallied. Avon Division was almost gone, but the lectures of the County Deputy and Rev. Dr. Cramp, lent a helping hand, infused new life, and the division is now "in a fair way of doing well."

Colchester County.—Rev. J. McMurray writes that "the cause of temperance in Colchester is evidently gaining ground. Most of the divisions are making encouraging progress. Truro Division is exhibiting at the present time more indications of healthy vigour than for three or four years past. Iron Age and Miner's Hope divisions are doing well."
