

indefatigable industry and untiring zeal in the discharge of the duties of his Chair. They owe him, also, a debt of gratitude and thanks for his solicitous care and skilful management of the affairs of the Faculty during his occupancy for three years of the office of Dean, the notable progress of the Faculty during which period he may perhaps regard as a satisfactory reward for his labor of love. While Dr. Uzziel Ogden's immediate connection with this University was through the Chair of Gynecology, yet in view of the fact that a majority of his recent colleagues had been in the past students of his in the Departments of Midwifery and Materia Medica and Therapeutics, it is not inappropriate in testimony of his versatility and attainments to make mention here of his well recognized success as a lecturer and teacher in these branches also. To impart many of the facts and theories of medical science to successive generations of students for half a century, and to impress upon them the indelible, though unconscious, stamp of high example in life and character is an opportunity for usefulness and a sphere of influence vouchsafed to few, and in saying 'farewell' to Professor Uzziel Ogden his colleagues in the Faculty of Medicine in the University of Toronto extend to him their heartiest congratulations upon the attainment of his Jubilee, their sincere appreciation of his faithful service, their kind remembrance of his comradeship and leadership, their deep sense of his high example, and their earnest hope that his great improvement in health may long continue, so that his days of the lengthening shadows may be passed in well earned rest, peacefulness and happiness.

"The Faculty also ventures to record the hope that the Senate and the Governor-in-Council may be graciously pleased, in acknowledgment of his long, arduous and faithful service, to call Professor Uzziel Ogden to the otium cum dignitate of the Emeritus Professorship."
