

New Bridge Erected in Arkhangelsk

Twenty trucks loaded with sand drove in a tight column onto the half-kilometer-long bridge erected over the right arm of the Northern Dvina River. Tests of the strength of the new bridge, which spans the river in this large northern city, Arkhangelsk, have been successfully completed. The city is now linked up with Krasnoflotskii Island.

Sotsialistichesky
Industriya

10 November 1988

Page 1 (Full text)