| nature and is called by the Synagogue "the celestical II."—whilst the other is called "the terrestrial H." | Γα | ge. |
|---|---|------|
| b. The Name of Jehovah intimates the mystery of the Trinity by virtue of the divine meaning attached to the number of the Hebrew letters in the Tetragrammaton | nature and is called by the Synagogue "the celestial II."- whilst | |
| b. The Name of Jehovah intimates the mystery of the Trinity by virtue of the divine meaning attached to the number of the Hebrew letters in the Tetragrammaton | the other is called "the terrestrial H." | 70 |
| in the Tetragrammaton | A. The Name of Ishovah intimates the mystery of the Trinity by virtue | |
| In the Tetragrammaton | of the divine meaning attached to the number of the Hebrew letters | |
| "The Four Keys" that unlock the door of the Divine Mystery | in the Tetragrammaton | - |
| of the divine meaning attached to the order of the Hebrew letters in the Tetragrammaton, to wit: J H V H — Jehovah | "The Four Keys" that unlock the door of the Divine Mystery | 71 |
| in the Tetragrammaton, to wit: J H V H — Jehovah | e: The Name of Jehovah intimates the mystery of the Trinity by virtue | |
| d: The Name of Jehovah intimates the mystery of the Trinity by virtue of the divine meaning attached to the form of the four Hebrew letters in the Tetragrammaton | of the divine meaning attached to the order of the Hebrew letters | |
| of the divine meaning attached to the form of the four Hebrew letters in the Tetragrammaton | in the Tetragrammaton, to wit: JHVH - Jehovah | 71 |
| e: The Name of Jehovah intimates the mystery of the Trinity by virtue of the divine meaning attached to the class or nature of the Hebrew letters Aleph, Yod, Heh, Vau: which symbolize both the Divine, or Invisible, and the Human, or visible, nature in God Incarnate | d: The Name of Jehovah intimates the mystery of the frinty by virtue | |
| e: The Name of Jehovah intimates the mystery of the Trinity by virtue of the divine meaning attached to the class or nature of the Hebrew letters Aleph, Yod, Heh, Vau: which symbolize both the Divine, or Invisible, and the Humen, or visible, nature in God Incarnate | of the divine meaning attached to the jorn of the lour received | 91 |
| of the divine meaning attached to the class or nature of the Hebrew letters Aleph, Yod, Heh, Vau: which symbolize both the Divine, or Invisible, and the Human, or visible, nature in God Incarnate | letters in the Tetragrammaton of the Trinity by virtue | • |
| letters Aleph, Yod, Heh, Vau: which symbolize both the Divine, or Invisible, and the Humen, or visible, nature in God Incarnate | e: The Name of Jenovan intimates the mystery of the Francisco of the Hebrew | |
| Invisible, and the Humen, or visible, nature in God Incarnate | of the divine meaning attached to the symbolize both the Divine, or | |
| The letter "Vau" as a unitive particle beautifully represents the Third Divine Person | tavisible and the Human or visible, nature in God Incarnate | 72 |
| Divine Person | The letter "Vau" as a unitive particle beautifully represents the Third | |
| The form or wording of the sacerdotal blessing in the Synagogue Intimated the mystery of the Blessed Trinity | Divine Person | 72 |
| timated the mystery of the Blessed Trinity | The form or wording of the sacerdotal blessing in the Synagogue In- | |
| The thumb and fingers of the right hand of the priest in the act of blessing the people were so arranged as to indicate the number Three and form a Triune figure with the hand | timated the mystery of the Blessed Trinity | 72 |
| ing the people were so arranged as to indicate the number Three and form a Triune figure with the hand | The thumb and fingers of the right hand of the priest in the act of bless- | |
| Absolute equality of the three Divine Persons: the Name of Jehovah belongs to each | ing the people were so arranged as to indicate the number Three | |
| B. The Synagogue and the Dogmatic Basis of the Church, namely, the Incarnation | and form a Triune figure with the hand | 73 |
| B. The Synagogue and the Dogmatic Basis of the Church, namely, the Incarnation | Absolute equality of the three Divine Persons: the Name of Jenovan | |
| The Synagogue and the Dogmatic Basis of the Church, namely, the Incarnation | belongs to each | |
| The Synagogue and the Dogmatic Basis of the Church, namely, the Incarnation | List of Trinitarian texts indorsed by the old Synagogue | /3 |
| The Synagogue and the Dogmatic Basis of the Church, namely, the Incarnation | | |
| The Synagogue and the Dogmatic Basis of the Church, namely, the Incarnation | R | |
| I. The testimony of S. Jerome regarded by the Jews of his day as trustworthy and unimpeachable | | |
| I. The testimony of S. Jerome regarded by the Jews of his day as trustworthy and unimpeachable | my C and the Dogmatic Basis of the | |
| The testimony of S. Jerome regarded by the Jews of his day as trustworthy and unimpeachable | The Synagogue and the Dogmatic Dasis of the | 74 |
| The testimony of S. Jerome regarded by the Jews of his day as trust- worthy and unimpeachable | Church, namely, the incarnation | 14 |
| The testimony of S. Jerome regarded by the Jews of his day as trust- worthy and unimpeachable | | |
| Worthy and unimpeachable | ** | |
| Worthy and unimpeachable | The testimony of S. Jerome regarded by the Jews of his day as trust | |
| Up to the time of S. Jerome, Jews and Christians were agreed as to the nature and personality and other characteristics of Messiah and differed exclusively about the date of his coming | worthy and unimpeachable | . 74 |
| nature and personality and other characteristics of Messian and differed exclusively about the date of his coming | He to the time of S. Ierome, Jews and Christians were agreed as to the | |
| According to the Talmud and other Jewish authorities, the advent of Messlah must have occurred long ago | nature and personality and other characteristics of Messian and | 3 |
| Messlah must have occurred long ago | differed exclusively about the date of his coming | - 74 |
| Maimonides testimony to the same effect | According to the Talmud and other Jewish authorities, the advent of | |
| According to the Talmud of Jerusalem, Messiah was already born at the time of the ruin of the second temple of Jerusalem | Messlah must have occurred long ago | - 74 |
| time of the ruin of the second temple of Jerusalem | Maimonides testimony to the same effect | 74 |
| The witness of Mosche Hadderschan and of Jonathan-ben-Uzziel | According to the Talmud of Jerusalem, Messian was already born at the | 74 |
| The advent of Christ corresponds exactly with the epoch predicted by the | time of the ruin of the second temple of Jerusalem | 78 |
| hely natriarch Jacob : the witness of the Talmud, of Rabbi Rachmou, | The witness of Mosche Maggersenan and or jonatham-ben-bezeith in | . 73 |
| HOLE DELLISTED : THE MITHEST OF THE WILLIAM . | The advent of Christ corresponds exactly with the epoch predicts by | 1, |
| of the learned Israelite, M. Dérembourg 75 | of the learned Israelite. M. Dérembourg | 75 |