properly to

JARVIS.

ut. 1845.

o say that in stion than in of time after e particular ave already ated by any I owed my a any way

ITCHIE.

wet 1845. rou will not against me,

JARVIS.

ust, 1845.

ie on Tuescontaining tween us on man, which swer I gave

JARVIS.

letter from this letter if receiving it. and myself?

you decline friend.

Mr. R.-I do. And for this reason : When I received Mr. Jarvis' first letter, I consulted three members of high standing in the profession, and by their advice seat the answer I did. On receiving Mr. Jarvis' second letter I consulted the Solicitor General, and his opinion was that my first letter was sufficient, and that I and his opinion was that my first letter was sufficient, and that I ought not to take any further notice of the matter. That it would be opening a door to endless discussions and quarrels, hamper the profession in the faithful discharge of their duty, and be an injury to the profession, and that should a hostile measure be sent it was a duty I owed myself and the profession to decline accepting it. That it was by his (the Solicitor General's) advice I sent my second reply, and as I do not consider Mr. Jarvis after receiving my first letter justified in writing his second, and further having determined to act under the advice of the Solicitor General, I decline any further explanation in the matter. The Solicitor General also advised me that after the space of five months Mr. Jarvis was not justified in en-tering into the matter, and that on that ground also I should decline.

G. M. J .- Mr. Ritchie, Mr. Jarvis gave you his reasons for this delay. Mr. R.—He did, but they are not estimatory. G. M. J.—Mr. Ritchie, will you answer me this question ? " Do you consider Mr. Jarvis incapable under any circumstances

⁴⁴ Do you consider Mr. Jarvis incipable under any circumstances of giving false testimony i^{2m} Mr. R. - I decline answering any thing that refers to Mr.Jarvis in the matter, but any thing you may wish to say to me Ishall be happy to meet and converts with you at any time as regardsyourself personally.G. M. J. - Mr. Ritchie, this answer is not satisfactory.Mr. R. - I am sorry for it, but I cannot help it. I have madeup my mind to follow the advise of my friends, and am prepared tostand the consequences.

EDWARD L. JARVIS.

G. MURRAY JARVIS.

21st August, 1845.

I have only to add to the foregoing, that on meeting Mr. RITCHIE on Saturday in company with several Gentlemen, I addressed him as is customary after these unsatisfactory events.

Monday, 95th August, 1845.