Professor Crocker and his educated horses, ponies, donkeys and mules, attracted audience to the Operahouse last evening and, judging by the applause which greeted every number on the programme, the entertainment was heartly enjoyed.

The animals are unusually intelligent and obey every order of their instructor. The animated pictures which are shown at intervals, are excellent. This afternoon a matinee is being given at 2.39 and a performance every evening this week.

RARE OLD BOOK FOUND

S. L. Gorbell discovered an antique book in the old Chipman house last night, presumably at one time the property of the late Judge Chipman. The book was found when Mr. Gorbell was going over some rubbish in the attic, and is a thin folio of seventy-five pages. On the title page appears the following, which shows the manuscript to be evidently a number of the law library kept by Judge Chipman: "Notes, Relative to the Practice in the Supreme Court of New Jersey, and of the Determination of the Court as far as etermination of the Court as far as pears from the Docquets in the Western Office."

The handwriting in the book is a bold half text, and although slightly faded is yet quite legible. The arrangement is by column, and over each of the latter is a heading printed either in Old English or plain Roman characters. At the end of the book is an exhaustive index. The book is particularly well preserved.

FARMERS' MEETINGS

The Farmers' MEETINGS

The Farmers' Institute meetings, which are being held in various places in the province, and which are being addressed in the French sections by A. T. Charron, of the Central Experimental Farm staff, are being largely attended and considerable interest is being manifested by the farmers. T. A. Peters, deputy commissioner of agriculture, was in the city yesterday on his return from Fox Creek, Westmorland county, where he has been attending one of these meetings.

The meeting at Fox Creek was addressed by Mr. Peters in English, and by Dairy Superintendent Daigle in French. Mr. Daigle has spoken at several of the meetings where Mr. Charron has appeared as the principal speaker.

Railway Commission opened a special sting today to clear up a number of urge:
cases before the board sets out on its intered trip to the Pacific coast. The Canadia pacific railway, through Mr. Drinkwate asked for an opportunity at an early dat to state reasons why the board should not approve the location plans of the Grant Trunk Pacific, for its proposed line west of Portage la Prairie. The C. P. R. contention is that the new road as planned will parallel its line for 250 miles which they say it a direct violation of the wishes of parliament. A date will be fixed between the counsel for the respective companies for an early hearing.
