Cheney was so dazed that he stood there dallying with his hat while his teaminates yelled at him to go to first. "Take your base; I didn't see you strike," shouted Moran and several of ack Johnson, heavyweight champion of the world, who will box three Jones, rushed out and literally shoved Cheney towards first. They were so excited trying to get him started that they did not notice where the ball was. Atz signaled for the catcher to throw down to him during the uproar, and he to continue the game. Nobody had no-ticed the litle side play between the catcher and Atz. Suddenly Atz yelled out, "Hey, get that ball," waving at the catcher, and the latter rushed back to reach the stord est the head for towards the stand as tho he had forgotten to get it during the excitement. Cheney, noticing this and spurred on by his coacher, dashed down for second at a frantic pace. The catcher stumbled around as if he could not find the ball, and everybody was yelling wildly. Suddenly Atz walked out in the path of the runner, waited for him and taking the ball from under his arm, slapped him with it and said politely, "You are out. Mr. Cheney. That makes twice." It was a dejected crowd, that bunch of White Sox after the game and Mr. Cheney was the most dispirited of the crowd.

President Murphy heard of the incident and related it last season at New York to a number of his ball players and some of the Chicago newspaper men. Johnny Evers was one of the number. He grinned and merely said, "Gee, I'll remember that." He worked on the Giants the very next day, demonstrating afresh his absolute keenness in the game.

Worked It on Bill O'Hara.

The Cubs were in the field and Doyle smashed out a clean single. He had a badly turned ankle and limped down to first. Immediately there was confu-sion. Every Giant on the bench was interested in who should run for Doyle and Manager McGraw's attention was also directed on that proposition. No-body noticed the ball and seeing this, Evers signaled to Sheckard to toss the sphere to him. This Sheckard did, after quietly picking it up, and Evers also slipped it under his arm.

Finally O'Hara was selected to run for Doyle, this brilliant Irish player being the fastest Giant on the bases. Things settled down again and the game continued. Pitcher Reulhach, who was in the box, started back to N. B. Colcock, Ontario Government agent in London, left Friday night for the box, while O'Hara was making all serts of funny motions around first. He never thought of watching Evers, Ottawa, to visit relatives. He will sail who stood half way between first and second. He kept his whole attention on Reulbach and was completely par-alized when Chance suddenly dashed pected that a large emigration of tgri-
