Report of Session.

It is again with gratitude to God, that we present the Annual Report for the year 1899 and rejoice at the continued prosperity of the congregation in all departments of its work, as seen from the reports herewith submitted. The Session rejoices to find all the diets of worship so largely attended, and the deep interest manifested in the work of the church. The accession to the membership of the church has been the largest in any one year during the present pastorate. The percentage of members at the Communion of the church is highly commendable. It is unnecessary to touch upon the different departments of the church's work, as a comparison with previous reports will show the progress over previous years. We are pleased to say that the families of the congregation called upon in the interests of the "Century Fund" have all responded most liberally and a year hence the names of all subscribers will be given in the Annual Report.

Death has entered seven homes during the year. Some of those called away from us had been closely associated with the work of the church, but God had need of them so He called them to Himself. We miss them but "we sorrow not as those who have no hope." Having entered upon the closing year of the century, may it be the best in the history of the congregation. Let old and young unite heartily in all departments of the church's work and we are sure that the coming year will be the happiest year of our life and the most fruitful in winning souls to Christ. Let our motto be: "For Christ and His Church."
