

- lion, 305-306; Dr. McKean, and a continuous medical mission at last, 306-307; Sixth Tour (1890, with Miss McGilvary):—Lakawn, Prê, Nân, 308-310; the lost elephant, 311; Chieng Kawng and the "Teacher's Road," 313-314; Chieng Sên and Chieng Râi, 314-315; elephant runaways, 317-318; Buddhist sacred days to be observed by Christians, 318-319; Seventh Tour (1891, with Mr. Phraner), 320-336:—first meeting with the Mûsôs, 322-327; Mûang Len, 327-329; Chieng Sên, 329-330; a thrilling experience, 330-331; Chieng Kawng and Mûang Tông, 332-333; Mûsôs baptized, 333-336; Eighth Tour (1892, with Dr. McKean)—among the Mûsô villages, 338-348; tragic struggle with opium, 348; famine, 349-352; Ninth Tour (1893, with Mr. Irwin)—the Sipsawng Pannâ, 353-368; Mûang Yawng, 354-355; an undiscovered peril, 358; Chieng Rung; ferry and ford of the Mê Kông, 359-360; dysentery and heroic treatment, 362; Mûang Sing, 363-366; Mûsôs east of the Mê Kông, 367-368; third furlough (1893-1894), 370-376; Mr. Arthington of Leeds, 373-376; Presbytery and a native ministry, 377-380; Tenth Tour (1896, with Dr. Denman)—Chieng Râi chosen for a station, 382-384; evangelists sent forth, 384; Mûsôs, 385; Eleventh Tour (1897, with Dr. Peoples)—the "regions beyond": Lûang Prabâng, 388ff.; courtesy of French officials, 388-390, 395, 398, 400; Mûang Sai, 390-394; Mûang Ai, 394-395; wedding feast, 395; surprise party, 396-397; Mûang Sing, 398, 399; Twelfth Tour (1898)—the closed door, 402-412; summoned to the U. S. by illness of Mrs. McGilvary (1905), 426-427; Golden Wedding, 427-429; appreciation by Dr. Arthur J. Brown, D.D., 1-7.
- Observations and criticisms: Continuity in mission policy, 416-417; Converts with more than one wife, 231-232; Exclusion of the Lâo mission from the Lâo-speaking peoples of the north, 157, 332, 368-369, 404, 411-412; Girls' Schools as Christianizing agencies, 178, 203, 280, 284, 287, 418-419; Heresy-trials, 371-372; Language problem, 222-225, 420-422; Native evangelists and ministers, 257-262, 377-380, 414-416; Parliament of religions, 370-371; Obedient to constituted authority and law, 208, 301, 393, 400, 406; Outlying Christian communities—their claim on the missionary, 329-330; Rulers—importance of cultivating their acquaintance, 90, 144, 161, 170-171, 330.
- Religious teachings and conversations, 97-98, 161-162, 174-176, 180-188, 199-200, 342-343, 365.
- McGilvary, Mrs. Sophia Bradley, marriage, 52; wins first Lâo convert, 79, 100; life in a bamboo shack, 140; furlough after twenty-three years in Siam, 159-160; river journey without escort, 164; opens first Lâo school, 177; sole assistant in the mission,