Profit from the experience of professional hunters

No one knows better than they the importance of having ammunition that is accurate, powerful and dependable under all conditions. Big game hunting in Canada is different from that of other countries, and the ammunition used must be suited to the climate in which it is used.

Dominion Ammunition
Metallics and shot shells are made in Canada. They are tested and tried under conditions that are identical to those in which they will be used. That's why Dominion Metallics and Shot Shells are weather-proof. That's why they are dependable at all times, in wet weather or cold.

You can start on your hunting trip confident of success, if you carry Dominion Ammunition. You'll have the best results. You'll be properly equipped for any emergency. Sensitive, sure-fire primers, uniform loads, high power and accuracy are characteristics of all Metallics and Shot Shells bearing the Dominion Brand.
