No one acquainted with the literary and business tatent of the preachers of the N.S. and N. B. Districts, and the thirst for information which prevails among the people, and the liberality which is displayed in the maintenance of our Church interests, and the sympathy which is so promptly yielded to all our Christian enterprises, can question the practicability of accomplishing what is thus imagined.

Let the word "forward" then be repeatet and its meaning and force be demonstrated-give us these " Pioneer" papers in the best possible style to prepare the way, and very soon we shall be ready for the establishment of the regular Paper.

so appropriate that we gladly transfer them to our columns. We cordially recommend them for the practical observance of all persons concerned.

When thou goest to a Printing office, talk not to the compositors, for meddle with any thing which thou mayest see there.

If thou bringest a writing for publication, withhold not from the editor the name of the author thereof, lest thou seem to deal frauduiently, nor ask of him who hath written certain pieces, lest he may not wish to tell thee.

Let the writing which thou mayest bring be legible, lest much time be lost in deciphering it, and lef it not be too long, else no one will read it; but see to it that thy style is clear and thy words simple, that all may understand thee. And take no offence if thy piece be not published, for it might have injured thee or dishonored thy friends, and it may be that the editor hath other pieces that are better than thine.- Am. Paper.
