THE BADGES ARE HERE.

The long looked for badges for men who applied for enlistment in the Volunteer force but were rejected, arrived a few days ago and are in the custody of Mr. T. J. Duley, jeweller, of Water Street. To-day Mr. Duley kindly showed them to a reporter of the Mail and Advocate. The badge is of bronze, almost circular in shape, and can be pinned to the lapel of the coat. They are about the size of a 50 cent piece, very neat in design, and inscribed around the margin is the legend: "For King and Country I have offered." In the centre is a map of Newfoundland. Every badge is numbered so that it can be traced if lost. The design is the work of a young lady of this city and is very creditable to her artistic proclivity. Duley has notified the Committee of their arrival, and there are enough here to give to all who have been

FOUND DEAD IN BED

At 2 p.m. the body of a man named Bursell, of Topsail, was brought to the Morgue by the police from the Tremont Hotel. As far as we can learn the man had been drinking heavily of late and last night was assisted to his room by three fellow boarders. To-day he was found dead in his bed. It was also stated by the police that some liquor was found in the man's room, showing that he had died from the effects of an overdose of alcohol, a fact which Dr. Campbell attested to when he viewed the remains to-day. The body will sent home from the Morgue for interment.

WAS WITH PEARY.

Peter Barron, who is now a prisoner in Germany, was with Peary on last voyage when he discovered the North Pole. Peter is a type of the hardy Newfoundland seamen and if the Germans try any of their dirty tricks on him they will find that will be difficult to break Peter's spirit. He is well known in the city for his hardihood and intrepidity.

PUBLIC OPINION IN THE PRESENT

A strange feature of the present war is the development of public opinion as a force in the war. Hitherto wars have been fought and won upon the battlefield, but this war. though it is fought by the men upon the battlefield, is partly won by the vast army of men who remain at home, and work in the munition factories. They in the democratic countries of Great Britain and France arec laiming a right to be heard in the war's settlement, and they are holding public meetings in their free hours demanding punishment of the German criminals, however, highly placed, who violate the laws of nations in their fighting.

But the dangers of alcohol are tenfold now. The prevalence of venereal disease among one-tenth of our urban population, its special danger to child-life, and the anxiety with which we must contemplate its wide extension as one of the terrible gifts of peace, impose upon us an increasing responsibilty. In 1912 over 270,000 working days werel ost in the navy from this cause, and 216,000 days to the army, and the Royal Commission has urged that a decrease of drinking would be an important factor in the decrease of this far-reaching cause of national decay.
