THE MARKETS AT A GLANCE

Flour is again the commodity in which the heaviest advances have taken place during the week, the increase amounting to $1.50 per barrel and creating a record price that a few months back would have been thought unbelievable. Rolled oats and corn products have been in higher market as a result of high prices prevailing for the grains. Sugar is holding in steady market with more favorable reports of production on the island of Cuba continuing to come forward. Most of all kinds held in a steady position, and there was a tendency toward lower prices in butter. Eggs were firmer in price during the week, owing to the eagerness on the part of dealers to place them in storage. In Ontario the prices at producing points reached such levels that it became cheaper to bring eggs in from Chicago and pay the duty. Several cars of these eggs arrived during the week. The cheese market is uncertain, with the expectancy in certain quarters that lower prices will prevail. There have been numerous advances in lines carried by grocers, included in the number being evaporated milk, baking powder, soaps, vinegar, cocoa, jams, soups, canned salmon, canned peas, cream of tartar, rice, tapioca, bread, beans. Declines have been recorded in whitefish and trout, due to the greater quantities arriving from the upper lakes. Pineapples were also lower in price during the week, as the season for heavy arrivals is now on. Business in grocery lines has been good, the greatest difficulty being to get sufficient stocks to meet the requirements of the trade. —Canadian Grocer.

"SCHOOL FOR HUSBANDS." "I think," said Fanny Ward, with mock seriousness, "that every city should have a school for husbands. I can safely say that my husband would be a better husband if he had been to a school for husbands." This remark was brought about by Miss Ward's present Lasky-Paramount production, "The School for Husbands," in which she will be seen on the Brant on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, under the direction of the Jesse L. Lasky Company. "It's a question," she smilingly continued, "whether husbands should be trained before or after marriage, but there are a lot of them that should be sent to school to learn something of how to treat a wife. Of course if they went to a college for bachelors before they were married, they might get the wrong kind of training so that the wife would have to train them all over again later on." "Now take Jack, for example. He was running around as a gay young bachelor, but when I married him, I had to start in and train him how to be a dutiful husband. He had—for only a little while—the idea that I should stay at home and that he should spend his evenings at the club. I can safely say that this idea didn't live long—in fact, it only took about a week to learn that wherever he went, I should go, and that I had just as many rights and privileges as he." "One night after dinner he went zaily down to his club. A little later some friends called me up and invited me to go to the theatre. We were sitting comfortably in a box when Jack and a couple of friends dropped in at the theatre. We were chatting happily, and I will admit that there was one young man paying quite a bit of attention to me when Jack spied us. I could feel his eyes boring a hole in the back of my neck and I knew he was there without even looking around, so I
