ADRON, O., April 3 .- Thomas Mc-Caskie, sentenced to three years in the penitentiary on a charge of shooting with intent to kill, says he carries the secret of the hiding place of a million dollars' worth of silver bulion. McCaskie says that the silver was taken from a ship by pirates in the West Indies many years ago and nid in a cave under water in one of he many coral islands in the West Indies. He adds that the secret was given to him by the grandfather of a little Cuban girl, whom he saved from drowning, for which he was given medal by the Cuban government. The old man, so the story goes, had been one of the pirate crew and now the only one living.

When he was arrested McCaskie had been working on a diving suit which he claimed he had intended to take to the West Indies with him in his attempt to reach the entrance to the cave and secure the treasure. Now he claims that he will go after the treasure after his release from the
