It was finally found that by bottling the seeds in the water of the river in which they grew they could be trans-oorted safely from the waters of the Amazon to the far west. Here the lily is usually grown with bottom heat, as it is very tender. Seeds started in pots in a temperature of 90 degrees will germinate in about two weeks and may be planted out in the open air when the nights have become warm-usually about the 1st of June-and will bloom the same summer, but cannot be carried through the winter, but must be started afresh each season, either by the purchase of plants or the sowing of seed, the latter being, of course, much more economical, as seeds may be purchased for a few nickels apiece, the plants costing as many dollars.

Ventriloquism In the Bible Ventriloquism, which is described as "speaking from the belly," has its first historic mention, as far as we are aware, in Isaiah xxix, 4, "And thou shalt be brought down and shall speak out of the ground, and thy speech shall be low out of the dust, and thy voice shall be as one that hath a familiar spirit, out of the ground, and thy speech shall whisper out of the dust."

So Testified Superintendent of Insurance Fitzgerald Before the Commission-Insurance Laws Were Not Rigidly Enforced-Some Few Items of a Tedious First Day - Ontario Counsel Wants to Cross-Examine.

Ottawa, March 15 .- The Royal Commission on Life Insurance opened its enquiry in the Imperial Building yes-Judge MacTavish and his two fellow-commissioners, J. W. Langmuir and A. L. Kent, were present. George F. Shepley, K. C., and Mr. Tilley of To-ronto were in attendance as counsel for the Crown, to conduct the enquiry; Hellmuth, K. C., and Geary of Toronto were present under instructions from the Ontario Government, to represent the policyholders of that province; Mr. Leboeuf, in a similar capacity for the Province of Quebec; Wallace Nesbitt, K. C., for the Canada Life and Confederation Life; and R. C. Smith, K. C., of Montreal, for the Sun Life.

The chairman invited suggestions from counsel as to the best means of proceeding with the enquiry. In reply Mr. Shepley suggested that until some difference of opinion arose the counsel for the Dominion should com-

Mr. Shepley had been appointed by the Government to conduct the enquiry and represented, therefore, the entire public. He was anxious that the enquiry should be prosecuted as ex peditiously as possible. The enquiry vas now open.
The First Witness

The commissioners were almost bor-ed by Mr. Tilley's examination of Supt. The Government counse apparently made no enquiry as to the interior methods of companies and trusted to information turning up by simply taking Fitzgerald through the

Only a few really searching questions were put by the junior counsel, and these were not used as thorough probes. For example, Mr. Fitzgerald said that securities deposited with the Receiver-General were accepted at 5 per cent. less than market value-par If the market value were 110, they might be accepted at 105. Presently he said that was a slip. Nothing was accepted at over par.

Again, asked whether information adstowed away all the requisites for getting up fine linen and lace. In a small establishment, where means are limited, it often falls to the lot of one member of the household to undertake the washing and pressing of many small articles of apparel, which, by reason of lace or embroideries themselves, and these often require the application of a flatiron or of crimping irons in order to give them a smart appearance.

The little cupboard here shown could very well find a place in either a bedroom or bathroom. It is so narrownot more than nine inches deep-that it occupies no appreciable space when placed against the wall. The door and molding can be bought ready made, and then there is only the body of the cupboard to be joined together and fit-ted inside with a dividing plank and everal small shelves. These latter are intended for holding the irons of various sizes and other implements—such, perhaps, as a small heating stove, necessary for this fine laundry work. Two-thirds of this cupboard must be reserved for the little ironing table, which is the most important item in the whole concern. It is provided at one end with a couple of clamps, which can be hooked into sockets fixed anywhere to the wall or to the end of a table, to keep it quite steady, while be-neath the other rounded end is a trestle screwed on with a hinge, so as to enable it to be folded up use. The top should be covered with a tightly stretched flannel or cloth, and then, with the addition of a tub of hot water, you are provided with the appawheat flour from ignorance. They do not know how to use the flour, says Table Talk. Entire wheat flour is really very fine and goes farther than the bolted flour—that is, a bag of the one makes more loaves of bread than the same quantity of the other. This is partly due to the different manipula-tion. With the entire wheat flour the dough is made very soft with gentle kneading or sometimes only stirring with the spoon. In either case the sponge must be well beaten—five min-utes by the clock.

House Drainage.

House drainage is a most imperfectly understood subject. So long as the water runs away that seems to be about the only matter with which the house holder is concerned. Old drains should as far as possible be sluiced with disinfecting solutions at least once a week in cold weather and every day in hot weather or at any season of the year if there is any epidemic disease in the vicinity.

Women of the better class in Muscat all wear muzzles, which barely allow them to open the mouth or see with the eye or sneeze. If there happens to be a Cleopatra in Muscat she will never fascinate any Antony by the beauty of her well shaped nose, for it is kept in a specially made, ugly case, in which it is impossible to tell its shape. But with all its faults this is a far better system than that of cutting off the nose as men in the Kangra district in India are wont to do when any of their spouses have proved too fascinating.

THE ROOT OF NEURALGIC HEAD-

Is an irritable condition of the nerves caused by cold. Relief comes quickly from Nerviline, the great pain reliever of to-day. "I consider pain reliever of to-day. I can also recommend Nerviline for stiffness, rheumatism and muscular pains." In use nearly fifty years. Try Nerviline yourself.
