TEMPERANCE COLUMN.

Contributed by the I. O. G. T.

Yes, I'm a tramp! What of it? Folks think we ain't no good, But tramps have got to live I reckon, Though folks don't think we should. Once I was young and handsome Had plenty of cash and clothes, That was before I tippled And gin got into my nose. Down in "Lehigh Valley," Me and my people grew, I was a blacksmith, Cap'in,

Yes, and a good one too. Me and my wife and Nellie, Nellie was just sixteen, She was the pootiest creature But a power that he did not understand The "Valley" had ever seen. Beaux she had a dozen of them, Near and far,

> But most of them were farmers And none of them suited her. There was a city stranger Young, handsome and tall, Plague him, I wish I had him Strangled against that wall. He was the man for Nellie

She didn't know no ill, Mother she tried to stop it, But you know a young girl's will. More than a month after he married The poor young thing, He'd gone away and left her. Without a wedding ring.

Back to her mother's side, Filled with a raging fever, She fell at my feet and died. Frantic with shame and sorrow, Her mother began to sink, Dead in less than a fortnight That's when I took to drink, Give me one glass, Colonel, And I'll be on my way,

I'll tramp till I find that scoundrel If I wait till the judgement day. GOOD ADVICE.

If you your lips Would keep from slips, Five things observe with care-Of whom you speak, To whom you speak, And how, and when, and where.

If you your ears Would save from jeers, These things keep meekly hid—
"Myself," and "I,"
And "mine," and "my," And how "I do," or "did." ENTERING IN.

The church was dim and silent With the hush before the prayer; Only the solemn trembling Of the organ stirred the air. Without, the sweet pale sunshine;

Within, the holy calm, Where priest and people waited For the swelling of the psalm. Slowly the door swung open

And a little baby girl, Brown-eyed, with soft hair falling In many a wavy curl, With soft cheeks flushing hotly, Sly glances downward thrown, And with hands clasped before her, Stood in the aisle alone.

Stood half-abashed, half frightened, Unknowing where to go, While, like a wind-rocked flower, Her form swayed to and fro; And the changing color fluttered In the little troubled face,

As from side to side she waved With a mute, imploring grace. It was but for a moment! What wonder that we smiled,

By such a strange, sweet picture From holy thoughts beguiled? Up, then, rose some one softly, And many an eye grey dim, As through the tender silence He bore the child with him.

And long I wondered, losing The sermon and the prayer, If when some time I enter The many mansions fair, And stand abashed and drooping In the portal's golden glow, Our Lord will send an angel To show us where to go.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.
