A Housewife's Problem The Problems Involved in the Dearthness of Foodstuffs.

"At the annual meeting of the shareholders of Liptons, Limited, held in London last week, a matter was incidentally mentioned which, from its universal influence and importance, is worthy of much greater attention than was there bestowed upon it," writes the Irish Times. "This is the high price of commodities, and especially of foodstuffs, now and for some time back prevailing.

The Dearthness of Food.

"Sir Thomas Lipton, the chairman, in explaining a diminution in the profits of the concern, ascribed this fall-

Nutritive Hypophosphites

When a person feels "blue"—"all tired out"—doesn't feel like doing anything—cannot concentrate his mind on his work—feels weak mentally and physically—doubts his powers—complains of poor appetite and sleeplessness—suffers from headaches—then his nervous system is run-down and demands a good up-building tonic. Nervous exhaustion is a modern disease, caused by too close attention to business, overwork, worry, devotion to trying family cares over-study, etc.

Nutritive Hypophosphites forms the best nerve and brain food known, and have restored thousands of sufferers to health. Large bottle, $1.00.

ing-off as in the main due to the dearthness of many of the staple articles of food. It might at first glance be assumed that these high prices would assure greater, rather than less, profits to retailers generally, but this does not appear to be the case; for the inevitable curtailment in the demand, especially in those articles which have advanced most in cost more than counteracts the possibilities of gain. The effect of this is seen in the case of Liptons, Limited, by a diminution in the dealings in bacon alone of over two thousand tons within twelve months.

Increases in Sugar, Cheese, Butter, Meat.

"Sir Thomas Lipton stated that, in the past twelve years, an article in such widespread use as sugar has risen in price by nearly fifty per cent, and cheese in the same proportion; hams, bacon and lard have more than doubled; while butter is also much dearer. Outside these items, with which the company is especially concerned, the head of every household is painfully aware, as he gazes at the swollen size of his weekly or monthly bills, that meat is also much dearer than of old, while poultry threaten to join pigs as luxuries, or even rarities.

"It is easy to see that an increase in the prices of commodities which, like these, are, or have been in the past, in universal demand affects every member and every class in the community. True, it affects them in different degrees, hitting with greatest severity the poor and that numerous middle-class which finds it a matter of extreme difficulty either to expand its income or contract its expenditure. Under the present condition of affairs prove permanent, it needs no prophet to foresee that a general readjustment of the standard of living will, for the great majority of the population, soon become unavoidable.

"We are thus brought face to face with an economic factor of great importance. For this rule of high prices is not confined to these countries; it appears already to be gaining sway over the whole world. An effect which is world-wide must have a cause which is as widely diffused. This argument at once puts out of court many of the popular theories, on the simple ground that they are restricted, and therefore inadequate.

What Are the Causes?

"The discovery of the cause, or causes, of this inflation would go far towards finding the answer to a question which is of interest to all—namely, whether the present prices are likely to go still higher, or to go downwards. Economists, in attempting to solve this riddle, find themselves at once in a region of many conjectures. Nevertheless, some of the main facts in the situation can be readily grasped. Working on the side of cheapness there are those increased forces which the higher prices must bring into being: additional capital and energy, applied to the cultivation of land and the rearing of live stock; a greater use of scientific methods, which are as yet

When Sleep Fails You

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD will bring rest, comfort and vitality by building up the nerves.

Mr. Jas. Wesley Weaver, a veteran of the Fenian Raid, Port Dalhousie, Ont., writes:—"For years I was afflicted with nervousness and dreary insomnia, so that I never knew for three years what a full hour's sleep was, never more than dozing for a few minutes at a time. Heart pain and headaches almost drove me wild. I had spells of weakness and cramps in stomach and limbs.

"Though I tried several doctors, I was money uselessly spent. Finally Dr. Chase's Nerve Food was brought to me and eight boxes cured me. I am simply wonderful what benefit I have obtained from this treatment." Sleeplessness and headaches are warnings of approaching nervous collapse. You can positively remove these symptoms and prevent prostration or paralysis by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. 50 cents a box, 6 to $2.50, at all dealers or Edmanon Bates & Co., Toronto. Shannahan on Collecting for a Garden Party.

Some people come along to Shannahan and in a cute way tell him he ought to get after this, or he ought to get after that. It's a great nuisance and should be stopped, they say.

Shannahan doesn't pretend to be getting after anyone. He simply tells people what other people are saying about them, and in this way acts more upright, straight and manly than if he were to go around "some nook or corner and backbite them."

As he goes around among the people he hears a grumble about so many collectors being out. He sees sweet-looking ladies move superbly along, like an ocean liner, and they come up to you as if they were about to inform you that they had you in their mind's eye for years, and as you hadn't the manliness to propose, they were going to meet you half way and pop the question. Sweet is her smile, bright her eyes and graceful her movements; but when she opens her mouth—when these two ripe cherry-like lips move, it is not to praise your beauty; it is not to tell you that she stays awake all night thinking of you; oh no, but to seek a donation to a garden party.

They are talked about, shopkeepers grumble; the assistants say here comes another jader; but she is so beautiful, so charming of manner, that before you know where you are your half dollar has vanished, to be stored up for you in the bank that will pay its interest on the "other side."

Who can find fault with them? Answer—Everybody. They say, "There are too many of them and the thing is becoming a nuisance"; but look how lonely we would be without them. If we had no garden parties this summer, people would be asking what's wrong. The growl lies with the people who grumble, for in many cases they try to give what they can't afford. It's not because Tom gives two dollars that I must give two dollars also if I can't afford it. What can you afford, 50 or cents? If so, give it. If you can't afford even that tell them so; it's no disgrace not to have money for every call, and what do you care, anyway? 'Tis your own funeral. But "I don't want to be worse than another," you'll hear an old lady say, when she is telling her next door neighbor, that the garden party collectors have been in. She sighs a deep sigh and takes no tea; she is properly upset. Now, garden party collectors want no money from such people, but if they are filled with insensical pride, which they can't afford to indulge in, and try to cap others and then growl about it, it is not the collectors fault. They should have sense enough to be able to say no. One thing is, sure and that is, we are lacking in the true spirit of independence when we give what we can't afford and then stop up half the night growling about it.

TIM SHANNAHAN.

ly applied, here and there, in mere patches on the surface of the globe; and the possibilities of new inventions cheapening production.

"It must also be remembered that progress in agriculture has been much less rapid than in manufactures, probably because these latter have for over a century attracted the best brains by more tempting rewards. Improvements in transport have been so vast of recent years that here does not appear to be room to hope for much more progress in this direction; but the unexpected may always happen.

How Gold Affects Prices.

"On the side of dearthness we have a power which is only beginning to attract attention, but may yet be strong enough of itself to work a revolutionary change. This is the enormous production of gold within recent times. It has been calculated by competent authorities that the total golden store of the world has been more than doubled within the last twenty years. This must inevitably make its effects felt, sooner or later, by raising the level of prices all around. For to speak of an increase in the price of commodities is to speak of a decrease in the value of gold—the terms are practically interchangeable. That this value can be maintained at its former level, when the supply was less by one-half, is contrary to economic theory, and to the lessons of past history.

"It may easily be that we are now well advanced in a movement such as formerly caused both social and financial revolution, when the floods of silver from the New World worked havoc with the monetary standards of the Old. That chaos ceased only with the demonetisation of silver; can it be that a similar fate is in store for gold? Considerations such as these show that behind the question of dear meat and dear bacon may be involved issues of the highest importance to the economist and the financier, as well as to that plain, but ubiquitous, individual called 'the man in the street.'

Yesterday's Cable Messages.

Special to Evening Telegram.

OTTAWA, July 19.—An attempt was made to wreck the pay car of the Grand Trunk Railway yesterday afternoon on the Rockland line. At a slow rate of speed the engineer ran into a plank across the road. He quickly reversed his engine, his alertness avoiding a serious accident. A little further on there were two other planks across the tracks. There were many thousands of dollars in the van of the pay car and the object of the deed is not clear as there was no attempt to hold up the crew.

KIEV, Russia, July 19.—The expulsion of Jews continues at the rate of 45 a day. From July 4th until July 15 four hundred and ninety-seven were expelled by what is known as the second method; that is, they were forced actually to leave the town. During the same time 1,121 were expelled by the first method, which in effect is a warning for their departure but permits them time for a settlement of affairs. In the majority of cases the latter method proved ineffective, as the Jews in the category are prone to return after a temporary absence. During the 12 days mentioned there were 165 expulsions from Solomenka and 151 from Demieffka. Since May 14, when the Imperial decree became effective, ordering that all Jews who could not establish a legal right of residence should be expelled within the pale. In the restricted district of the Polish provinces there have been expelled from this city and the suburbs 3,011 persons by the second method and 3,661 by the first method. However in making up this total of 6,672, allowance must be made for a large percentage of duplications in the count.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, July 19.—The gas works of the Zeppelin Airship Co. were demolished by an explosion to-day. Seven persons were injured.

LONDON, July 19.—A strike that threatens to reach serious dimensions has broken out among the employees of the Northeastern Railroad. Traffic is disorganized.

BOURNEMOUTH, Eng., July 19.—Robert Lorraine, who on July 16th in an attempt to make a flight to the needles and return in a heavy rain-storm and was obliged to land on the Isle of Wight, flew back to the mainland this evening. He made a safe landing here.

MONTREAL, July 19.—The Acadia Coal Co., Ltd., of Pictou County, having coal areas to the extent of 16 miles and over and producing 300,000 tons. (Sir Montague Allan being the president) has been strengthened by the influx of French and Belgian capital, and the statement was made to-day that at least a million dollars will be spent in developing and generally improving the property.

OTTAWA, July 19. — The Grand Trunk Railway and the conductors, rainmen and yardmen now on strike may come to an agreement on the suggestion already made from both sides that the matters in dispute be submitted to a board of arbitration, whose finding shall be binding on both sides. Then the Government will bear all the expense of that arbitration. The Department of Labor will assist in the prompt appointment and organization of the board, and meanwhile the men might return to work.

8567. Charming Neglige.

No more graceful home jacket could be devised than this pretty model developed in figured China silk. The simple shaping is developed by shoulder and underarm seams, the fulness falling in soft folds from below the tucks that are taken upon each side the centre front. The tucks in the back extend to the waist line, and a belt of the material encircles the waist giving that trim look, so essential to a garment of that kind. If preferred the sleeves may extend to the wrist, completed by straight cuffs. Lawn, flowered dimity, cotton crepe, cashmere and albatross are all suitable for reproduction. For 36 inch bust measure 3 1/2 yds. of 36 inch material is required. Sizes from 32 to 42 inches bust measure.

Mrs. Lindberg Dead. Congregational Picnic.

But a few short weeks ago we chronicled the death of the late Mr. John Lindberg, and now it is our sad duty to record the demise of his widow, Mrs. Rosamond Lindberg. Mrs. Lindberg passed peacefully away after a protracted illness last night to the deep regret of the many who knew and esteemed her. Mrs. Lindberg is survived by one child, Mr. John E. Lindberg, and a brother, Mr. Augustus Taylor, to whom the Telegram extends its condolence. Mrs. Lindberg was a daughter of Capt. Frank Taylor, who was so well and favorably known in Carbonara. The funeral will take place at 2.30 p.m. to-morrow.

Yesterday afternoon the Congregational picnic took place at Smithville. Although the weather was not so genial as was hoped for still the children enjoyed the sport with more zest than could be expected under the circumstances. This was largely due to the efforts of Mr. H. E. Cowan and his able assistants of the Sunday School teaching staff. The Pastor, Rev. J. Tauckery, was also uniting in his efforts to make everybody happy. The little ones were given a bountiful spread and were also provided with bags of candy and nuts, etc. The children returned in wagons loaded at their disposal by kind friends.

Labrador News.

Capt. W. C. Winsor wired to Mr. J. C. Hepburn, of Baine Johnston's office, from Battle Harbor via Cape Ray, last night as follows:—"J. Stockley, of Greenspond, was drowned at Brandy Harbor, July the 12th. Good fishing at Ha-Ha Bay right up to Brandy Harbor. Invermore reports plenty of fish from Cape Harrison to King's Bay; nothing from Cape Harrison to Battle Harbor; Straits fishery a failure, all schooners going down."

Digby, N.S.

Minard's Liniment Co., Limited. Gentlemen,—Last August my horse was badly cut in eleven places by a barbed wire fence. Three of the cuts, (small ones) healed soon, but the others became foul and rotten, and though I tried many kinds of medicine they had no beneficial result. At last a doctor advised me to use MINARD'S LINIMENT and in four weeks time every sore was healed and the hair has grown over each one in fine condition. The Liniment is certainly wonderful in its working.

Broke His Arm.

Arthur Andrews, of St. Michael's choir, had his arm broken at the wrist while playing football at the tannery field, Rennie's River, yesterday evening. While rushing the ball he fell backwards and his arm went under him. A few weeks ago he broke his arm in the same place while coming over Signal Hill. He walked to Dr. Cowperthwaite's surgery last evening after the accident and had the arm set.
