acific Conference May Not Benefit China.

tein newspaper, To Chun Shang Pao, believes that, with civil strife hope for little benefit from the Pacific Conference. "The Ministry of . Foreign Affairs has just established an investigation bureau for the purposeof gathering materials, records and other documents to be used at the Pacific Conference in connection with China's case," says that paper. believe this can do little toward attaining our object, for so long as China facks the power essential to success, foreign powers will continue to look down upon her and treat her as an inferior; so that even if we have overwhelming evidence at our disposal to support our case, they will never take the trouble to go into it so as to render a decision in our favor, Under such circumstances it would be foolish to expect success.

China's All-Important Question.

"The all-important question to-day is to settle our domestic strife. When peace and order are restored, foreigners in our midst will not suffer from occasional disturbances, and their ministers and governments, seeing that China still has the ability to maintain order, will naturally treat us with respect, and the Japanese propaganda that China has not the ecessary capacity to protect foreign life and property and that Japan should be appointed guardian over her, will explode of itself. If all this can be accomplished before the Pacific Conference, we are not without a ray of hope. If, however, we indulge in continual civil strife between one prevince and another we are simply furnishing evidence to prove the truth of the Japanese contention. For the peace of the Far East, and the interests of their nationals, foreign powers cannot but approve the internationalization of China, and it is perhaps not unlikely that they will charge Japan with the task of overseeing us. When this happens, our sovereignty will be completely lost, and what favor can we expect from the powers when we set forth all our evidence and records before them to support our case? Let both the people and the Government work avoid this eventuality."

Engineer Freed

MANSLAUGHTER CASE DISMISSED.

Cyril Turner, the engineer of the train which killed the little girl Penney at Bristol Hope some time ago, was released from custody on Saturday last. Judge Penney before whom, the preliminary enquiry into the charge of manslaughter preferred against Turner, was heard, did not find the evidence sufficient to cause him to commit the accused for trial. Mr. W. J. Higgins, K.C., who appeared for the defence and Deputy Minister of Justice Summers who prosecuted, returned to town last night, having been held at Carbonear by the washout.

Hull Broken Up.

The hull of the Huntley which was owed to Freshwater Bay a couple of weeks ago and allowed to go adrift has been smashed up in the recent storm and residents of the Battery and South Side are daily engaged in salving the timbers which they will use to repair their stages or make into kindling. The engines of the vessel sank in deep water. Some of the wreckage of the hulk Capella are also scattered around the shore near Freshwater, and these too are also being picked up.
