THE MARKETS

Local Market.

London, Saturday, June 9. During the past week the unfavorable condition of the weather has militated against a large attendance. either of city or country folk, on the market. Today this state of affairs was changed. The sky was not overcast with clouds, nor was there a murky atmosphere. The day was an ideal one for marketing. Although the square was largely occupied, the market was not as big as was expect-The supplies, however, were fair in all lines, and aparently were adequate for all requirements. Nearly all the butchers who attended had their wagons emptied early in the day. The offerings were not very large. In contrast with this, the supplies of the market gardeners were large and varied and seemed to attract the purchasers most generally. Flowers especially were sold in large numbers. That portion of the market where they are so profusely displayed is always one of the most crowded and attractive on the square. As is usual, the offerings of vegetables were exceedingly large. The low prices that prevail at present cause the patrons these stands to purchase very free-Today the gardeners were particularly busy attending to their customers. The trade in dairy produce is again becoming one of the most important factors on the market. Al-though eggs are supplied largely, they are none too abundant. Doubtless this is on account of the dealers pur-Doubtless chasing as large quantities as possible for storage purposes. For this reason also all the butter that is brought in is bought immedi-The export trade is now openately. The export trade is now open-ing. This is a little earlier than usual. Exporters are particularly anxious to buy all the June butter they can procure, as its quality is especially good for exporting purposes. So far this season the receipts have been much smaller than usual-in fact, the M receipts have not exceeded one-half those of last year. The high price of cheese in the spring tended towards this condition, as the farmers sent all their milk to the factories. The cool weather has had its effect also. For the same reason the make in Eng-land was small, consequently there is a strong probability of high prices in the export trade.

OF WATER

Washes Away a Portion of the Coffer Dam at Springbank.

River Rose Two Feet Through the Recent Rains-Work on the Dam Will Be Considerably Delayed-Damage Over $1,000.

Yesterday afternoon a large section of the coffer-dam at Springbank was washed away by reason of a rise of over two feet in the river, caused by the recent rains. The dam had been constructed to divert the water of the river while the south section of the waterworks dam foundation was being constructed.

The break occurred about 3:30. The force of about 20 men were working away, when they were made aware by the sound of falling timbers, that a break had occurred. About 50 feet of the temporary dam gave way, letting a mass of water down upon the area on which the men were working. The men had hard work to save the horses employed on the work, having to cut their harness and abandon the wagons to the flood. The men's tools were also swept away, and the stone-crusher is covered by water.

A force of men was immediately set at work repairing the damage to the coffer-dam. A large piece of crib-work was constructed and fleated down to partially fill up the gap, but it floated past its position and had to be pulled out of the river below the dam. Another effort will be made to place it properly. After the coffer-dam is re-paired, the water will have to be pumped out of the flooded area, over which in many places it is ten to twelve feet deep. The foot-bridge erected across the stream, near the place of operation, was swept off its abutments, and swung around to the south shore.

The damage will probably total over $1,000. Work on the dam will be considerably delayed.

Work and Sport on Carling's Heights-Divino Service Tomorrow - Arrangements for Military Tattoo.

The weather prevailing at present is considered ideal by the men and officers on Carling's Heights. rains have not caused the slightest inconvenience, in fact, they are desirable, coming, as has been the case, generally in the night-time, and thus leaving the atmosphere cool for the arduous work of the day. The drill that the men are undergoing is making a marked improvement in their appearance.

The work yesterday consisted of routine drill and practice at the Morris tube ranges. The 26th Battalion were doing the latter, and Sergt.-Major Gregory, of the Seventh Regiment, who has charge of the musketry inspections, says that the shooting was excellent. The best scores were made by Corp. J. G. Munro, of No. 6 Company, Park-hill, and Pte. John Ireland, of the Oneida Company of Indians. The former made 156 points out of a possible 160, and the latter made 153 out of the same total.

Last night, as was expected, a large crowd went to the camp from the city. The number of lady visitors was particularly noticeable. In the early part of the evening, the scene formed by the white tents and the moving crowds of people, dressed so variously, was strik-ingly attractive. A programme of music was rendered by the band of the 21st Regiment. The officers had arranged a series of races, which were keenly contested, and aroused much interest. The 100 yards dash for buglers under 16 years of age was won by F. Ireland, of the 26th Regiment, with A, Campbell, also of the 26th, second. A. Ninham was first, H. Bread second, and yards for Indians only. Ninham was successful in the hurdle race also, Eli Stonefish coming in second, and Pte. Thompson, of the Huron Regiment, In the barrel race, Pte. For this evening a game of football between the 21st and 33rd Regiments has been arranged. These reegiments have some good players as members, Roodesval, north of Kroonstad.

Last night the county councilors were entertained by the officers of the 26th Regiment. Dinner was served in the mess tent, and a most enjoyable time was spent. The councilors were especially pleased at the arrangements made for the men's comfort. These arrangements were made largely through the kind liberality of the council.
