FOR FUTURE PORK.

How to Handle the Squealers and Their Dams to Get Best Results.

In raising hogs cheaply it is necessary to begin with the sows. They must be fed well in order to produce a good litter of strong, vigorous pigs. Oats are a splendid feed. They are a well balanced food. Corn is not suitable. It is too fattening. Also provide plenty of pure water. Exercise is necessary. This can be provided by feeding the oats on a feeding floor, scattering them thinly. It is not necessary to grind the oats. The sows should be handled so one can go up to them at any time. A good time to have them farrow is about April 1. A good place is a stall in the horse or cow barn. The time of farrowing can be determined quite exactly. The milk comes into the teats four to six hours before farrowing. Don't feed the sow for twenty-four hours after farrowing, but give her slightly warmed water. Then feed some feed like oats and some shorts. When the little pigs are five or six weeks old begin feeding them some grain feed like ground oats. A good way is to fence off their trough so the sow can't get to it. Wean the pigs when about twelve weeks old.

FEEDING THE LITTLE FELLOWS.

A good pasture should be provided. For early spring a rye pasture is fine. This can be followed by a mixed pasture, as follows: Peas, two bushels per acre; barley, one bushel, and rape, three to four pounds. Some grain should be fed, as the pasture alone will not be sufficient. Then plant a patch of squaw corn. The pigs can be turned into this the middle of August. The sows that are to be used for breeding should not be turned into the corn, but keep them on the pasture and feed some grain, as oats or shorts. This requires the minimum of labor and makes cheap pork.

An expensive hog house is not necessary. A straw shed will answer very well. Set up some posts in a circle, with an alley leading to the east. Put woven wire fence on the posts and some poles on top. Throw the straw over it when thrashing. The A shaped houses are fine for the sows after they have farrowed.—W. R. Janson, Superintendent Hettinger Substation, N. D.

THE GERMAN SOFA.

It is the Seat of Honor For the Visitor With the Biggest Title.

The stranger in Germany is always impressed by the importance of the sofa in marking social distinctions. Indeed, among Germans of the more comfortable class, those who live from generation to generation in the same house, every piece of furniture has its own history and makes its own associations, but it is always the sofa that is given the prominent place in a room. Before it usually stands a round or oval table.

Should there be callers at the average German house there ensues a certain dignified commotion. Should a caller, a woman of lower social standing than the mistress of the house, arrive she must take a chair, while the hostess sits alone on the sofa. Should the visitor be of higher degree, however, the matter will be otherwise decided.

This method of distinction reaches its highest point when there is a tea party, or kaffeeklatsch (coffee gossip), for then the oldest woman with the biggest title must sit on the sofa, and the next in rank occupies the place nearest her.

As the proudest usually arrives latest, a general stir is likely to take place, for if the Frau Doktorin, the wife of a physician or scholar, is sitting on the sofa she must vacate her position should a Frau Professorin appear. The Frau Majorin, or wife of a major, may be thoroughly enjoying the seat of honor, but she must yield it without hesitation when the Frau Generalin comes in. The whole company rise in such an event to do honor to the distinguished guest, and there must necessarily follow a general readjustment of places.

Neither unmarried men nor very young women can expect to enjoy the privilege of sitting on a German sofa.

The piece of furniture that stands next in honor to the sofa is the easy chair, which is sometimes called sorgenstuhl, or chair of cares. Should a German sit down to worry he must have a comfortable seat, that so important a mood may be endured with dignity. A common chair would not serve his purpose in the least. But the sorgenstuhl is, so to speak, for domestic and personal use only. The sofa is the part of the entire social framework never to be carelessly regarded.—New York Tribune.

Bothersome knots, frequent breaks and snarls—these come from using cheap twine. They cause delays and breakdowns that amount to many times the cost of the twine. You can avoid this extra cost by using PLYMOUTH. No getting down from your seat to loosen snarled places; no stopping to thread up; no loose sheaves to re-bind and no lost grain.

PLYMOUTH BINDER TWINE

always satisfies. Wheat growers say, "PLYMOUTH is the most even twine ever made." Any man who uses PLYMOUTH will tell you it has the fewest knots and causes the least trouble. Works perfectly on both old and new binders. Saves many times its own cost. Goes farthest. Always marked with the sheaf-of-wheat tag, which guarantees a smooth-running, strong, full length twine. Call and let us tell you more about PLYMOUTH. Ask for free booklet on twine.

DAIRY FARMS LAST.

The greatest advantage in dairy farming is its relation to the fertility of the soil. No other system of farming excels it in this respect, and but few equal it. A farm used for dairy purposes does not lose in fertility, but gains, and may be used for this purpose almost indefinitely.

Drilling Oats is Best.

Oats sown in the fall ripen first and are a little better than when broadcast. Because of the uniform covering less seed is required and the ripening is more even.

Quick Work With Alfalfa.

Alfalfa land should be drilled as early in the spring as the ground is in condition, as alfalfa starts rather promptly and will be injured if it is already under way.

BRAVERY IN BATTLE.

And the Terrors of War, Modern and of Other Times.

Much is written of the terrors of modern war. Little is written of the terrors of the wars of old. Yet it is doubtful if war today makes greater demands on human courage than war in the time of Grant, of Washington, of Turenne, of Caesar, of Alexander.

Consider a standup infantry fight in the days of the Revolution. After the preliminary cannonade and long distance musketry practice the two regiments marched toward each other in close ranks. At a given distance, frequently at thirty yards, there was a halt, a smashing volley and then a bayonet charge through the smoke.

Bullets those days were large and of soft lead, and the man who was hit went down. Over him tramped his comrades or the enemy, shooting and stabbing.

That was the type of infantry battles for 150 years. To minimize the courage needed to make a good soldier under such circumstances is to fly in the face of common sense.

Modern war requires a different type of courage from that needed of old. The old touch of elbows is lacking. The old feeling of companionship is gone. The modern soldier must be more alert, better taught, keener witted, than the olden soldier of equal value. But it does not follow that the modern soldier is the braver man.

The men who fought at the "bloody angles" of Chickamauga and Spotsylvania, at Bunker Hill and Oriskany, at Rivoli, Zorndorf and Malplaquet, had no need to learn heroism in any modern school. It was theirs already.—Chicago Journal.

SORES FLEM BEFORE IT.—There are many who have been afflicted with sores and have driven them away with Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, which acts like magic. All similarly troubled should lose no time in applying this splendid remedy, as there is nothing like it to be had. It is cheap, but its power is in no way expressed by its low price.
