

the building of the sanatorium which it is intended to establish in Saskatchewan for the benefit of tubercular patients.

"The claims of such an institution upon the generosity of the public hardly call even for the barest mention. They must be obvious to all, and we do not doubt that, generous as was the response in connection with the Muskoka Christmas stamp, the stamp which is shortly to be issued to assist our own new provincial institution will prove even more popular and be in consequence more widely used by those who during the Christmas season desire to show their interest in and their solicitude for their fellow men who need such help as the proposed sanatorium will offer.

"It is expected that the stamps will be available for distribution at an early date and in the meantime those who are willing to contribute towards a deserving object are asked to bear the matter in mind and either place their orders with The Leader in advance or watch for further announcements which will shortly be made."

Anything pertaining to this Act is extremely interesting to the profession at large, and to show that the act is being

The Roddick attended to in the Dominion House Dr. Black, of Bill Hants, introduced this bill again. He explained that it contains at least one provision of more than ordinary importance, viz., the placing in the Federal laws of an enactment giving to a medical practitioner qualified to practice in any Canadian province the right to practice in any other province.