

The Canadian personnel involved in these incidents referred to in the first two paragraphs are the representatives of a Government and of a country which immediately and generously had responded to your own as well as to United Nations requests for assistance in the reorganization of your country.

Such totally unwarranted and unjustified attacks on Canadian Service personnel are of a most serious character. I expect an immediate assurance that effective measures will be taken to ensure that the forces under your control will refrain from threatening the security of Canadian personnel who proceed to your country on friendly and peaceful missions in the performance of tasks determined by the United Nations."
