

Victoria Observatory
World's Second Largest Telescope

Attention is drawn to the "Georgian Circuit," an international auto tour in the Pacific Northwest, a map of which is shown in this folder. A small special leaflet is issued on this tour, which cannot fail to interest every prospective motor tourist to Victoria, and copies of this leaflet will be forwarded upon request.

It is impossible, in a brief pamphlet such as this, to give details of the routes shown on our map leading to Victoria and the Island. Sufficient to say that, while all kinds of roads are encountered, yet the general average is surprisingly good indeed. There are garages and comfortable hotels everywhere, at short intervals, and consequently it is possible for the motorist to limit his day's journey in accordance with his inclination at the time, without being obliged to travel to a schedule in order to secure accommodation.

For those desiring explicit information, full details of road conditions can be obtained from the pages of any good Auto Road Blue Book.
