

beneath the sea, they shall henceforth be joined in the closer bonds of amity. What is truest and best in either nation will be mutually transmitted to one another, till each shall receive the highest culture and progress of both, and gain a double inheritance of greatness. Hail to the event that makes such a consummation possible, with its promise to ourselves and to the world. Celebrate it at Christian altars, and gladly give one Sabbath to thanksgiving for such a victory of the Prince of Peace.
