TAMILTON APPENING 3

South Wentworth May Also Be /ttempted-Fight in E. Hamilton Between Studholme and Cooper.

HAMILTON, Nov. 12.—(Special.)— The executive committee of the Inde-endent Labor party, will hold another teeting in Labor Hall, Monday night consider the question of placing ing for the provincial legislature. It has practically been decided to contest this riding, and H. J. Halford, a barber, and an aggressive laborite, is looked upon as the man most likely to be chosen to make the fight. It is said, however, that there are helf a down owever, that there are half a dozen others who would like to try conclu-sions with Col. Hendrie, and it is unertain who will be selected.

It is also probable that the labor arty will put a candidate in the South Ventworth riding, if that part of Ward which is now in the county consti-sing, is allowed to remain as it is, his district, which is known as Crown oint, contains a heavy labor vote.

An interesting Contest.
The fight for the honor of represents the East Hamilton constituency in a provincial legislature promises to one of the most interesting political contents. cal contests ever seen in this city. It is not known yet whether or not the Liberals will make any effort to capture the riding, but it is the genone way or the other will not affect the outcome to any great extent. As conditions are now a goodly number of Liberals will undenbtedly vote against Allan Studholme, M.L.A., on account of his strong labor views, while fully as many of that party will cast their ballots for the labor member, rather than for the Conservative candidate. than for the Conservative candidate. It the Liberals put a man in the field, he will, it appears, simply poll a vote, which is now pretty evenly split, thus leaving the net result the same. So that the fight will practically be between Studholme, the present member, and Cooper, the Conservative nominee. With Cooper battling against him, Studholme will certainly have the hardest tursle he has ever made for the East Hamilton seat, for the conin addition to the influence of a creditable record in the city's

While it is frue that Studholme will we the hardest fight of his career this campaign, it is just as true that record in the legislature has lectorate, and he is now in a position o put up a stronger fight than he has ver made before. The most rabid onservatives admit that he is absolly honest and incorruptible, and he is never been accused of the least worthy act. The one thing, which, more than anything else, perhaps, indi-cates the character of the man, was his refusal to accept the $400 additional sessional indemnity granted to the members at the last session, and his donation of the excess indemnity to charter.

He has always been a staunch supporter of the hydro-electric scheme.
The only thing in fact that has been cited against him in his independence, and this has formed the basis of the and this has formed the basis of the Conservative claim to the East Hamilton seat, the argument being that a strict party man would be able to get things for Hamilton from the Whitney severnment that could not be obtained by a member who does not respond to the party whip.

Another factor that will add strength to Studholme in this campaign is the attitude of the labor party itself. The

A Touch of Winter.

The first touch of real winter weather reached here to-day, when the temperature dropped to several degrees below the freezing point. The sudden change was accentuated by frequent flurries of snow thruout the day, and a strong wind, which made outdoors extremely uncomfortable for pedestrians, also prevailed.

Charles Dowding, who lives on Chestnut-street, was taken to the City Hospital last night in the police ambulance, suffering from concussion of the brain, which was the result of injuries he received when threwn from a buggy in a runaway on East Kingstreet about six o'clock yesterday evening. Dowding was driving along king-street with two young ladies, when his horse became trightened at a street car and dashed madly up the street. The rig was upset, and all the occupants were more or less seriously hurt. The girls were removed to their homes.
