The first man dives in at 3.30, and the rest at intervals, according to their handicap. Swimming in a southwesterly direction the men head for the gap in the breakwater, lying just off the east of Hanlan's Point, thru that and finish at the club house. The prizes are a gold medal for the best time, and a standard medal for every one finishing in less than 55 minutes. A couple of gasoline launches and numerous rowboats will accompany the swimmers, so that a man can easily be picked up if tired or taken
