PILOT ABBOTT LOST IN WOODS

Unable to Find Road and Spends the Night in Forest

Saint John Man's Friends,
Anxious, But He Gets Safely Home.

Pilot John F. Abbott, of 83 Britain street, had an exciting experience Saturday night and yesterday morning when lost in the woods between Golden Grove and Rothney and his long absence caused considerable worry to his friends. Mr. Abbott and his family are spending the summer months at a residence on the Golden Grove road, about six miles from the city.

Saturday afternoon he left the house without taking his coat and accompanied by his dog entered the woods for the purpose of picking berries. After traveling for some distance the dog barked continuously and appeared to be so excited that Pilot Abbott thought there was something wrong in the woods and he followed the dog for quite a distance, but being unable to learn the cause of the dog's actions he decided that he would return home.

LOST HIS WAY

Tramping through the woods for about an hour Mr. Abbott then learned that he had lost his way and no matter in which direction he walked he was unable to find the road and although he shouted on numerous occasions he received no answer to his calls. With his face scratched and his shirt sleeves torn by the branches Pilot Abbott continued to walk until darkness set in when it was useless for him to proceed any further. He broke enough boughs from trees to make a bed and others to cover him, and was so tired that he fell asleep for a time despite the bad weather.

REACHES ROTHNEY

At daylight yesterday morning Pilot Abbott started once more and after tramping for some time was happy when he walked out of the woods and then found that he was on the road near Rothney. Meeting a man he inquired the way back to Golden Grove and was directed to an old road and pathway and in a short time arrived home again much to the joy of his family and friends.

When Mr. Abbott did not return home about 6 o'clock Saturday evening his family became alarmed and when there was no sign of him as darkness approached an alarm was sent out and word had been sent to the police with the result that a number of persons took up the search in the woods, while others with automobiles traveled the roads surrounding the woods hoping that Mr. Abbott might have reached the road unharmed.

Searchers kept up the work during the night and a large party was to start out yesterday morning to continue the search and comb the woods over a large area when the third pilot made his appearance at home.

PICNICS ARE HELD ON ELECTION EVE

Opposition Gatherings in Several Parts of County on Saturday Afternoon.

Opposition picnics were held at Loch Lomond, East Saint John, Fairville and Lorneville, Saturday afternoon and evening were addressed by the county candidates, Hon. J. B. Baxter and Mayor Frank L. Port, besides other speakers.

The big outing was at Loch Lomond. Speeches were delivered by the candidates and later a program of sports for the youngsters, men and women was participated in. Prizes were awarded and the beautiful supper at 6 o'clock, plus the attendance of the City Council band, went far towards making the afternoon the success it was.

Dr. Baxter and Mayor Port also spoke at East Saint John, where another enjoyable picnic was held. The Carlton Corlies band attended the East Saint John outing.

AT FAIRVILLE

Owing to the rain the Fairville gathering met in the Temperance Hall. The Carlton Corlies band rendered several selections during the evening. Councillor Golding acted as chairman for the meeting.

Dr. Baxter and Mayor Port, Hon. R. W. Wigmore and Ralph G. McInerney addressed the meeting and dealt at some length with the matters before the electors.

At Lorneville, the people gathered in the Coronation Hall, which was well filled for the occasion. The Lorneville Pipe and Drum band furnished music at intervals during the evening. Wallace Galbraith was chairman. Dr. J. H. Barton, Mayor Potts, Hon. R. W. Wigmore and Ralph G. McInerney addressed the audience and met with a good reception.

Motor Cycle Goes In Window, Out Another; Driver Unhurt

LAWRENCE, Mass., Aug. 10.—When the wheels of his motorcycle with sidcar attached, became caught in the car tracks on Water street here, as he attempted to turn north into Mason street, Roland Briggs stepped on the gas and gave the handle bars a jerk, with the result that he lost control of the machine which jumped the sidewalk, shot through a plate glass window on the Water street front on Max Ketter's grocery store and came out the plate glass window on the Mason street side of the store.

It all happened before a number of customers and clerks in the store could come to a realization of their narrow escape, but the big mystery of the occurrence which the police are trying to solve is how Briggs happened to escape unscathed.

Mr. Briggs is survived by his widow and two sons, Frederick and Oswald, both of Harvey also by two daughters, Mrs. Walter Hood and Mrs. Roy McMullen, of Prince William Station.

Other surviving relatives are three brothers, Thomas, George, of Harvey, and George and Thomas, of British Columbia. He is also survived by one sister, Mrs. Thomas Wilson. There are fifteen grandchildren. The body was taken to Harvey today.

VETERAN PRINTER IS VISITING CITY

James Colwell Helped to Get
Out First Edition of Daily Telegraph.

Away back in July of 1870 the first number of The Daily Telegraph of Saint John was printed at an office in Prince William street. It was the day of hand-set type and when the first number was to be brought out two expert printers were called from Fredericton to help get the new venture started. One of those printers was James Colwell and the other Andrew Lipsett.

Last night Mr. Colwell, hale and hearty at 76, walked into the office of The Telegraph-Journal.

Gleaning from the lines of Linotype machines of The Telegraph-Journal Mr. Colwell smiled as he said there were more printers in the composing room when the first copy of the paper was got out. It took keen eyesight and much time to set by hand the very fine type which had been used in the first copies of The Daily Telegraph.

65 YEARS A PRINTER.

Mr. Colwell has been a printer for 61 years and is now of the staff of the University Press, of Cambridge, Mass., which was first established as a publishing house in 1869. Mr. Colwell began his apprenticeship as printer at the age of 15 in the office of the Headquarters in Fredericton and John Graham taught him the art as it was then known. Crude implements were used in those days but they were good and good work was done. Mr. Colwell stayed for three years on the composing room staff of The Daily Telegraph in Fredericton and then went to the United States and joined the staff of the University Press in Cambridge. It is almost entirely book work at the University Press and the staff at present varies from 100 in the slack season to 150 in the rush of winter time. The strike of the printers in Massachusetts about three years ago, Mr. Colwell says, was a serious setback from which the printing establishment in that state have not yet fully recovered.

Mr. Colwell has not been in Saint John for 11 years and he is now visiting Dr. and Mrs. W. M. Bonnell at their home in Queen square.

MISHAP BLAME UNFIXED.

VENIOT SPEAKS TO 3,000 AT CARAQUET

Reiterates Prediction That Government Will Win at Least 29 Seats.

BATHURST, Aug. 9.—Premier Veniot tonight, on the eve of the election, stated that he adhered to his previous estimate and expected the Government would win 29 seats out of the 48 in tomorrow's election. He had received word from all parts of the province on Saturday and today and was confident that the result of the polling today would show the Government had been sustained.

Asked if he could take up the challenge of Angus McLean and prove that Quebec firms were paying more than $20 a horsepower for hydro current, the Premier said that in his speeches at Fredericton and in Bathurst he had already read telegrams from large companies giving the cost of the power they were using. These telegrams, he said, had been published in the Saint John and Fredericton papers.

The Premier today addressed a crowd estimated at 3,000 people assembled to give him an enthusiastic welcome at Caraquet. This evening he spoke in South Bathurst and his audience numbered about 800.

CANDIDATE ILL.

FLORENCEVILLE, Aug. 9.—R. K. Tracey's health is not improving as fast as his friends would wish, and although a Farmer candidate in the election, he is unable to take an active part.
