FORMER MAYOR OF ST. STEPHEN DEAD

(Special to Times-Star)
St. Stephen, June 24.—David Johnson, former mayor and prominent lumberman, died last night. He had been in ill health and confined to his bed for several weeks, but his death came suddenly. He was in his 85th year, a valued resident who had served as mayor for several terms and always had the town's interest at heart. He was a member of the Masonic fraternity and of the Knights of Pythias. He leaves two daughters, Mrs. Alfred Budd and Mrs. Harry Ashley, and four sons, Lester of Winslow, William and Aubrey, all of whom were with him in his illness.

CHIEF WHIPS TO VISIT WEMBLEY

Canadian Parliament Will Send Members to the Empire Exhibition.

Ottawa, June 23.—One of the seasonal undercurrents this year has been a lot of gossip, some of it hostile, some of it favorable, about the proposal of sending over to the British Empire Exhibition of a small Parliamentary delegation. Other Dominions are doing it, and in addition to any Cabinet Ministers devoted to such purposes as severing ties with the Empire, it was thought well to send some of the members. The process of selection would, of necessity, be difficult. The Government considered that the easiest method would be to choose the whips of the different parties.
In the early stages all went well, but latterly opposition has developed. The plan latterly has been modified, and now contemplates sending only the chief whip of each party, or three members in all.
The matter came up in the House tonight when the estimates for $500,000 for the Wembley Exhibition were presented. About the show itself, everyone had something good to say.

The new wing, within the Progressive road, proceeded to renege with noise and alacrity when expense was brought up. They took the ground that the public money should not be devoted to such purposes as sending delegates to the fair and pointed to the distress in the West to which they thought the money should be applied. The Prime Minister justified the proposal citing precedents of Imperial events to which delegations have been sent, but Mr. Neighan took the position that Canada should be represented by Cabinet Ministers. His chief whip, Mr. Boy, while explaining that he was unable to take advantage of the offer, strongly commended the idea. Mr. Forke said that at the present moment he was opposed to it. When it came to a vote, the item carried by two to one, the Liberals being all for it, and the other two parties being divided.

Signs of the end of the session are in evidence. Business may possibly wind up on July 5, which is the present objective. The signal transferable vote bill will not be pressed this session. This was a peculiarly fortuitous subject to which Conservatives promised resistance, while some of the Liberals are not enamored of it.
The Government is very anxious to get through re-distribution, and it will probably go through with the compromise which was announced. The only difficulty is in Ontario.
A delegation of 200 Home Bank Government, asking that the Government will appear before the Banking Committee on Wednesday.

FOUR KILLED BY EXPLOSION

Ironton, O., June 24.—Four members of a family of seven, including the father and mother, were fatally injured here when gas which had accumulated in a closed room of their home was exploded by a match in the hands of the father.
The dead—Joseph Holzatzel, his wife, and their two daughters, Margaret, seven, and Mary, 10.
The family had just moved into the house and had spent several hours straightening the furniture. The father started to enter the summer kitchen, separate from the rest of the house. As he opened the door he struck a match to light his way.
The blast which followed shook the neighborhood for blocks and enveloped the house in flames.
Elizabeth and Joseph, Jr., escaped with minor burns. Charles, six, is in the hospital in a serious condition.

Death Sentence Imposed on Six

Montreal, June 24.—Stoutly proclaiming their innocence, Louis Morel, Giuseppe Serafini, Tony Frank, Mike Valentin, Frank Gambino and Leo Davis, yesterday were sentenced to be hanged on October 24 for the murder of Henry Cleoux on April 1 at Montreal when the Hochelaga bank collection car was held up and robbed of $142,288 and Cleoux and one of the bandits were shot dead.
The jury took 11 minutes to reach their verdict. All the prisoners were found guilty of murder. Sentence was pronounced by Mr. Justice Wilson. An appeal against the death sentence will be made, according to Alban Germain, K. C., counsel for the accused men.

Many Automobiles Use the N. B. Roads

St. Andrews-by-the-Sea, June 28.—Delegates of the Canadian Good Roads convention here were today given an outstanding example of the attractions of New Brunswick as a tourist mecca, and the value of good roads in attracting tourist travel.
In less than two hours, while on the road between St. John and St. Andrews, cars bearing license tags from no less than 10 states and provinces were met, all traveling eastward. Besides many New Brunswick cars there were automobiles from Nova Scotia, Quebec, Ontario, Manitoba, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, and New York.

AVIATORS FLY WITHOUT MAPS

Mechanically Guided Tests
Show Practicability of New Form.

Dayton, June 24.—Aviators, by means of two inventions, may henceforth be able to fly straight as an arrow, always at the same elevation through blinding snow, fog, above cloud banks or so high that all landmarks are lost.
McCook Field officials believe an era of mechanical guidance of airplanes will result from the perfection of the indicator compass and the inclinometer. They are planning a series of long distance flights in mechanically controlled airplanes, following the recent successful flight to Birmingham, Ala., in a machine using these devices.
By means of the compass it is possible to fly to any pre-determined destination, regardless of visibility. The instrument is set for a given distance, and when that distance is reached the aviator's nose down and fund himself at his destination.
The inclinometer is a delicate instrument which shows whether the airplane is on an even keel.
It shows whether the nose of the plane is tilted upward or downward, and whether or not the plane is right side up or upside down. When in high altitudes aviators lose all sense of position and the inclinometer keeps the pilot posted on the balance of his ship.
Successful test flights have been made with the devices between Dayton and New York and Boston. The major parts of distances covered in these flights were made out of sight of land.
The official report of Lieutenant Alexander Pearson and Bradley Jones, navigator, who made the flight to Birmingham, has not yet been received here, but a brief summary indicates the flight was entirely successful.

CUT IN BRITISH WOMEN'S POLICE FORCE PROTESTED

Action Taken at Economy Measure Is Regarded as Blow to Efficiency.

The number of women police in England has been reduced by almost half since 1918, according to the National Women's Liberal Federation. In 1919 there were 144 women police in different parts of England, but this number had been decreased to 85 by last year, and more reductions have been made in 1924. This cutting into what is regarded as an essential force is arousing some comment, and it is possible that the authorities who are responsible for the constabulary, both in Great Britain and the provinces, the watch committees and the standing joint committees, will be approached with a view to having the force of women police increased.
It is pointed out that the functions of the ordinary policeman have become more preventive and less punitive than formerly, and therefore women officers, if carefully chosen and well organized, can do a great deal of good, especially in dealing with other women and with children.
The number of women police employed in various parts of the country was reduced originally as a consequence of the great anti-waste campaign, watch committees looking on women officers as luxuries which their respective committees could well do without. Of 123 boroughs, only 28 employ women on their police forces.

NEWS NOTES GATHERED FROM WORLD OF STAGE AND SCREEN

Marguerite Clark Writes on-- HOW I FOUND HAPPINESS

MARGUERITE CLARK WHEN A FILM STAR.

MRS. HARRY WILLIAMS, HAPPY HOUSEWIFE.

(By Marguerite Clark, famous stage and screen star who has retired and is now Mrs. Harry P. Williams.)
Patterson, La.—I have given up fame for happiness.
No longer do I see my name in the lights of Broadway or Main street. The millions who once watched my acting have, perhaps, largely forgotten me.
But I am playing my greatest role, the greatest role of any woman's life. I play to an audience of one—my husband—in a theatre, which is my home.

RAISES CHICKENS

Less than six years ago you were married and I retired to this home, California, to raise chickens. I believe I could find similar happiness if I had to work hard in a smaller home.
My only regret is that I know so little of the duties of a housewife. Sometimes I send the servants away just to see what a good time I can have. And while the food may be a little hard on

"THE BLIZZARD" IS AT QUEEN SQUARE

Picture That National Board of Review Gave High Praise.
A William Fox production, "The Blizzard," is now showing at the Queen Square theatre. It is adapted from "The Story of a Country House," by Selma Lagerlof, Swedish author who won the Nobel prize for her literary efforts. The picture is presented by a Swedish cast under direction of Mauritz Stiller.
"The Blizzard" is a photoplay which would be outstanding for one episode alone, if for nothing else," said the National Board of Review. "The episode that is unique is the terrible adventure with the reindeer in the blizzard. Here the whole sequence of action is most unusual pictorially and achieves without recourse to hokum, a convincingly thrilling situation."
The "Blizzard" possesses comedy relief. Finished performances are given by Adolph Olaschansky and Stina Berg, who portray an old acrobat and his wife, who each spring set forth on their round of the country-side to supply the villages with homely entertainment.
In the scene which the board lauds so enthusiastically, Einar Hanson is caught in a stampede of terrified reindeer in the northern snow waste.

HELD TO ANSWER SCORES TRIUMPH

"Held to Answer," a Metro screen production of Peter Clark MacFarlane's story of the same title, was presented at the Unique Theatre yesterday and met with hearty approval. "Held to Answer" is good screen entertainment and well worth a trip to the Unique Theatre to see.

NEW BILL AT THE OPERA HOUSE

Broadway Vanities Open Their Third Week with "Oh, Baby."

The "Broadway Vanities" opened their third week at the Opera House yesterday with another good offering entitled "Oh, Baby," which included singing, dancing, male impersonations and a laughable comedy sketch. Ernie Mack's comedy gags made a bit while the English male impersonations of Pauline Travis were good. Others taking leading parts were Miss Virginia Murphy, George Patton and Lynn Halbert.
The programme will change again on Thursday. Matinees are being given daily at 2:30 o'clock with two evening performances. Judging from the amount of merit caused last evening, the programme will receive good support. The performers are sprightly dancers and good singers and a taking element of comedy pervades the entertainments.
