

BILL DESIGNED TO CARE FOR MONEY CRISIS

Levy Voluntary, But Compulsion Provided For

RAISE BANK LIMIT

Bill Issue of Bank of France Increased to 45 Billion Francs

Canadian Press Cable.

PARIS, April 7. — The Government's new financial bill embodying the provisions for the proposed capital levy, or forced loan, was introduced in the Chamber of Deputies this afternoon by Finance Minister De Monzie. The measure was agreed to by the cabinet this morning.

The mechanism of the system, as explained by the Finance Minister, is intended to afford property owners and capitalists of France a chance to come forward and contribute proportionately of their wealth to the renovation of French finance.

COMPULSION POSSIBLE

It contains provisions obliging them to do so, if they refrain from voluntary subscription. "It is a plebiscite on the question of free, voluntary contribution, each according to his means on constraint," was the way Mr. De Monzie put it. "If the French capitalists understand the system and patriotically respond to the call of the government, it will work without the slightest annoyance or interference in private affairs. On the contrary, if they make constraint necessary, it will be resorted to."

BANK BILL ISSUE

The government also has agreed on the plan to raise the limit of the bank bill issue by the Bank of France to 45,000,000,000 francs, increasing the limit of the advances by the bank to the state by 4,000,000,000 francs. The Socialist party has asked for consideration of a counter-proposition providing for a straight capital levy of 10 per cent.

Quinn Slip Fence Matter To Council

A matter which will come before the City Council at an early date, it is expected, is that of repairs to a fence across the head of the Quinn Slip at the foot of German street. Recently the attention of the police has been called to the matter and they have reported to Commissioners Bullock and Prink.

Commissioner Bullock said this morning that some time ago he had pointed out that a new retaining wall was needed at the head of this slip and had offered at that time to pay one-half the cost from the harbor department, although he contended it was street work. At present, he said, there was danger of the sidewalk and street going into the slip unless a retaining wall was built.

corner of Leslie Beale on the main road, house, was not in such great danger, but was closely watched.

"Second Fire Checked"

In the meantime boys and men were fitting here and there with old coats, etc., besting out grass blades that endangered residents to the eastward of the blaze. A genuine fright was given the community when the incendiary, who had been seen in the main roadway, fully 400 yards distant, showed trace of fire under the shingles. Ladies were spilled and a steep roof ascended and burning brands were plucked away. Had the fire there got under way it would have taintly swept Mr. Rafferty's home adjoining and the properties of Edward Riley and John De Angelis. Properties belonging to H. A. Shortcliffe and Mrs. Sloane caught fire but were

Both the Wm. Robertson and Arthur Clayton properties were insured but not for large amounts. The illness of Mr. Clayton, who is a veteran of the war, and his wife's indisposition as well makes things particularly hard to bear at this time. Mr. Clayton suffered greatly this morning as he insisted in trying to salvage some of his chattels. His wife was quite overcome. Mr. Clayton is the president of the St. John's Lodge, Sons of England and an Oddfellow as well. He is well-known about the city. The incendiary has been seen and there are no relatives on this side of the water.

A Hard Blow

William Robertson, the other burnt-out householder, informed The Times-Star that he had just completed paying for his new little home, one of the prettiest in the Eastmount section, and with his business established, felt himself settled down for a comfortable citizenship, but this blow would give him a discouraging set-back. Both he and Mr. Clayton were deeply grateful to the friends and neighbors who did so much to help them save their goods.

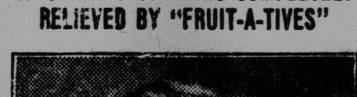

THE NORTH END FIRE

Children playing with fire in the wide open grassy stretch back of Lansdowne and Dufferin avenues, North End, and extending to the hydro substation towards the Willoughby road, gave nearby residents and the fire department a fright about 10.30 this forenoon. A call from Box 322 took the North End department to the scene but modern methods of fire fighting were of no avail. Recourse to brooms, carpets and smothering articles got the fast-moving fire in check in an hour's time. However, a swath of territory almost a quarter mile square was blackened.

District Chief Robert Carson sent the apparatus out Cranston avenue way to stand by in case of a more serious fire. The field roadway out there was so spongy with frost and mud that the department apparatus dare not venture upon it. Had any of the buildings taken fire in the open space several hundreds of yards of hose would have been needed. The fire department of the northern division was called twice yesterday to quench grass fires in Dufferin avenue and in the rear of Riverview Park.

desired was the right to vote under the same provisions as in the Ontario act.

REV. R. G. FULTON

Rev. R. G. Fulton, of Saint John, said he appeared as official representative of the Methodist church and in opposition to the amended bill. The Methodists had laid their plans for the future under the impression that the law enacted this year would stand and any changes now would disrupt these arrangements.

Dr. G. G. Corbett, president of the Presbyterian Church Association in New Brunswick said that Rev. Mr. Fulton had privately expressed no opposition to the vote being taken prior to June 10 and later Rev. Mr. Fulton pointed out to the committee that he had no objection to the date of the vote but he did oppose any amendment which would change the qualifications of the voters.

Dr. Corbett told the committee efforts had been made to reach an agreement with the Unionists on the question of when the vote should be taken, but to no avail, the Toronto headquarters of the Unionists giving the opinion that no vote should be taken until after June 10.

Rev. J. S. Sutherland of Fredericton read the resolution of the Saint John Presbytery opposing the amended bill. To Private Session.

The committee decided to consider the bill in private session, and the delegations retired. The committee room was crowded this morning with clerical and lay members of the corporations committee was in attendance, and the Unionists and anti-Unionists. Practically every member of the corporations committee was in attendance, and the Unionists and anti-Unionists.
