Autumn Excursions.

$6 ST. JOHN TO BOS-
TON AND RETURN $6

TICKETS GOOD FOR 30 DAYS
FROM DATE OF ISSUE.

The Steamship "St. John" will sail from St. John, N. B., every TUESDAY and SATURDAY, at 1.30 p. m. standard. Fast Express to Boston.

Steamers "Cumberland" and "State of Maine" will sail from St. John for Boston, Portland and New York, which are without prohibition, have respectively only 7, 13 and 23 drunkards per 1,000, while Portland, Me., the classic prohibition state, has 42.

To this an advocate of prohibition very warmly replied as follows: "Dr. Reid's American statistics are not worth the paper on which they are written. He says that Portland, Me., has 42 drunkards per 1,000, whereas London has only 7 per 1,000. Is the man ignorant, or would he deceive us? In Portland every drunken man is arrested. Hence these figures. The statistics of the City of London and its own magazines agree that not one drunkard in ten is ever arrested."

Others joined in the debate, the medical men pretty generally agreeing with Dr. Reid, and the laymen opposing his view. The doctor declared that he would prove the board of trade statistics ridiculous, and said that there was less drunkenness than in those with coercive laws.

The society decided to have further discussions, and both sides to the dispute will array statistics in proof of their claims.

Curiously enough, the same day that brought the account of this debate brought to hand the statistics of the sale of liquor at the liquor agency in Portland, Me., for the last three months. The figures show that during July, August and September of this year the average monthly receipts at the agency totaled $15,397.60, compared with only $2,388.55 per month in the same period last year. The agency is the legal place sale, and the Portland Press says the only explanation of this almost seven-fold increase would seem to be that the more rigid enforcement of the law against illegal sellers has driven the thirsty to the agency.

It would seem that the upholders of the prohibition law must now turn their attention to the agency, and apply the axe to that root of evil.

THE OLD CONTROVERSY.

That figures may be produced to prove almost anything was illustrated at a meeting of the Society for the Study of Inebriety in London last week. Taking the ground that prohibition increases the number of drunkards, Dr. Reid, of the editorial staff of The Lancet, said that "London, Chicago and New York, which are without prohibition, have respectively only 7, 13 and 23 drunkards per 1,000, while Portland, Me., the classic prohibition state, has 42."

To this an advocate of prohibition very warmly replied as follows: "Dr. Reid's American statistics are not worth the paper on which they are written. He says that Portland, Me., has 42 drunkards per 1,000, whereas London has only 7 per 1,000. Is the man ignorant, or would he deceive us? In Portland every drunken man is arrested. Hence these figures. The statistics of the City of London and its own magazines agree that not one drunkard in ten is ever arrested."

Others joined in the debate, the medical men pretty generally agreeing with Dr. Reid, and the laymen opposing his view. The doctor declared that he would prove the board of trade statistics ridiculous, and said that there was less drunkenness than in those with coercive laws.

The society decided to have further discussions, and both sides to the dispute will array statistics in proof of their claims.

Curiously enough, the same day that brought the account of this debate brought to hand the statistics of the sale of liquor at the liquor agency in Portland, Me., for the last three months. The figures show that during July, August and September of this year the average monthly receipts at the agency totaled $15,397.60, compared with only $2,388.55 per month in the same period last year. It would seem that the upholders of the prohibition law must now turn their attention to the agency, and apply the axe to that root of evil.

PAUL KRUGER.

The Baltimore News says that the announcement of Kruger's falling health will be received with widespread sympathy. So it may, but this worthy paper goes a little too far when it says:

After years of quietude, to encounter the misfortune which has befallen the beginning of the South African war could not but have shaken the stoutest spirit. Public and private sorrow have been full of him, and his declining years, which should have been attended by honor, love, obedience, troops of friends, have been full of grief. There will be widespread sympathy for the kindly old man, the rest of whose way to the close of all things verily must be tedious and sad, indeed.

The News should have said that after years of scheming and hypocritical pretence; and after plunging his country into a hopeless and unjust war, during the course of which he decamped with large funds to Europe, to save his own precious person, the old man is paying the penalty of his guilt and folly.

THE FIGHT AGAINST TAMMANY.

The mayoralty contest in New York is a most interesting one. Tammany has for many years controlled that city, and the results have been shown in the celebrated investigations that have been held from time to time. The civic government appears to be rotten to the core. Time and again Tammany has opposed, but on account of divisions among the opponents the hall has generally been supreme. At this election there has been chosen as its representative Mr. Shepley, a man who formerly opposed Tammany and its ways. This acceptance of the nomination is something of a surprise, and his new friends hope that it will have the effect of creating a division in the other party. Seth Low, the candidate of the Citizens Union, has resigned his position as president of Columbia college, in order that he may not be hampered in the fight. He was unsuccessful in the last mayoralty contest; but it appears this time as if the party behind him were more united and powerful than before. His victory will mean as far as possible clean government for New York, his defeat will give Richard Croker and Tammany hall another term of power.

THE COMMEMORATION SERVICE.

This week a service of prayer was held at the Hague to commemorate the outbreak of the Boer war. The delegates from the Transvaal and Free State were present. During the service the names of Mr. Kruger and Mr. Steyn as well as the cause of the Boers generally were presented in prayer, and a petition was entered that the British might emerge from their blindness and hear a voice that would impress upon them the injustice of the war. Visions of prisoners shot dead, of peace commissioners, beaten and dispiritedly used, of rules of civilized war broken ought to have come before the eyes of those who took part in this service and whose voices were uplifted to the ruler of the Universe on behalf of the Boer cause. The day of commemoration was most minutely kept.

Dr. McGill of the Jersey City board of health has inaugurated a crusade against persons collecting cigar butts from the streets and gutters. It has been the filthy practice of many to convert these butts into cigars and cigarettes, selling them to the unsuspecting smoker and thereby endangering his life.

LYNCHING AGAIN RIFE.

(Worcester Spy.)
The lynchings of the past few days are astounding. Many have dared hope that the powerful revolution against anarchy that was caused by the assassination of the president would check the taking of life by mobs, members, in placing themselves above the authorized processes for maintaining law and order, become the most dangerous enemies of society. Yet, while the great national calamity is still fresh in every mind, these unspeakable proceedings are resumed, and in such numbers as to show that the lynching evil remains with us in its old intensity.

Five negroes lynched in Texas; two negro boys lynched in Kentucky; a white man lynched in Montana; and a colored man lynched in Tennessee, is the fresh record of crime that stares the people in the face. Very opportunely it was remarked in the Massachusetts Republican platform: "Lynchings and unlawful taking of life must be stopped," and the question asked, "How can we hope to exterminate anarchy if such lawlessness be permitted or tolerated within our borders?"

How terrible the state of affairs when citizens professing loyalty, nurture principles by which they feel they have the right to act at any moment in upholding the law! Certainly such lynchings are stopped anarchy, and the most virulent type is flourishing and bearing fruit.

SEEKING DIVORCE.

In the Boston superior court Mrs. Rosa Derrah, formerly Miss Rosa Derrah, sought to have her husband, Robert H. Derrah, who was formerly with Emerson & Fisher in this city and is now one of the best known street railway men in New England, divorced. Mrs. Derrah is 29 years old. She met Mr. Derrah first in this city, and they were married in Boston when she was but 17 years old. Their married life has not been a happy one. Mrs. Derrah has often visited St. John, and she has been very ill-advised. They separated some time ago, and their two children have since then been with their father. Mr. and Mrs. Derrah have often visited St. John, and both have many friends here and in Boston who regret to learn of the estrangement.

MAJOR STURDEE RESIGNS.

Major Sturdee has resigned from the position of D. A. A. G. B. in connection with the military display next week. Major Sturdee found it impossible for him to devote as much time to the preparations as was required, and considered it best to allow someone else to fill the position. Lt. Col. A. J. Armstrong, who has charge of the military display, is still in St. John, devoting practically his whole time to the work and his name has been mentioned in connection with the appointment.

In conversation with a Star reporter A. J. Armstrong stated that while he thought it probable that the department at Ottawa would name Major Sturdee's successor today it was quite possible that no appointment would be made until Monday.

MRS. GARFIELD.

(Boston Transcript.)
Mrs. Lucetta Rudolph Garfield spent but a few months in the White House. After the assassination of her husband she went to Cleveland, and in one of the suburbs of that city she now resides. Mrs. Garfield has always been known as a domestic woman. Like Mrs. Grant, she was acquainted with modest circumstances. She was the daughter of "Zeb" Rudolph, a farmer of Garrettsville, Ohio. It was while attending school at Geauga seminary, at Chester, near her father's home, that she met young Garfield. He went later to Hiram college, a coeducational institution; Miss Rudolph followed and became a member of classics taught by him in that institution, where he had been to the dignity of professor. When they were married they boarded in the college town for several years.

Mrs. Garfield is a small, spare woman with fine features and snapping black eyes. She is known chiefly for her domestic qualities and her superb self-control. Her husband once said of her that never in his political career had he suffered in the least from any word or act of hers.

After Gen. Garfield's death it was reported that the family had been left without resources, and a considerable

The income from this fund, together with the pension of $5,000 a year voted by congress, has enabled Mrs. Garfield to live in quiet comfort and to send her boys through Williams college, of that institution their father was an alumnus. She is now sixty-three years of age and in poor health.

THE LIQUOR HABIT.

Rev. J. A. McCallen's Lecture.

On the occasion of a lecture delivered before a large and appreciative audience in Windsor Hall, Montreal, in honor of the Father Mathew anniversary, Rev. J. A. McCallen, S. S., of St. Patrick's church, and President of St. Patrick's Total Abstinence Society, paid the following grand tribute to the value of Dr. Dixon's new discovery for the cure of alcohol and drug habits.

Referring to the physical craving engendered by the inordinate use of intoxicants he said: "When such a craving manifests itself there is no escape unless by a miracle of grace, or by some such remedy as Mr. Dixon's cure, about which the papers have spoken so much lately, and if I am to judge of the value of the Dixon remedy by the cures which it has effected under my own eyes I must come to the conclusion that what I have longed for twenty years to see discovered has at last been found by that gentleman."

Full particulars regarding this medicine can be obtained by writing to Mr. Dixon, No. 81 Willocks street, Toronto, Canada.

THE STONE CASE.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 11.—In compliance with a request from Washington, the search by Ottoman troops for the abductors of Miss Stone, the American missionary, has been abandoned, it being feared that the brigands would kill her should they be closely pursued. Arrangements are now being made to pay the ransom demanded by the abductors of Miss Helen Stone, the American missionary.

The precise hiding place of the band of brigands continues to be doubtful.

LONDON, Oct. 11.—After detailing the history of the abduction of Miss Stone, the Spectator remarks: "President Roosevelt and the Washington cabinet maintain justly that the Sultan is responsible, as it is his misgovernment which provokes and protects brigandage, and they intend to demand reparation from the Porte. It will not be limited, we imagine, to $25,000. The Porte will be requested to punish the authors of the outrage, and as Turkey is sure to shuffle and America is tired of being played with, a naval demonstration is quite on the cards. The Sultan will of course yield to the first show of force."

ONLY WHEN HE TALKED.

Jim Hopkins was in town one day recently and incidentally told a story about Bill Sawyer, who lives in the community. Bill is a good natured fellow and has a strong vein of humor in his composition, but he stammers so that it is almost painful to hear him attempt to say anything. Bill was talking to a woman the other day with whom he was only slightly acquainted, and, being, somewhat embarrassed, he stammered more than usual, whereupon the lady exclaimed, "My goodness, Mr. Sawyer, do you always stutter like that?" "No-n-n-no," replied Sawyer, "only wh-when I t-t-t-t-talk."

DEATH OF MRS. W. T. P. LEE.

The death occurred at an early hour this morning of Harriet Winslow Lee, widow of the late W. T. P. Lee. The deceased lady, who previous to her marriage was a Miss Phair, was in the 75th year of her age, and up to last Sunday had enjoyed the best of health and had always taken an active part in the management of her household.

The announcement of her death will therefore be received with surprise as well as with deep regret by her large circle of friends. Mrs. Lee leaves three sons, W. G., agent of the International Steamship Co., here, Thomas Carleton of W. H. Thorne & Co., and Henry P. of the post office staff.
